(b) The peace officer determines which of the tests are administered and how many of them are administered, except the officer shall request that either the blood or urine test be administered under Section 76-5-207. If an officer requests more than one test, refusal by a person to take one or more requested tests, even though he does submit to any other requested test or tests, is a refusal under this section.

(c) A person who has been requested under this section to submit to a chemical test or tests of his breath, blood, or urine, may not select the test or tests to be administered. The failure or inability of a peace officer to arrange for any specific chemical test is not a defense to taking a test requested by a peace officer, and it is not a defense in any criminal, civil, or administrative proceeding resulting from a person's refusal to submit to the requested test or tests.

(2) (a) If the person has been placed under arrest, has then been requested by a peace officer to submit to any one or more of the chemical tests under Subsection (1), and refuses to submit to any chemical test requested, the person shall be warned by the peace officer requesting the test or tests that a refusal to submit to the test or tests may result in revocation of the person's license to operate a motor vehicle. (b) A peace officer shall serve on the person, on behalf of the Driver License Division, immediate notice of the Driver License Division's intention to revoke the person's privilege to operate a motor vehicle. (ii) issue a temporary license effective for only 30 days; and

(iii) supply to the operator, on a form approved by the Driver License Division, basic information regarding how to obtain a hearing before the Driver License Division.

(c) A citation issued by a peace officer may, if approved as to form by the Driver License Division, serve also as the temporary license.

(d) The peace officer shall submit a signed report, within five days after the date of the arrest, that he had grounds to believe the arrested person had been operating or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while having a blood or breath alcohol content statutorily prohibited under Section 41-6-44 or 41-6-44.4 or while under the influence of alcohol or, any drug, or combination of alcohol and any drug under Section 41-6-44 and that the person had refused to submit to a chemical test or tests under Subsection (1).

(6) (a) The person to be tested may, at his own expense, have a physician of his own choice administer a chemical test in addition to the test or tests administered at the direction of a peace officer.

(b) The failure or inability to obtain the additional test does not affect admissibility of the results of the test or tests taken at the direction of a peace officer, or preclude or delay the test or tests to be taken at the direction of a peace officer.

(c) The additional test shall be subsequent to the test or tests administered at the direction of a peace officer.

(7) For the purpose of determining whether to submit to a chemical test or tests, the person to be tested does not have the right to consult an attorney or have an attorney, physician, or other person present as a condition for the taking of any test.

(8) If a person under arrest refuses to submit to a chemical test or tests or any additional test under this section, evidence of any refusal is admissible in any civil or criminal action or proceeding arising out of acts alleged to have been committed while the person was operating or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol [or], any drug, or combination of alcohol and any drug.

(25) (a) A person has "notice" of a fact when:
(i) he has actual knowledge of it;
(ii) he has received a notice or notification of it; or
(iii) from all the facts and circumstances known to him at the time in question he has reason to know that it exists.
(b) A person "knows" or has "knowledge" of a fact when he has actual knowledge of it.
(c) "Discover" or "learn" or a word or phrase of similar import refers to knowledge rather than to reason to know.
(d) The time and circumstances under which a notice or notification may cease to be effective are not determined by this title.
(26) (a) A person "notifies" or "gives" a notice or notification to another by taking such steps as may be reasonably required to inform the other person in ordinary course whether or not the other person actually comes to know of it.
(b) A person "receives" a notice or notification when:
(i) it comes to his attention; or
(ii) it is duly delivered at the place of business through which the contract was made or at any other place held out by him as the place for receipt of such communications.

(27) Notice, knowledge of a notice, or notification received by an organization is effective for a particular transaction from the time when it is brought to the attention of the individual conducting that transaction, and in any event from the time when it would have been brought to his attention if the organization had exercised due diligence. An organization exercises due diligence if it maintains reasonable routines for communicating significant information to the person conducting the transaction and there is reasonable compliance with the routines. Due diligence does not require an individual acting for the organization to communicate information unless such communication is part of his regular duties or unless he has reason to know of the transaction and that the transaction would be materially affected by the information.

(28) "Organization" includes a corporation, government or governmental subdivision or agency, business trust, estate, trust, partnership or association, two or more persons having a joint or common interest, or any other legal or commercial entity.

(29) "Party," as distinct from "third party," means a person who has engaged in a transaction or made an agreement within this title.

(30) "Person" includes an individual or an organization as provided in Section 70A-1-102.

(31) "Presumption" or "presumed" means that the trier of fact must find the existence of the fact presumed unless and until evidence is introduced which would support a finding of its nonexistence.

(32) "Purchase" includes taking by sale, discount, negotiation, mortgage, pledge, lien, issue or reissue, gift, or any other voluntary transaction creating an interest in property.

(33) "Purchaser" means a person who takes by purchase.

(34) "Remedy" means any remedial right to which an aggrieved party is entitled with or without resort to a tribunal.

(36) "Rights" includes remedies.

(37) (a) "Security interest" means an interest in personal property or fixtures which secures payment or performance of an obligation. The retention or reservation of title by a seller of goods, notwithstanding shipment or delivery to the buyer as provided in Section 70A-2-401, is limited in effect to a reservation of a "security interest." The term also includes any interest of a buyer of accounts or chattel paper which is subject to Title 70A, Chapter 9, Uniform Commercial Code — Secured Transactions. The special property interest of a buyer of goods on identification of those goods to a contract for sale under Section 70A-2-401 is not a "security interest," but a buyer may also acquire a "security interest" by complying with Title 70A, Chapter 9, Uniform Commercial Code — Secured Transactions. Unless a consignment is intended as security, reservation of title under the consignment is not a "security interest." A consignment in any event is subject to the provisions on consignment sales provided in Section 70A-2-326.

(b) Whether a transaction creates a lease or security interest is determined by the facts of each case; however, a transaction creates a security interest if the consideration the lessee is to pay the lessor for the right to possession and use of the goods is an obligation for the term of the lease not subject to termination by the lessee, and:
(i) the original term of the lease is equal to or greater than the remaining economic life of the goods;
(ii) the lessee is bound to renew the lease for the remaining economic life of the goods or is bound to become the owner of the goods;
(iii) the lessee has an option to renew the lease for the remaining economic life of the goods for no additional consideration or nominal additional consideration upon compliance with the lease agreement; or
(iv) the lessee has an option to become the owner of the goods for no additional consideration or nominal additional consideration upon compliance with the lease agreement.

(c) A transaction does not create a security interest merely because it provides that:
(i) the present value of the consideration the lessee is obligated to pay the lessor for the right to possession and use of the goods is substantially equal to or is greater than the fair market value of the goods at the time the lease is entered into;

(ii) the lessee assumes risk of loss of the goods, or agrees to pay taxes, insurance, filing, recording, or registration fees, or service or maintenance costs with respect to the goods;

(iii) the lessee has an option to renew the lease or to become the owner of the goods;

(iv) the lessee has an option to renew the lease for a fixed rent that is equal to or greater than the reasonably predictable fair market rent for the use of the goods for the term of the renewal at the time the option is to be performed; or

(v) the lessee has an option to become the owner of the goods for a fixed price that is equal to or greater than the reasonably predictable fair market value of the goods at the time the option is to be performed.

(d) For purposes of this subsection:

(i) Additional consideration is not nominal if, when the option to renew the lease is granted to the lessee, the rent is stated to be the fair market rent for the use of the goods for the term of the renewal determined at the time the option is to be performed, or when the option to become the owner of the goods is granted to the lessee the price is stated to be the fair market value of the goods determined at the time the option is to be performed.

(ii) Additional consideration is nominal if it is less than the lessee's reasonably predictable cost of performing under the lease agreement if the option is not exercised.

(iii) "Reasonably predictable" and "remaining economic life of the goods" are to be determined with reference to the facts and circumstances at the time the transaction is entered into.

(iv) "Present value" means the amount as of a date certain of one or more sums payable in the future, discounted to the date certain. The discount is determined by the interest rate specified by the parties if the rate is not manifestly unreasonable at the time the transaction is entered into; otherwise, the discount is determined by a commercially reasonable rate that takes into account the facts and circumstances of each case at the time the transaction was entered into.

(38) "Send" in connection with any writing or notice means to deposit in the mail or deliver for transmission by any other usual means of communication with postage or the cost of the transmission provided for and properly addressed, and, in the case of an instrument, to an address specified thereon or otherwise agreed, or if there be none to any address reasonable under the circumstances. The receipt of any writing or notice within the time at which it would have arrived if properly sent has the effect of a proper sending.

(39) "Signed" includes any symbol executed or adopted by a party with present intention to authenticate a writing.

(40) "Surety" includes guarantor.

(41) "Telegram includes a message transmitted by radio, teletype, cable, any mechanical method of transmission, or the like.

(42) "Term" means that portion of an agreement which relates to a particular matter.

(43) "Unauthorized signature [or-indorsement]" means one made without actual, implied, or apparent authority and includes a forgery.

(44) "Value." Except as otherwise provided with respect to negotiable instruments and bank collections as in Sections 70A–3–305, 70A–4–208, and 70A–4–209, a person gives "value" for rights if he acquires them:

(a) in return for a binding commitment to extend credit or for the extension of immediately available credit whether or not drawn upon and whether or not a charge-back is provided for in the event of difficulties in collection;

(b) as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a preexisting claim;

(c) by accepting delivery pursuant to a preexisting contract for purchase; or

(d) generally, in return for any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract.

(45) "Warehouse receipt" means a receipt issued by a person engaged in the business of storing goods for hire.

(46) "Written" or "writing" includes printing, typewriting, or any other intentional reduction to tangible form.

Section 2. Section Amended.

Section 70A–1–207, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 5, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

70A–1–207. Performance or acceptance under reservation of rights.

(1) A party who with explicit reservation of rights performs or promises performance or assents to performance in a manner demanded or offered by the other party does not thereby prejudice the rights reserved. Such words as "without prejudice," "under protest" or the like are sufficient.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply to an accord and satisfaction (governed by Section 70A–3–607).

Section 3. Section Amended.

Section 70A–2–511, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is amended to read:

70A–2–511. Tender of payment by buyer — Payment by check.

(1) Unless otherwise agreed tender of payment is a condition to the seller's duty to tender and complete any delivery.

(2) Tender of payment is sufficient when made by any means or in any manner current in the ordinary course of business unless the seller demands payment in legal tender and gives any extension of time reasonably necessary to procure it.
(3) Subject to the provisions of this act on the effect of an instrument on an obligation, [Section 70A-3-802], 70A-3-310, payment by check is conditional and is defeated as between the parties by dishonor of the check on due presentment.

Section 4. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-103, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-103. Definitions — Index of definitions.

(1) In this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "Buyer in ordinary course of business" means a person, who in good faith and without knowledge that the sale to him is in violation of the ownership rights or security interest or leasehold interest of a third party in the goods, buys in ordinary course from a person in the business of selling goods of that kind, but does not include a pawnbroker. "Buying" may be by cash or by exchange of other property or on secured or unsecured credit and includes receiving goods or documents of title under a preexisting contract for sale, but does not include a transfer in bulk, or as security for, or in total or partial satisfaction of a money debt.

(b) "Cancellation" occurs when either party puts an end to the lease contract for default by the other party.

(c) "Commercial unit" means a unit of goods which by commercial usage is a whole for purposes of lease, and the division of which materially impairs its character or value on the market or in use. A commercial unit may be a single article, such as a machine, or a set of articles, such as a suite of furniture or a line of machinery, or a quantity, such as a gross or carload, or any other unit treated in use or in the relevant market as a single whole.

(d) "Conforming goods or performance under a lease contract" means goods or performance that are in accordance with the obligations under the lease contract.

(e) "Consumer lease" means a lease that a lessor, regularly engaged in the business of leasing or selling, makes to a lessee, who is [a natural person and] an individual and who takes under the lease primarily for a personal, family, or household purpose.

(f) "Fault" means wrongful act, omission, breach, or default.

(g) "Finance lease" means a lease in which:

(i) the lessor does not select, manufacture, or supply the goods;

(ii) the lessor acquires the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods in connection with the lease; and

(iii) one of the following occurs:

(A) either: the lessee receives a copy of the contract [evidencing the lessor's purchase] by which the lessor acquired the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods [en] before signing the lease contract;

(B) the lessee's approval of the contract [evidencing the lessor's purchase] by which the lessor acquired the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods is a condition to effectiveness of the lease contract;

(C) the lease contract discloses all warranties and other rights provided to the lessee by the lessor and supplier in connection with the lease contract and informs the lessee that there are no warranties or other rights provided to the lessee by the lessor and supplier other than those disclosed in the lease contract; or

(D) only: if the lease is not a consumer lease, on or before the signing of the lease contract by the lessee, the lessor:

(1) informs the lessee in writing that the lessor may have rights under the contract evidencing the lessee's purchase of the goods; and

(III) advises the lessee, in writing, to contact the supplier for a description of any such rights.

(C) the lessee, before signing the lease contract, receives an accurate and complete statement designating the promises and warranties, and any disclaimers of warranties, limitations, or modifications of remedies, of the lessor and supplier, or liquidated damages, including those of a third party, such as the manufacturer of the goods, provided to the lessor by the person supplying the goods in connection with or as part of the contract by which the lessor acquired the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods; or

(D) if the lease is not a consumer lease, the lessor, before the lessee signs the lease contract, informs the lessee in writing:

(I) of the identity of the person supplying the goods to the lessor, unless the lessor has directed the lessor to acquire the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods from that person;

(II) that the lessee is entitled, under this chapter to the promises and warranties, including those of any third party, provided to the lessor by the person supplying the goods in connection with or as part of the contract by which the lessor acquired the goods or the right to possession and use of the goods; and

(III) that the lessee may communicate with the person supplying the goods to the lessor and receive an accurate and complete statement of those promises and warranties, including any disclaimers and limitations of them or of remedies.

(h) "Goods" means all things that are movable at the time of identification to the lease contract, or are fixtures. The term does not include money, documents, instruments, accounts, chattel paper, general intangibles, or minerals or the like, including oil and gas, before extraction. The term also includes the unborn young of animals.

(1) "Installment lease contract" means a lease contract that authorizes or requires the delivery of goods in separate lots to be separately accepted, even though the lease contract contains a clause stating "each delivery is a separate lease" or its equivalent.

(2) "Lease" means a transfer of the right to possession and use of goods for a term, in return for consideration. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the term includes a sublease. But a sale, including a sale on approval or a sale or return, or retention or creation of a security interest is not a lease.

(k) "Lease agreement" with respect to the lease, means the bargain of the lessor and the lessee in fact as found in their language or by implication from other circumstances including course of dealing or usage of trade or course of performance as provided in this chapter. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the term includes a sublease agreement.

(l) "Lease contract" means the total legal obligation that results from the lease agreement as affected by this chapter and any other applicable rules of law. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the term includes a sublease contract.

(m) "Leasehold interest" means the interest of the lessor or the lessee under a lease contract.

(n) "Lessee" means a person who acquires the right to possession and use of goods under a lease. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the term includes a sublessee.

(o) "Lessee in ordinary course of business" means a person who in good faith and without knowledge that the lease to him is in violation of the ownership rights, security interest, or leasehold interest of a third party in the goods, leases in ordinary course from a person in the business of selling or leasing goods of that kind, but does not include a pawnbroker. "Leasing" may be for cash or by exchange of other property, or on secured or unsecured credit, and includes receiving goods or documents of title under a preexisting lease contract. "Leasing" does not include a transfer in bulk or as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a money debt.

(p) "Lessor" means a person who transfers the right to possession and use of goods under a lease. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the term includes a sublessor.

(q) "Lessor's residual interest" means the lessor's interest in the goods after expiration, termination, or cancellation of the lease contract.

(r) "Lien" means a charge against or interest in goods to secure payment of a debt or performance of an obligation, but the term does not include a security interest.

(s) "Lot" means a parcel or single article that is the subject matter of a separate lease or delivery, whether or not it is sufficient to perform the lease contract.

(t) "Merchant lessee" means a lessee that is the merchant with respect to goods of the kind subject to the lease.

(u) "Present value" means the amount as of a date certain of one or more sums payable in the future, discounted to the date certain. The discount is determined by the interest rate specified by the parties if the rate was not manifestly unreasonable at the time the transaction was entered into; otherwise, the discount is determined by a commercially reasonable rate that takes into account the facts and circumstances of each case at the time the transaction was entered into.

(v) "Purchase" includes taking by sale, lease, mortgage, security interest, pledge, gift, or any other voluntary transaction creating an interest in goods.

(w) "Sublease" means a lease of goods, the right to possession and use of which was acquired by the lessor as a lessee under an existing lease.

(x) "Supplier" means a person from whom a lessor buys or leases goods to be leased under a finance lease.

(y) "Supply contract" means a contract under which a lessor buys or leases goods to be leased.

(z) "Termination" occurs when either party, pursuant to a power created by agreement or law, puts an end to the lease contract otherwise than for default.

Section 5. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-104, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-104. Leases subject to other law.

(1) A lease, although subject to this chapter, is also subject to any applicable:

[Operating text for the section]
(a) where a transfer of the lease contract or of the lessor's residual interest in the goods is a transfer that materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changes the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the other party to the lease contract within the purview of Subsection (5); unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual delegation of a material performance of the lessor.

(4) A provision in a lease agreement that prohibits a transfer of a right to damages for default with respect to the whole lease contract or of a right to payment arising out of the transferor's due performance of the transferor's entire obligation, or makes such a transfer an event of default, is not enforceable unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual transfer by the lessee of the lessor's right of possession or use of the goods in violation of the provision, or an actual delegation of a material performance of either party to the lease contract in violation of the provision. Neither the granting nor the enforcement of a security interest in either the lessor's interest under the lease contract or the lessor's residual interest in the goods is a transfer that materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changing the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the lessee within the purview of Subsection (5); unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual delegation of a material performance of the lessor.

(5) Subject to Subsections (3) and (4):

(a) if a transfer is made that is made an event of default under a lease agreement, the party to the lease contract not making the transfer, unless that party waives the default or otherwise agrees, has the rights and remedies described in Section 70A-9-501, and

(b) if Subsection (5)(a) is not applicable and if a transfer is made that is prohibited under a lease agreement, or materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changes the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the other party to the lease contract, unless the party not making the transfer agrees at any time to the transfer in the lease contract or in the lessor's residual interest in the goods, or makes such a transfer an event of default, is not enforceable unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual transfer by the lessee of the lessor's right of possession or use of the goods in violation of the provision, or an actual delegation of a material performance of either party to the lease contract in violation of the provision.

(3) A provision in a lease agreement that either prohibits the creation or enforcement of a security interest in an interest of a party under the lease contract or in the lessor's residual interest in the goods, or makes such a transfer an event of default, is not enforceable unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual transfer by the lessee of the lessor's right of possession or use of the goods in violation of the provision, or an actual delegation of a material performance of either party to the lease contract in violation of the provision. Neither the granting nor the enforcement of a security interest in either the lessor's interest under the lease contract or the lessor's residual interest in the goods is a transfer that materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changes the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the lessee within the purview of Subsection (5) unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual delegation of a material performance of the lessor.

(3) A provision in a lease agreement that either prohibits the creation or enforcement of a security interest in an interest of a party under the lease contract or in the lessor's residual interest in the goods, or makes such a transfer an event of default, is not enforceable unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual transfer by the lessee of the lessor's right of possession or use of the goods in violation of the provision, or an actual delegation of a material performance of either party to the lease contract in violation of the provision. Neither the granting nor the enforcement of a security interest in either the lessor's interest under the lease contract or the lessor's residual interest in the goods is a transfer that materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changes the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the lessee within the purview of Subsection (5) unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual delegation of a material performance of the lessor.

(3) A provision in a lease agreement that either prohibits the creation or enforcement of a security interest in an interest of a party under the lease contract or in the lessor's residual interest in the goods, or makes such a transfer an event of default, is not enforceable unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual transfer by the lessee of the lessor's right of possession or use of the goods in violation of the provision, or an actual delegation of a material performance of either party to the lease contract in violation of the provision. Neither the granting nor the enforcement of a security interest in either the lessor's interest under the lease contract or the lessor's residual interest in the goods is a transfer that materially impairs the prospect of obtaining return performance by materially changes the duty of, or materially increases the burden or risk imposed on, the lessee within the purview of Subsection (5) unless, and then only to the extent that, there is an actual delegation of a material performance of the lessor.
the [assignor] transferor or the other party to the lease contract.

[6] (7) Unless otherwise agreed by the lessor and the lessee, [no] a delegation of performance (re-11leves) does not relieve the [assignor] transferor as against the other party of any duty to perform or any liability for default.

[6] (A) Right to damages for default with respect to the whole lease contract or a right arising out of the assignor's due performance of his entire obligation can be assigned despite agreement otherwise.

[3] (A) In a consumer lease, to prohibit the transfer of an interest of a party under [a] the lease contract, or to make a transfer an event of default, the language (of prohibition) must be specific, by writing, and conspicuous.

Section 8. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-304, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-304. Subsequent lease of goods by lessor.

(1) Subject to [the provisions of Section 70A-2a-303], a subsequent lessee from a lessor of goods under an existing lease contract obtains, to the extent of the leasehold interest transferred, the leasehold interest in the goods that the lessor had or had power to transfer, and except as provided in Subsection (2) and Subsection 70A-2a-527 (4), takes subject to the existing lease contract. A lessee with voidable title has power to transfer a good leasehold interest to a good faith subsequent lessee for value, but only to the extent set forth in the preceding sentence. [When] if goods have been delivered under a transaction of purchase, the lessee has that power even though:

(a) the lessor's transferor was deceived as to the identity of the lessee;

(b) the delivery was in exchange for a check which is later dishonored;

(c) it was agreed that the transaction was to be a "cash sale;" or

(d) the delivery was procured through fraud punishable as larcenous under the criminal law.

(2) A subsequent lessee in the ordinary course of business from a lessor who is a merchant dealing in goods of that kind to whom the goods were entrusted by the existing lessee of that lessor before the interest of the subsequent lessee became enforceable against the lessee obtains, to the extent of the leasehold interest transferred, all of that lessee's and the existing lessee's rights to the goods, and takes free of the existing lease contract.

(3) A subsequent lessee from the lessor of goods that are subject to an existing lease contract and are covered by a certificate of title issued under a statute of this state or of another jurisdiction takes no greater rights than those provided both by this section and by the certificate of title statute.

Section 9. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-307, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-307. Priority of liens arising by attachment or levy on, security interests in, and other claims to goods.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in Section 70A-2a-306, a creditor of a lessee takes subject to the lease contract.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in Subsections (3) and (4) [of this section] and in Sections 70A-2a-308 and 70A-2a-309, a creditor of a lessor takes subject to the lease contract unless:

(a) [unless] the creditor holds a lien that attached to the goods before the lease contract became enforceable;

(b) [unless] the creditor holds a security interest in the goods and the lessee did not give value and receive delivery of the goods without knowledge of the security interest; or

(c) [unless] the creditor holds a security interest in the goods that [attached and] was perfected before the lease contract became enforceable.

[iii] the lease contract became enforceable;

[iii] the lease contract became enforceable;

[iii] the lessee gave value and received delivery of the goods; or

[iii] in the case of a purchase-money security interest, the date that is ten days after the date that the lessee received possession of the goods or the date that the lessee received possession of the goods, whichever is earlier.

(3) A lessee in the ordinary course of business takes the leasehold interest free of a security interest in the goods created by the lessor even though the security interest is perfected and the lessee knows of its existence.

(4) A lessee other than a lessee in the ordinary course of business takes the leasehold interest free of a security interest to the extent that it secures future advances made after the secured party acquires knowledge of the lease or more than 45 days after the lease contract becomes enforceable, whichever first occurs, unless the future advances are made pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the lease and before the expiration of the 45-day period.

Section 10. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-309, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-309. Lessor's and lessee's rights when goods become fixtures.

(1) In this section:

(a) goods are "fixtures" when they become so related to particular real estate that an interest in them arises under real estate law; and

(b) a "fixture filing" is the filing, in the office where a mortgage on the real estate would be filed, recorded, or registered, of a financing statement (concerning) covering goods that are or are to become fixtures and conforming to the requirements of Subsection 70A-9-402 (5);

(c) a lease is a "purchase money lease" unless the lessee has possession or use of the goods or the right to possession or use of the goods before the lease agreement is enforceable;

(d) a mortgage is a "construction mortgage" to the extent it secures an obligation incurred for the construction of an improvement on land including the acquisition cost of the land, if the recorded writing so indicates; and

(e) "encumbrance" includes real estate mortgages and other liens on real estate and all other rights in real estate that are not ownership interests.

(2) Under this chapter, a lease may be of goods that are fixtures or may continue in goods that become fixtures, but no lease exists under this chapter of ordinary building materials incorporated into an improvement on land.

(3) This chapter does not prevent creation of a lease of fixtures pursuant to real estate law.

(4) The perfected interest of a lessor of fixtures has priority over a conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the real estate if:

(a) the lease is a purchase money lease, the conflicting interest of the encumbrancer or owner arises before the goods become fixtures, a fixture filing covering the fixtures is filed or recorded before the goods become fixtures or within ten days thereafter, and the lessee has an interest of record in the real estate or is in possession of the real estate;

(b) the interest of the lessor is perfected by a fixture filing before the interest of the encumbrancer or owner is of record, the lessor's interest has priority over any conflicting interest of a predecessor in title of the encumbrancer or owner, and the lessee has an interest of record in the real estate or is in possession of the real estate.

(5) The interest of a lessor of fixtures, whether or not perfected, has priority over the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the real estate if:

(a) the fixtures are readily removable factory or office machines, readily removable equipment that is not primarily used or leased for use in the operation of the real estate, or readily removable replacements of domestic appliances that are goods subject to a consumer lease, and before the goods become fixtures the lease contract is enforceable;

(b) the conflicting interest is a lien on the real estate obtained by legal or equitable proceedings after the lease contract is enforceable;

(c) the encumbrancer or owner has consented in writing to the lease or has disclaimed an interest in the goods as fixtures; or

(d) the lessee has a right to remove the goods as against the encumbrancer or owner. If the lessee's right to remove terminates, the priority of the interest of the lessor continues for a reasonable time.

(6) Notwithstanding Subsection (4)(a), but otherwise subject to Subsections (4) and (5), the interest of a lessor of fixtures is subordinate to the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer of the real estate under a construction mortgage recorded before the goods become fixtures if the goods become fixtures before the completion of the construction. To the extent given to refinance a construction mortgage, the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer of the real estate under a mortgage has this priority to the same extent as the encumbrancer of the real estate under the construction mortgage.

(7) In cases not within the preceding subsections, priority between the interest of a lessor of fixtures, including the lessor's residual interest, and the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the real estate who is not the lessee is determined by the priority rules governing conflicting interests in real estate.

(8) If the interest of a lessor of fixtures, including the lessor's residual interest, has priority over all conflicting interests of all owners and encumbrances of the real estate, the lessor or the lessee may:

(a) on default, expiration, termination, or cancellation of the lease agreement (by the other-party) but subject to the provisions of the lease agreement and this chapter; or

(b) if necessary to enforce (his) other rights and remedies of the lessor or lessee under this chapter, remove the goods from the real estate, free and clear of all conflicting interests of all owners and encumbrances of the real estate, but (he) the lessor or lessee must reimburse any encumbrancer or owner of the real estate who is not the lessee and who has not otherwise agreed for the cost of repair of any physical injury, but not for any diminution in value of the real estate caused by the absence of the goods removed or by any necessity of replacing them. A person entitled to reimbursement may refuse permission to remove the goods until the party seeking removal gives adequate security for the performance of this obligation.

(9) Even though the lease agreement does not create a security interest, the interest of a lessor of fixtures, including the lessor's residual interest, is perfected by filing a financing statement as a fixture filing for leased goods that are or are to become fixtures in accordance with the relevant provisions of Title 70A, Chapter 9, Uniform Commercial Code—Secured Transactions.

Section 11. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-2a-311, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

70A-2a-311. Priority subject to subordination.

Nothing in this chapter prevents subordination by agreement by any person entitled to priority.
Section 12. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-407, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

(1) In the case of a finance lease that is not a consumer lease, the lessee's promises under the lease contract become irrevocable and independent upon the lessee's acceptance of the goods.

(2) A promise that has become irrevocable and independent under Subsection (1):

(a) is effective and enforceable between the parties, and by or against third parties including assigns of the parties; and

(b) is not subject to cancellation, termination, modification, repudiation, excuse, or substitution without the consent of the party to whom the promise runs.

(3) This section does not affect the validity under any other law of a covenant in any lease contract making the lessee's promises irrevocable and independent upon the lessee's acceptance of the goods.

Section 13. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-501, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

(1) Whether the lessor or the lessee is in default under a lease contract is determined by the lease agreement and this chapter.

(2) If the lessor or the lessee is in default under the lease contract, the party seeking enforcement has rights and remedies as provided in this chapter and, except as limited by this chapter, as provided in the lease agreement.

(3) If the lessor or the lessee is in default under the lease contract, the party seeking enforcement may reduce the party's claim to judgment, or otherwise enforce the lease contract by self-help or any available judicial procedure or nonjudicial procedure, including administrative proceeding, arbitration, or the like, in accordance with this chapter.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in Subsection 70A-1-106, in this chapter, or in the lease agreement, the rights and remedies referred to in Subsections (2) and (3) are cumulative.

(5) If the lease agreement covers both real property and goods, the party seeking enforcement may proceed under this section as to the goods, or under other applicable law as to both the real property and the goods in accordance with [his] that person's rights and remedies in respect of the real property, in which case this section does not apply.

Section 14. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-503, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-503. Modification or impairment of rights and remedies.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the lease agreement may include rights and remedies for default in addition to or in substitution for those provided in this chapter and may limit or alter the measure of damages recoverable under this chapter.

(2) Resort to a remedy provided under this chapter or in the lease agreement is optional unless the remedy is expressly agreed to be exclusive. If circumstances cause an exclusive or limited remedy to fail of its essential purpose, or provision for an exclusive remedy is unconscionable, remedy may be had as provided in this chapter.

(3) Consequential damages may be liquidated under Section 70A-2a-504, or may otherwise be limited, altered, or excluded unless the limitation, alteration, or exclusion is unconscionable. Limitation, alteration, or exclusion of consequential damages for injury to the person in the case of consumer goods is prima facie unconscionable, but limitation, alteration, or exclusion of damages where the loss is commercial is not prima facie unconscionable.

(4) Rights and remedies on default by the lessor or the lessee with respect to any obligation or promise collateral or ancillary to the lease contract are not impaired by this chapter.

Section 15. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-507, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-507. Proof of market rent — Time and place.

(1) Damages based on market rent as provided in Section 70A-2a-519 or 70A-2a-528 are determined according to the rent for the use of the goods concerned for a lease term identical to the remaining lease term of the original lease agreement and prevailing at the time of default.

(2) If evidence of rent for the use of the goods concerned for a lease term identical to the remaining lease term of the original lease agreement and prevailing at the times specified in Sections 70A-2a-519 and 70A-2a-528 is not readily available, the rent prevailing within an reasonable time before or after the time described or at any other place or for a different lease term which in commercial judgment or under usage of trade would serve as a reasonable substitute for the one described may be used, making any proper allowance for the difference, including the cost of transporting the goods to or from the other place.

(3) Evidence of a relevant rent prevailing at a time or place or for a lease term other than the one described in this chapter offered by one party is not admissible unless and until he has given the other party notice the court finds sufficient to prevent unfair surprise.

(4) If the prevailing rent or value of any goods regularly leased in any established market is in issue, reports in official publications or trade journals or in newspapers or periodicals of general circulation published as the reports of that market are admissiable in evidence. The circumstances of the preparation of the report may be shown to affect its weight but not its admissibility.

Section 16. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-508, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-508. Lessee’s remedies.
(1) If a lessor fails to deliver the goods in conformity to the lease contract as provided in Section 70A-2a-509 or repudiates the lease contract as provided in Section 70A-2a-402, or a lessee rightfully rejects the goods as provided in Section 70A-2a-509 or justifiably revokes acceptance of the goods as provided in Section 70A-2a-517, then with respect to any goods involved, and with respect to all of the goods if under an installment lease contract the value of the whole lease contract is substantially impaired as provided in Section 70A-2a-510, the lessor is in default under the lease contract and the lessee may:
(a) cancel the lease contract as provided in Subsection 70A-2a-505 (1);
(b) recover so much of the rent and security as has been paid, but in the case of an installment lease contract, the recovery is that which is just under the circumstances; or
(c) cover and recover damages as to all goods affected whether or not they have been identified to the lease contract as provided in Sections 70A-2a-518 and 70A-2a-520, or recover damages for nondelivery as provided in Sections 70A-2a-519 and 70A-2a-520; or
(d) exercise any other rights or pursue any other remedies provided in the lease contract.
(2) If a lessor fails to deliver the goods in conformity to the lease contract or repudiates the lease contract, the lessee may also:
(a) if the goods have been identified, recover them as provided in Section 70A-2a-522; or (b) in a proper case, obtain specific performance or replevy the goods as provided in Section
70A-2a-521.
(3) If a lessor is in default under the lease contract
[pursuant to Section 70A-2a-518 or 520 or otherwise in default under the lease contract], the lessee may exercise [any of] the rights and pursue the remedies:
(a) provided for in this chapter if not effectively excluded or modified by the lease contract; or (b) effectively provided for in the lease contract, which may include the right to cancel the lease, and in Section 70A-2a-519.
(4) If a lessee has breached a warranty, whether express or implied, the lessee may recover damages as provided in Subsection 70A-2a-519 (4).
(5) On rightful rejection or justifiable revocation of acceptance, a lessee has a security interest in goods in the lessee’s possession or control for any rent and security that has been paid and any expenses reasonably incurred in their inspection, re-cipt, transportation, and care and custody and may hold those goods and dispose of them in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner, subject to the provisions of Subsection 70A-2a-527 (5).
(6) Subject to the provisions of Section 70A-2a-407, a lessee, on notifying the lessor of the lessee’s intention to do so, may deduct all or any part of the damages resulting from any default under the lease contract from any part of the rent still due under the same lease contract.

Section 17. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-516, Utah Code Annotated 1953,
as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-516. Effect of acceptance of goods — Notice of default — Burden of establishing default after acceptance — Notice of claim or litigation to person answerable over.
(1) A lessee must pay rent for any goods accepted in accordance with the lease contract, with due allowance for goods rightfully rejected or not delivered.
(2) A lessee’s acceptance of goods precludes rejection of the goods accepted. In the case of a finance lease other than a consumer lease in which the supplier assisted in the preparation of the lease contract or participated in negotiating the terms of the lease contract with the lessor, if made with knowldge of a nonconformity, acceptance cannot be revoked because of it. In any other case, if made with knowledge of a nonconformity, acceptance cannot be revoked because of it unless the acceptance was on the reasonable assumption that the nonconfor-mity would be seasonably cured. Acceptance does not of itself impair any other remedy provided by this chapter or the lease agreement for nonconfor-mity.
(3) If a tender has been accepted:
(a) within a reasonable time after the lessee discovers or should have discovered any default [or

Section 25. Section Amended.

Section 70A-2a-529, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 197, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-2a-529. Lessor's damages for lessee's default.

(1) After default by the lessee under the lease contract [as provided of the type described in |Section |Subsection 70A-2a-523(1) or (3)], or, if agreed, after any other default by the lessee, if the lessor complies with Subsection (2), the lessor may recover from the lessee as damages:

(a) for goods accepted by the lessee and not repossessed by or [effectively] tendered back to the lessor and for confirming goods lost or damaged after risk of possession of them or the lessee has effectively lost possession of them or the lessee has never delivered the goods or has taken possession of them or the lessee has effectively tendered them back to the lessor, if the lessor is unable after reasonable effort to dispose of them at a reasonable price or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such an effort will be unavailing:

(i) accrued and unpaid rent as of the date of entry of judgment in favor of the lessor;

(ii) the present value as of the date determined under Subsection (i) of the rent for the then remaining lease term of the lease agreement; and

(iii) any incidental damages allowed under Section 70A-2a-530, less expenses saved in consequence of the lessee's default; and

(b) for goods identified to the lease contract where the lessor has never delivered the goods or has taken possession of them or the lessee has effectively tendered them back to the lessor, if the lessee is unable after reasonable effort to dispose of them at a reasonable price or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such an effort will be unavailing:

(ii) the present value as of the date determined under Subsection (i) of the rent for the then remaining lease term of the lease agreement; and

(iii) any incidental damages allowed under Section 70A-2a-530, less expenses saved in consequence of the lessee's default.

(2) Except as provided in Subsection (3), the lessor shall hold for the lessee for the remaining (lease) term of the lease agreement any goods that have been identified to the lease contract and are in the lessor's control.

(3) The lessor may dispose of the goods at any time before collection of the judgment for damages obtained pursuant to Subsection (1). If the disposition is before the end of the remaining lease term of the lease agreement, the lessor's recovery against the lessee for damages will be governed by Section 70A-2a-527 or 70A-2a-528, and the lessor will cause an appropriate credit to be provided against any judgment for damages to the extent that the amount of the judgment exceeds the recovery available under Section 70A-2a-527 or 70A-2a-528.

(4) Payment of the judgment for damages obtained pursuant to Subsection (1) entitles the lessee to the use and possession of the goods not then disposed of for the remaining lease term of and in accordance with the lease agreement if the lessee complies with all other terms and conditions of the lease agreement.

(5) After a lessee has wrongfully rejected or revoked acceptance of goods, has failed to pay rent then due, or has repudiated as provided in Section 70A-2a-402, a lessor who is held not entitled to rent under this section must nevertheless be awarded damages for nonacceptance under Sections 70A-2a-527 and 70A-2a-528.

Section 29. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-104, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1966, is repealed and reenacted to read: 70A-3-104. Negotiable instrument.

(1) Except as provided in Subsections (3) and (4), "negotiable instrument" means an unconditional promise or order to pay a fixed amount of money, with or without interest or other charges described in the promise or order, if it:

(a) is payable to bearer or to order at the time it is issued or first comes into possession of a holder;
(b) is payable on demand or at a definite time; and
(c) does not state any other undertaking or instruction by the person promising or ordering payment to do any act in addition to the payment of money, but the promise or order may contain:

(i) an undertaking or power to give, maintain, or protect collateral to secure payment;
(ii) an authorization or power to the holder to confess judgment or realize on or dispose of collateral; or
(iii) a waiver of the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of an obligor:

(2) "Instrument" means a negotiable instrument.

(3) An order that meets all of the requirements of Subsection (1), except Subsection (1)(a), and otherwise falls within the definition of "check" in Subsection (6) is a negotiable instrument and a check.

(4) A promise or order other than a check is not an instrument if, at the time it is issued or first comes into possession of a holder, it contains a conspicuous statement, however expressed, to the effect that the promise or order is not negotiable or is not an instrument governed by this chapter.

(5) An instrument is a "note" if it is a promise and is a "draft" if it is an order. If an instrument falls within the definition of both "note" and "draft," a person entitled to enforce the instrument may treat it as either.

(6) (a) "Check" means:

(i) a draft, other than a documentary draft, payable on demand and drawn on a bank; or

(ii) a cashier's check or teller's check.

(b) An instrument may be a check even though it is described on its face by another term, such as "money order.

(7) "Cashier's check" means a draft with respect to which the drawer and drawee are the same bank or branches of the same bank.

(8) "Teller's check" means a draft drawn by a bank either on another bank, or payable at or through a bank.

(9) "Traveler's check" means an instrument that:

(a) is payable on demand;

(b) is drawn on or payable at or through a bank;

(c) is designated by the term "traveler's check" or by a substantially similar term; and

(d) requires, as a condition to payment, a countersignature by a person whose specimen signature appears on the instrument.

(10) "Certificate of deposit" means an instrument containing an acknowledgment by a bank that a sum of money has been received by the bank and a promise by the bank to repay the sum of money. A certificate of deposit is a note of the bank.

Section 30. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-105, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-105. Issue of instrument.

(1) "Issue" means the first delivery of an instrument by the maker or drawer, whether to a holder or nonholder, for the purpose of giving rights on the instrument to any person.

(2) An unissued instrument, or an unissued incomplete instrument that is completed, is binding on the maker or drawer, but nonissuance is a defense. An instrument that is conditionally issued or is issued for a special purpose is binding on the maker or drawer, but failure of the condition or special purpose to be fulfilled is a defense.

(3) "Issuer" applies to issued and unissued instruments and means a maker or drawer of an instrument.

Section 31. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-106, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1966, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-106. Unconditional promise or order.

(1) Except as provided in this section, for the purposes of Subsection 70A-3-104 (1), a promise or order is unconditional unless it states an express condition to payment, that the promise or order is subject to or governed by another writing, or that rights or obligations with respect to the promise or order are stated in another writing. A reference to another writing does not of itself make the promise or order conditional.

(2) A promise or order is not made conditional by a reference to another writing for a statement of rights with respect to collateral, prepayment, or acceleration, or because payment is limited to resort to a particular fund or source.

(3) If a promise or order requires, as a condition to payment, a countersignature by a person whose specimen signature appears on the promise or order, the condition does not make the promise or order conditional for the purposes of Subsection 70A-3-104 (1). If the person whose specimen signature appears on an instrument fails to countersign the instrument, the failure to countersign is a defense to the obligation of the issuer, but the failure does not prevent a transferee of the instrument from becoming a holder of the instrument.

(4) If a promise or order at the time it is issued or first comes into possession of a holder contains a statement, required by applicable statutory or administrative law, to the effect that the rights of a holder or transferee are subject to claims or defenses that the issuer could assert against the original payee, the promise or order is not thereby made conditional for the purposes of Subsection 70A-3-104 (1). However, if the promise or order is an instrument, there cannot be a holder in due course of the instrument.

Section 32. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-107, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-107. Instrument payable in foreign money.

Unless the instrument otherwise provides, an instrument that states the amount payable in foreign money may be paid in the foreign money or in an equivalent amount in dollars calculated by using the current bank-offered spot rate at the place of payment for the purchase of dollars on the day on which the instrument is paid.

Section 33. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-108, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:
70A-3-108. Payable on demand or at definite time.

(1) A promise or order is "payable on demand" if it states that it is payable on demand or at sight, or otherwise indicates that it is payable at the will of the holder, or does not state any time of payment.

(2) A promise or order is "payable at a definite time" if it is payable on or after a specified act or event.

(3) If an instrument, payable at a fixed date, is also payable upon demand made before the fixed date, the instrument is payable on demand until the fixed date and, if demand for payment is not made before that date, becomes payable at a definite time on the fixed date.

Section 34. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-108, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-108. Payable to bearer or to order.

(1) A promise or order is payable to bearer if it:

(a) states that it is payable to bearer or to the order of bearer, or otherwise indicates that the person in possession of the promise or order is entitled to payment;

(b) does not state a payee; or

(c) states that it is payable to or to the order of cash or otherwise indicates that it is not payable to an identified person.

(2) A promise or order that is not payable to bearer is payable to order if it is payable to the order of an identified person, or to an identified person or order. A promise or order that is payable to order is payable to the identified person.

(3) An instrument payable to bearer may become payable to an identified person if it is specially indorsed pursuant to Subsection 70A-3-205 (1). An instrument payable to an identified person may become payable to bearer if it is indorsed in blank pursuant to Subsection 70A-3-205 (2).

(1) The person to whom an instrument is initially payable is determined by the intent of the person, whether or not authorized, signing as, or in the name or behalf of, the issuer of the instrument. The instrument is payable to the person intended by the signer even if that person is identified in the instru-

If no place of payment is stated, an instrument is payable at the address of the drawee or maker stated in the instrument. If no address is stated, the place of payment is the place of business of the drawee or maker. If a drawee or maker has more than one place of business, the place of payment is any place of business of the drawee or maker chosen by the person entitled to enforce the instrument. 70A-3-112. Interest.

(1) Unless otherwise provided in the instrument, an instrument is not payable with interest, and interest on an interest-bearing instrument is payable from the date of the instrument.

(2) Interest may be stated in an instrument as a fixed or variable amount of money or it may be expressed as a fixed or variable rate or rates. The amount or rate of interest may be stated or described in the instrument in any manner and may require reference to information not contained in the instrument. An instrument provides for interest, but the amount of interest payable cannot be ascertained from the description, interest is payable at the judgment rate in effect at the time interest first accrues.

Section 38. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-113, Utah Code Annotated 1965, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-113. Date of instrument.

(1) An instrument may be antedated or postdated. The date stated determines the time of payment if the instrument is payable at a fixed period after the date. Except as provided in Subsection 70A-4-401(3), an instrument payable on demand is not payable before the date of the instrument.

(2) If an instrument is undated, its date is the date of its issue or, in the case of an unissued instrument, the date it first comes into possession of a holder.

Section 39. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-114, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-115. Incomplete instrument.

(1) "Incomplete instrument" means a signed writing, whether or not issued by the signer, the contents of which show at the time of signing that it is incomplete but that the signer intended it to be completed by the addition of words or numbers.

(2) Subject to Subsection (3), if an incomplete instrument is an instrument under Section 70A-3-104, it may be enforced according to its terms if it is not completed, or according to its terms as augmented by completion. If an incomplete instrument is not an instrument under Section 70A-3-104, but, after completion, the requirements of Section 70A-3-104 are met, the instrument may be enforced according to its terms as augmented by completion.

(3) If words or numbers are added to an incomplete instrument without authority of the signer, there is an alteration of the incomplete instrument under Section 70A-3-407.

(4) The burden of establishing that words or numbers were added to an incomplete instrument without authority of the signer is on the person asserting the lack of authority.

Section 41. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-116, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-116. Joint and several liability — Contribution.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in the instrument, two or more persons who have the same liability on an instrument as makers, drawers, acceptors, indorsers who indorse as joint payees, or anomalous indorsers who indorse as joint payees, or anomalous indorsers who indorse in the capacity in which they sign.

(2) Except as provided in Subsection 70A-3-419(3), an instrument payable on demand is not payable before the date of the instrument.

(3) Discharge of one party having joint and several liability by a person entitled to enforce the instrument does not affect the right under Subsection (2) of a party having the same joint and several liability to receive contribution from the party discharged.

Section 42. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-117, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-117. Other agreements affecting instrument.

Subject to applicable law regarding exclusion of proof of contemporaneous or previous agreements, the obligation of a party to an instrument to pay the instrument may be modified, supplemented, or nullified by a separate agreement of the obligor and a person entitled to enforce the instrument, if the instrument is issued or the obligation is incurred in reliance on the agreement or as part of the same transaction giving rise to the agreement. To the extent an obligation is modified, supplemented, or nullified by an agreement under this section, the agreement is a defense to the obligation.

Section 43. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-118, Utah Code Annotated 1963, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-118. Statute of limitations.

(1) Except as provided in Subsection (5), an action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay a note payable at a definite time must be commenced within six years after the due date or dates stated in the note.
If the due date is accelerated, within six years after the accelerated due date.

(2) Except as provided in Subsection (4) or (5), if demand for payment is made to the maker of a note payable on demand, an action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the note must be commenced within six years after the demand. If no demand for payment is made to the maker, an action to enforce the note is barred if neither principal nor interest on the note has been paid for a continuous period of 10 years.

(3) Except as provided in Subsection (4), an action to enforce the obligation of a party to an unaccepted draft to pay the draft must be commenced within three years after dishonor of the draft or 10 years after the date of the draft, whichever period expires first.

(4) An action to enforce the obligation of the acceptor of a certified check or the issuer of a teller’s check, cashier’s check, or traveler’s check must be commenced within three years after demand for payment is made to the acceptor or issuer, as the case may be.

(5) An action to enforce the obligation of a party to a certificate of deposit to pay the instrument must be commenced within six years after demand for payment is made to the maker, but if the instrument states a due date and the maker is not required to pay before that date, the six-year period begins when a demand for payment is in effect and the due date has passed.

(6) An action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay an accepted draft, other than a certified check, must be commenced within six years after the due date or dates stated in the draft or acceptance if the obligation of the acceptor is payable at a definite time, or within six years after the date of the acceptance if the obligation of the acceptor is payable on demand.

(7) Unless governed by other law regarding claims for indemnity or contribution, an action for conversion of an instrument, for money had and received,
Section 47. Section Repealed and Reenacted.
    Section 70A-3-203, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-203. Transfer of instrument — Rights acquired by transfer.

(1) An instrument is transferred when it is delivered by a person other than its issuer for the purpose of giving to the person receiving delivery the right to enforce the instrument.

(2) Transfer of an instrument, whether or not the transfer is a negotiation, vests in the transferee any right of the transferor to enforce the instrument, including any right as a holder in due course, but the transferee cannot acquire rights of a holder in due course by a transfer, directly or indirectly, from a holder in due course if the transferee engaged in fraud or illegally affecting the instrument.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed, if an instrument is transferred for value and the transferee does not become a holder because of lack of indorsement by the transferor, the transferee has a specifically enforceable right to the unqualified indorsement of the transferor, but negotiation of the instrument does not occur until the indorsement is made.

(4) If a transferor purports to transfer less than the entire instrument, negotiation of the instrument does not occur. The transferee obtains no rights under this chapter and has only the rights of a partial assignee.

Section 48. Section Repealed and Reenacted.
    Section 70A-3-204, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-204. Indorsement.

(1) "Indorsement" means a signature, other than that of a signer as maker, drawer, or acceptor, that alone or accompanied by other words is made on an instrument for the purpose of negotiating the instrument, restricting payment of the instrument, or incurring indorser's liability on the instrument, but regardless of the intent of the signer, a signature and its accompanying words is an indorsement unless the accompanying words, terms of the instrument, place of the signature, or other circumstances unambiguously indicate that the signature was made for a purpose other than indorsement. For the purpose of determining whether a signature is made on an instrument, a paper affixed to the instrument is a part of the instrument.

(2) "Indorser" means a person who makes an indorsement.

(3) For the purpose of determining whether the transferee of an instrument is a holder, an indorsement that transfers a security interest in the instrument is effective as an unqualified indorsement of the instrument.

(4) If an instrument is payable to a holder under a name that is not the name of the holder, indorsement may be made by the holder in the name stated in the instrument or in the holder's name or both, but signature in both names may be required by a person paying or taking the instrument for value or collection.

Section 49. Section Repealed and Reenacted.
    Section 70A-3-205, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-205. Special Indorsement — Blank indorsement — Anomalous indorsement.

(1) If an indorsement is made by the holder of an instrument, whether payable to an identified person or payable to bearer, and the indorsement identifies a person to whom it makes the instrument payable, it is a "special indorsement." When specially indorsed, an instrument becomes payable to the identified person and may be negotiated only by the indorsement of that person. The principles stated in Section 70A-3-110 apply to special indorsements.

(2) If an indorsement is made by the holder of an instrument and it is not a special indorsement, it is a "blank indorsement." When indorsed in blank, an instrument becomes payable to bearer and may be negotiated by transfer of possession alone until specially indorsed.

(3) The holder may convert a blank indorsement that consists only of a signature into a special indorsement by writing, above the signature of the indorser, words identifying the person to whom the instrument is made payable.

(4) "Anomalous indorsement" means an indorsement made by a person who is not the holder of the instrument. An anomalous indorsement does not affect the manner in which the instrument may be negotiated.

Section 50. Section Repealed and Reenacted.
    Section 70A-3-206, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-206. Restrictive indorsement.

(1) An indorsement limiting payment to a particular person or otherwise prohibiting further transfer or negotiation of the instrument is not effective to prevent further transfer or negotiation of the instrument.

(2) An indorsement stating a condition to the right of the indorsee to receive payment does not affect the right of the indorsee to enforce the instrument. A person paying the instrument or taking it for value or collection may disregard the condition, and the rights and liabilities of that person are not affected by whether the condition has been fulfilled.

(3) If an instrument bears an indorsement described in Subsection 70A-4-201 (2), or in blank or to a particular bank using the words "for deposit," "for collection," or other words indicating a purpose of having the instrument collected by a bank for the indorser or for a particular account, the following rules apply:

(a) A person, other than a bank, who purchases the instrument when so indorsed converts the in-instrument unless the amount paid for the instrument is received by the indorser or applied consistently with the indorsement.

(b) A depositary bank that purchases the instrument or takes it for collection when so indorsed converts the instrument unless the amount paid by the bank with respect to the instrument is received by the indorser or applied consistently with the indorsement.

(c) A payor bank that is also the depositary bank or that takes the instrument for immediate payment over the counter from a person other than a collecting bank converts the instrument unless the proceeds of the instrument are received by the indorser or applied consistently with the indorsement.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in Subsection (c), a payor bank or intermediary bank may disregard the indorsement and is not liable if the proceeds of the instrument are not received by the indorser or applied consistently with the indorsement.

(4) Except for an indorsement covered by Subsection (3), if an instrument bears an indorsement violating words to the effect that payment is to be made to the indorsee as agent, trustee, or other fiduciary for the benefit of the indorser or another person, the following rules apply:

(a) Unless there is notice of breach of fiduciary duty as provided in Section 70A-3-307, a person who purchases the instrument from the indorser or takes the instrument from the indorsee for collection or payment may pay the proceeds of payment or the value given for the instrument to the indorsee without regard to whether the indorsee violates a fiduciary duty to the indorser.

(b) A subsequent transferee of the instrument or person who pays the instrument is neither given notice nor otherwise affected by the restriction in the indorsement unless the transferee or payor knows that the fiduciary dealt with the instrument or its proceeds in breach of fiduciary duty.

(5) The presence on an instrument of an indorsement to which this section applies does not prevent a purchaser of the instrument from becoming a holder in due course of the instrument unless the purchaser is a converter under Subsection (3) or has notice or knowledge of breach of fiduciary duty as stated in Subsection (4).

(6) In an action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument, the obligor has a defense if payment would violate an indorsement to which this section applies and the payment is not permitted by this section.

Section 51. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-207, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacting Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-207. Reacquisition.

Reacquisition of an instrument occurs if it is transferred to a former holder, by negotiation or otherwise. A former holder who reacquires the instrument may cancel indorsements made after the reacquirer first became a holder of the instrument.

Section 52. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-301, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacting Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

Part 3. Enforcement of Instruments

70A-3-301. Person entitled to enforce instrument.

"Person entitled to enforce" an instrument means the holder of the instrument, a nonholder in possession of the instrument who has the rights of a holder, or a person not in possession of the instrument who is entitled to enforce the instrument pursuant to Section 70A-3-309 or Subsection 70A-3-118 (4). A person may be a person entitled to enforce the instrument even though he is not the owner of the instrument or is in wrongful possession of the instrument.

Section 53. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-302, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacting Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-302. Holder in due course.

(1) Subject to Subsection (3) and Subsection 70A-3-106 (4), "holder in due course" means the holder of an instrument if:

(a) the instrument when issued or negotiated to the holder does not bear such apparent evidence of forgery or alteration or is not otherwise so irregular or incomplete as to call into question its authenticity; and

(b) the holder took the instrument for value, in good faith, without notice that the instrument is overdue or has been dishonored or that there is an uncured default with respect to payment of another instrument issued as part of the same series, without notice that the instrument contains an unauthorized signature or has been altered, without notice of any claim to the instrument described in Section 70A-3-306, and without notice that any party has a defense or claim in recoupment described in Subsection 70A-3-305 (1).

(2) Notice of discharge of a party, other than discharge in an insolvency proceeding, is not notice of a defense under Subsection (1), but discharge is effective against a person who became a holder in due course with notice of the discharge. Public filing or recording of a document does not of itself constitute notice of a defense, claim in recoupment, or claim to the instrument.

(3) Except to the extent a transferee or predecessor in interest has rights as a holder in due course, a person does not acquire rights of a holder in due course of an instrument taken:
An instrument is issued or transferred for consideration.

Section 55. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-304, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-304. Overdue instrument.

(1) An instrument payable on demand becomes overdue at the earliest of the following times:

(a) on the day after the day demand for payment is duly made;

(b) if the instrument is a check, 90 days after its date; or

(c) if the instrument is not a check, when the instrument has been outstanding for a period of time after its date which is unreasonably long under the circumstances of the particular case in light of the nature of the instrument and usage of the trade.

(2) With respect to an instrument payable at a definite time the following rules apply:

(a) if the principal is payable in installments and a due date has not been accelerated, the instrument becomes overdue upon default under the instrument for no payment of an installment, and the instrument remains overdue until the default is cured.

(b) if the principal is not payable in installments and the due date has not been accelerated, the instrument becomes overdue on the day after the due date.

(c) if a due date with respect to principal has been accelerated, the instrument becomes overdue on the day after the accelerated due date.

(3) Unless the due date of principal has been accelerated, an instrument does not become overdue if there is default in payment of interest but no default in payment of principal.

Section 56. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-305, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-305. Defenses and claims in recoupment.

(1) Except as stated in Subsection (2), the right to enforce the obligation of a party to pay an instrument is subject to the following:

(a) a defense of the obligor based on:

(i) infancy of the obligor to the extent it is a defense to a simple contract;

(ii) duress, lack of legal capacity, or illegality of the transaction which, under other law, nullifies the obligation of the obligor;
(iii) fraud that induced the obligor to sign the instrument with neither knowledge nor reasonable opportunity to learn of its character or its essential terms or

(iv) discharge of the obligor in insolvency proceedings;

(b) a defense of the obligor stated in another section of this chapter or a defense of the obligor that would be available if the person entitled to enforce the instrument were enforcing a right to payment under a simple contract; and

(c)(i) a claim in recoupment of the obligor against the original payee of the instrument if the claim arose from the transaction that gave rise to the instrument;

(ii) but the claim of the obligor may be asserted against a transferee of the instrument only to reduce the amount owing on the instrument at the time the action is brought.

(2) The right of a holder in due course to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument is subject to defenses of the obligor stated in Subsection (1)(a), but is not subject to defenses of the obligor stated in Subsection (1)(b) or claims in recoupment stated in Subsection (1)(c) against a person other than the holder.

(3) Except as stated in Subsection (4), in an action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument, the obligor may not assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument a defense, claim in recoupment, or claim to the instrument under Section 70A-3-306, of another person, but the other person's claim to the instrument may be asserted by the obligor if the other person is joined in the action and personally asserts the claim against the person entitled to enforce the instrument. An obligor is not obliged to pay the instrument if the person seeking enforcement of the instrument does not have rights of a holder in due course and the obligor proves that the instrument is a lost or stolen instrument.

(4) In an action to enforce the obligation of an accommodation party to pay an instrument, the accommodation party may assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument any defense or claim in recoupment under Subsection (1) that the accommodated party could assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument, except the defenses of discharge in insolvency proceedings, infancy, and lack of legal capacity.

Section 58. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-307, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 184, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

(1) In this section:

(a) "Fiduciary" means an agent, trustee, partner, corporate officer or director, or other representative owing a fiduciary duty with respect to an instrument;

(b) "Represented person" means the principal, beneficiary, partnership, corporation, or other person to whom the duty stated in Subsection (a) is owed.

(2) If an instrument is taken from a fiduciary for payment or collection or for value, the taker has knowledge of the fiduciary status of the fiduciary, and the represented person makes a claim to the instrument or its proceeds on the basis that the transaction of the fiduciary is a breach of fiduciary duty, the following rules apply:

(a) Notice of breach of fiduciary duty by the fiduciary is notice of the claim of the represented person.

(b) In the case of an instrument payable to the represented person or the fiduciary as such, the taker has notice of the breach of fiduciary duty if the instrument is:

(i) taken in payment of or as security for a debt known by the taker to be the personal debt of the fiduciary;

(ii) taken in a transaction known by the taker to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary; or

(iii) deposited to an account other than an account of the fiduciary, as such, or an account of the represented person.

(c) If an instrument is issued by the represented person or the fiduciary as such, and made payable to the fiduciary personally, the taker does not have notice of the breach of fiduciary duty unless the taker knows of the breach of fiduciary duty.

(d) If an instrument is issued by the represented person or the fiduciary as such, to the taker as payee, the taker has notice of the breach of fiduciary duty if the instrument is:

(i) taken in payment of or as security for a debt known by the taker to be the personal debt of the fiduciary;

(ii) taken in a transaction known by the taker to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary; or

(iii) deposited to an account other than an account of the fiduciary, as such, or an account of the represented person.

Section 59. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-3-308, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:
70A-3-309. Proof of signatures and status as holder in due course.

(1) In an action with respect to an instrument, the authenticity of, and authority to make, each signature on the instrument is admitted unless specifically denied in the pleadings. If the validity of a signature is denied in the pleadings, the burden of establishing validity is on the person claiming validity, but the signature is presumed to be authentic and authorized unless the action is to enforce the liability of the purported signer and the signer is dead or incompetent at the time of trial of the issue of validity of the signature. If an action to enforce the instrument is brought against a person as the undiscovered principal of a person who signed the instrument as a party to the instrument, the plaintiff has the burden of establishing that the defendant is liable on the instrument as a represented person under Subsection 70A-3-402 (1).

(2) If the validity of signatures is admitted or proved and there is compliance with Subsection (1), a plaintiff producing the instrument is entitled to payment if the plaintiff proves entitlement to enforce the instrument under Section 70A-3-301, unless the defendant proves a defense or claim in recoupment. If a defense or claim in recoupment is proved, the right to payment of the plaintiff is subject to the defense or claim, except to the extent the plaintiff proves that he has rights of a holder in due course which are not subject to the defense or claim.

Section 60. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-3-309, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

70A-3-309. Enforcement of lost, destroyed, or stolen instrument.

(1) A person not in possession of an instrument is entitled to enforce the instrument if:

(a) the person was in possession of the instrument and entitled to enforce it when loss of possession occurred;

(b) the loss of possession was not the result of a transfer by the person or a lawful seizure; and

(c) the person cannot reasonably obtain possession of the instrument because the instrument was destroyed, its whereabouts cannot be determined, or it is in the wrongful possession of an unknown person or a person that cannot be found or is not amenable to service of process.

(2) A person seeking enforcement of an instrument under Subsection (1) must prove the terms of the instrument and the person's right to enforce the instrument. If that proof is made, Section 70A-3-308 applies to the case as if the person seeking enforcement had produced the instrument. The court may not enter judgment in favor of the person seeking enforcement unless it finds that the person required to pay the instrument is adequately protected against loss that might occur by reason of a claim by another person to enforce the instrument. Adequate protection may be provided by any reasonable means.

Section 61. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-3-310, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

70A-3-310. Effect of instrument on obligation for which taken.

(1) Unless otherwise agreed, if a certified check, cashier's check, or teller's check is taken for an obligation, the obligation is discharged to the same extent discharge would result if an amount of money equal to the amount of the instrument were taken in payment of the obligation. Discharge of the obligation does not affect any liability that the obligor may have as an indorser of the instrument.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed and except as provided in Subsection (1), if a note or an uncertified check is taken for an obligation, the obligation is suspended to the same extent the obligation would be discharged if an amount of money equal to the amount of the instrument were taken, and the following rules apply:

(a) In the case of an uncertified check, suspension of the obligation continues until dishonor of the check or until it is paid or certified. Payment or certification of the check results in discharge of the obligation to the extent of the amount of the check.

(b) In the case of a note, suspension of the obligation continues until dishonor of the note or until it is paid. Payment of the note results in discharge of the obligation to the extent of the payment.

(c) Except as provided in Subsection (d), if the check or note is dishonored and the obligee of the obligation for which the instrument was taken is the person entitled to enforce the instrument, the obligee may enforce either the instrument or the obligation. In the case of an instrument of a third person which is negotiated to the obligee, the obligee may enforce either the instrument or the obligation.

(d) If the person entitled to enforce the instrument taken for an obligation is a person other than the obligee, the obligee may not enforce the obligation to the extent the obligation is suspended. If the obligee is the person entitled to enforce the instrument but no longer has possession of it because it was lost, stolen, or destroyed, the obligation may not be enforced to the extent of the amount payable on the instrument, and to that extent the obligee's rights against the obligor are limited to enforcement of the instrument.

(3) If an instrument other than one described in Subsection (1) or (2) is taken for an obligation, the effect is that stated in Subsection (1) if the instrument is one on which a bank or a maker or acceptor, or that stated in Subsection (2) in any other case.

Section 62. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-3-311, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

70A-3-311. Accord and satisfaction by use of instrument.

(1) If a person against whom a claim is asserted proves that that person in good faith tendered an in-instrument to the claimant as full satisfaction of the claim, the amount of the claim was unliquidated or subject to a bona fide dispute, and the claimant obtained payment of the instrument, the following subsections apply:

(2) Unless Subsection (3) applies, the claim is discharged if the person against whom the claim is asserted proves that the instrument or an accompanying written communication contained a conspicuous statement to the effect that the instrument was tendered as full satisfaction of the claim.

(3) Subject to Subsection (4), a claim is not discharged under Subsection (2) if either of the following applies:

(a) The claimant, if an organization, proves that:

(i) within a reasonable time before the tender, the claimant sent a conspicuous statement to the person against whom the claim is asserted, which states that communications concerning disputed debts, including an instrument tendered as full satisfaction of a debt, are to be sent to a designated person, office, or place; and

(ii) the instrument or accompanying communication was not received by that designated person, office, or place.

(b) The claimant, whether or not an organization, proves that within 90 days after payment of the instrument, the claimant tendered repayment of the amount of the instrument to the person against whom the claim is asserted. This subsection does not apply if the claimant is an organization that sent a statement complying with Subsection (a)(i).

(4) A claim is discharged if the person against whom the claim is asserted proves that within a reasonable time before collection of the instrument was initiated, the claimant, or an agent of the claimant, having direct responsibility with respect to the disputed obligation, knew that the instrument was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim.

Section 63. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-401, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

2. A signature may be made:

(a) manually or by means of a device or machine; and

(b) by the use of any name, including a trade or assumed name, or by a word, mark, or symbol executed or adopted by a person with present intention to authenticate a writing.

70A-3-402. Signature by representative.

1. (a) If a person acting, or purporting to act, as a representative signs an instrument by signing either the name of the represented person or the name of the signer, the represented person is bound by the signature to the same extent the represented person would be bound if the signature were on a simple contract. If the represented person is bound, the signature of the representative is the "authorized signature of the represented person" and the represented person is liable on the instrument, whether or not identified in the instrument.

(b) If a representative signs the name of the representative to an instrument and the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person, the following rules apply:

(a) If the form of the signature shows unambiguously that the signature is made on behalf of the represented person who is identified in the instrument, the representative is not liable on the instrument.

(b) Subject to Subsection (3), if the form of the signature does not show unambiguously that the signature is made in a representative capacity or the represented person is not identified in the instrument, the representative is liable on the instrument to a holder in due course that without notice that the representative was not intended to be liable on the instrument. With respect to any other person, the representative is liable on the instrument unless the representative proves that the original parties did not intend the representative to be liable on the instrument.

(c) If a representative signs the name of the representative as drawer of a check without indication of the representative status and the check is payable from an account of the represented person who is identified on the check, the signer is not liable on the check if the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person.

Section 65. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-403, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-403. Unauthorized signature.

1. (a) If a person acting, or purporting to act, as a representative signs an instrument by signing either the name of the represented person or the name of the signer, the represented person is bound by the signature to the same extent the represented person would be bound if the signature were on a simple contract. If the represented person is bound, the signature of the representative is the "authorized signature of the represented person" and the represented person is liable on the instrument, whether or not identified in the instrument.

(b) If a representative signs the name of the representative to an instrument and the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person, the following rules apply:

(a) If the form of the signature shows unambiguously that the signature is made on behalf of the represented person who is identified in the instrument, the representative is not liable on the instrument.

(b) Subject to Subsection (3), if the form of the signature does not show unambiguously that the signature is made in a representative capacity or the represented person is not identified in the instrument, the representative is liable on the instrument to a holder in due course that without notice that the representative was not intended to be liable on the instrument. With respect to any other person, the representative is liable on the instrument unless the representative proves that the original parties did not intend the representative to be liable on the instrument.

(c) If a representative signs the name of the representative as drawer of a check without indication of the representative status and the check is payable from an account of the represented person who is identified on the check, the signer is not liable on the check if the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person.

(d) If a person acting, or purporting to act, as a representative signs an instrument by signing either the name of the represented person or the name of the signer, the represented person is bound by the signature to the same extent the represented person would be bound if the signature were on a simple contract. If the represented person is bound, the signature of the representative is the "authorized signature of the represented person" and the represented person is liable on the instrument, whether or not identified in the instrument.

(e) If a representative signs the name of the representative to an instrument and the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person, the following rules apply:

(a) If the form of the signature shows unambiguously that the signature is made on behalf of the represented person who is identified in the instrument, the representative is not liable on the instrument.

(b) Subject to Subsection (3), if the form of the signature does not show unambiguously that the signature is made in a representative capacity or the represented person is not identified in the instrument, the representative is liable on the instrument to a holder in due course that without notice that the representative was not intended to be liable on the instrument. With respect to any other person, the representative is liable on the instrument unless the representative proves that the original parties did not intend the representative to be liable on the instrument.

(c) If a representative signs the name of the representative as drawer of a check without indication of the representative status and the check is payable from an account of the represented person who is identified on the check, the signer is not liable on the check if the signature is an authorized signature of the represented person.

70A-3-404. Impostors — Fictitious payees.

(a) Any person in possession of the instrument is its holder.

(b) An indorsement by any person in the name of the payee stated in the instrument is effective as the indorsement of the payee in favor of a person who, in good faith, pays the instrument or takes it for value or for collection.

(3) Under Subsection (1) or (2), an indorsement is made in the name of a payee if it is made in a name substantially similar to that of the payee, or the instrument, whether or not indorsed, is deposited in a depositary bank to an account in a name substantially similar to that of the payee.

(4) With respect to an instrument to which Subsection (1) or (2) applies, if a person paying the instrument or taking it for value or for collection fails to exercise ordinary care in paying or taking the instrument and that failure substantially contributes to loss resulting from the fraud, the person bearing the loss may recover from the person failing to exercise ordinary care to the extent the failure to exercise ordinary care contributed to the loss.

Section 67. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-405, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

(1) In this section:

(a) "Employee" includes an independent contractor and employee of an independent contractor retained by the employer.

(b) "Fraudulent indorsement" means in the case of an instrument payable to the employer, a forged indorsement purporting to be that of the employer, or in the case of an instrument with respect to which the employer is the issuer, a forged indorsement purporting to be that of the person identified as payee.

(c) "Responsibility" with respect to instruments means authority to sign or indorse instruments on behalf of the employer, to process instruments received by the employer for bookkeeping purposes, to prepare or process instruments for issue in the name of the employer, to supply information determining the names or addresses of payees of instruments to be issued in the name of the employer, to control the disposition of instruments to be issued in the name of the employer, or to act otherwise with respect to instruments in a responsible capacity.

(ii) "Responsibility" does not include authority that merely allows an employee to have access to instruments or blank or incomplete instrument forms that are being stored or transported or are part of incoming or outgoing mail, or similar access.

(2) For the purpose of determining the rights and liabilities of a person who, in good faith, pays an instrument or takes it for value or for collection, if an employer entrusted an employee with responsibility with respect to the instrument and the employee makes a fraudulent indorsement of the instrument, the indorsement is effective as the indorsement of the person to whom the instrument is payable if it is made in the name of that person.

If the person paying the instrument or taking it for value or for collection fails to exercise ordinary care in paying or taking the instrument and that failure substantially contributes to the loss resulting from the fraud, the person bearing the loss may recover from the person failing to exercise ordinary care to the extent the failure to exercise ordinary care contributed to the loss.

(3) Under Subsection (2), an indorsement is made in the name of the person to whom an instrument is payable if it is made in a name substantially similar to the name of that person, or the instrument, whether or not indorsed, is deposited in a depositary bank to an account in a name substantially similar to the name of that person.

instrument or to the making of a forged signature on an instrument is precluded from asserting the alteration or the forgery against a person who, in good faith, pays the instrument or takes it for value or for collection.

(2) Under Subsection (1), if the person asserting the preclusion fails to exercise ordinary care in paying or taking the instrument and that failure substantially contributes to loss, the loss is allocated between the person precluded and the person asserting the preclusion according to the extent to which the failure of each to exercise ordinary care contributed to the loss.

(3) Under Subsection (1), the burden of proving failure to exercise ordinary care is on the person asserting the preclusion. Under Subsection (2), the burden of proving failure to exercise ordinary care is on the person precluded.

No other alteration discharges a party, and the instrument may be enforced according to its original terms.

(3) A payor bank or drawee paying a fraudulently altered instrument or a person taking it for value, in good faith and without notice of the alteration, may enforce rights with respect to the instrument according to its original terms, or in the case of an incomplete instrument altered by unauthorized completion, according to its terms as completed.

70A-3-408. Drawee not liable on unaccepted draft.

70A-3-409. Acceptance of draft — Certified check.

(1) "Acceptance" means the drawee's signed agreement to pay a draft as presented. It must be written on the draft and may consist of the drawee's signature alone. Acceptance may be made at any time and becomes effective when notification pursuant to instructions is given or the accepted draft is delivered for the purpose of giving rights on the acceptance to any person.

(2) A draft may be accepted although it has not been signed by the drawer, is otherwise incomplete, is overdue, or has been dishonored.

(3) If a draft is payable at a fixed period after sight and the acceptor fails to date the acceptance, the holder may complete the acceptance by supplying a date in good faith.

(4) "Certified check" means a check accepted by the bank on which it is drawn. Acceptance may be made as stated in Subsection (a) or by a writing on the check which indicates that the check is certified. (2) The terms of a draft are not varied by an acceptance to pay at a particular bank or place in the United States, unless the acceptance states that the draft is to be paid only at that bank or place.

(3) If the holder assents to an acceptance varying the terms of a draft, the obligation of each drawer and indorser that does not expressly assent to the acceptance is discharged.

(1) In this section, "obligated bank" means the acceptor of a certified check or the issuer of a cashier's check or teller's check bought from the issuer.

(2) If the obligated bank wrongfully refuses to pay a cashier's check or certified check, stops payment of a teller's check, or refuses to pay a dishonored teller's check, the person asserting the right to enforce the check is entitled to compensation for expenses and loss of interest resulting from the nonpayment and may recover consequential damages if the obligated bank refuses to pay after receiving notice of particular circumstances giving rise to the damages.

(3) Expenses or consequential damages under Subsection (2) are not recoverable if the refusal of the obligated bank to pay occurs because the bank suspends payments, the obligated bank asserts a claim or defense of the bank that it has reasonable grounds to believe is available against the person entitled to enforce the instrument, the obligated bank has a reasonable doubt whether the person demanding payment is the person entitled to enforce the instrument, or payment is prohibited by law.

Section 74. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-412, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

The issuer of a note or cashier's check or other draft drawn on the obligated bank is obliged to pay the instrument according to its terms at the time it was issued or, if not issued, at the time it first came into possession of a holder, or if the issuer signed an incomplete instrument, according to its terms when completed, to the extent stated in Sections 70A-3-115 and 70A-3-407. The obligation is owed to a person entitled to enforce the instrument or to an indorser who paid the draft under Section 70A-3-415.

Section 75. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-413, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-413. Obligation of acceptor.

(1) The acceptor of a draft is obliged to pay the draft according to its terms at the time it was accepted, even though the acceptance states that the draft is payable "as originally drawn" or equivalent terms, if the acceptance varies the terms of the draft, according to the terms of the draft as varied, or if the acceptance is of a draft that is an incomplete instrument, according to its terms when completed, to the extent stated in Sections 70A-3-115 and 70A-3-407. The obligation is owed to a person entitled to enforce the draft or to the drawer or an indorser who paid the draft under Section 70A-3-414 or 70A-3-415.

(2) If an unaccepted draft is dishonored, the drawer is obliged to pay the draft according to its terms at the time it was issued or, if not issued, at the time it first came into possession of a holder, or if the drawer signed an incomplete instrument, according to its terms when completed, to the extent stated in Sections 70A-3-115 and 70A-3-407. The obligation is owed to a person entitled to enforce the draft or to an indorser who paid the draft under Section 70A-3-415.

(3) If a draft is accepted by a bank, the drawer is discharged, regardless of when or by whom acceptance was obtained.

(4) If a draft is accepted and the acceptor is not a bank, the obligation of the drawer to pay the draft if the draft is dishonored by the acceptor is the same as the obligation of an indorser under Subsections 70A-3-415(1) and (3).

(5) If a draft states that it is drawn "without recourse" or otherwise disclaims liability of the drawer to pay the draft, the drawer is not liable under Subsection (2) to pay the draft if the draft is not a check. A disclaimer of the liability stated in Subsection (2) is not effective if the draft is a check.

(6) If a check is not presented for payment or given to a depository bank for collection within 30 days after its date, the drawee suspends payments after expiration of the 30-day period without paying the check, and because of the suspension of payments, the drawer is deprived of funds maintained with the drawee to cover payment of the check, the drawer to the extent deprived of funds may discharge its obligation to pay the check by assigning to the person entitled to enforce the check the rights of the drawer against the drawee with respect to the funds.

Section 77. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-414, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 164, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-414. Obligation of drawer.

(1) The issuer of a note or cashier's check or other drafts drawn on the drawer.

(2) If an unaccepted draft is dishonored, the drawer is obliged to pay the draft according to its terms at the time it was issued or, if not issued, at the time it first came into possession of a holder, or if the drawer signed an incomplete instrument, according to its terms when completed, to the extent stated in Sections 70A-3-115 and 70A-3-407. The obligation is owed to a person entitled to enforce the draft or to an indorser who paid the draft under Section 70A-3-415.

(3) If a draft is accepted by a bank, the drawer is discharged, regardless of when or by whom acceptance was obtained.

(4) If a draft is accepted and the acceptor is not a bank, the obligation of the drawer to pay the draft if the draft is dishonored by the acceptor is the same as the obligation of an indorser under Subsections 70A-3-415(1) and (3).

(5) If a draft states that it is drawn "without recourse" or otherwise disclaims liability of the drawer to pay the draft, the drawer is not liable under Subsection (2) to pay the draft if the draft is not a check. A disclaimer of the liability stated in Subsection (2) is not effective if the draft is a check.

(6) If a check is not presented for payment or given to a depository bank for collection within 30 days after its date, the drawee suspends payments after expiration of the 30-day period without paying the check, and because of the suspension of payments, the drawer is deprived of funds maintained with the drawee to cover payment of the check, the drawer to the extent deprived of funds may discharge its obligation to pay the check by assigning to the person entitled to enforce the check the rights of the drawer against the drawee with respect to the funds.
(5) If an indorser of a check is liable under Subsection (1) and the check is not presented for payment, or given to a depositary bank for collection, within 30 days after the day the indorsement was made, the liability of the indorser under Subsection (a) is discharged.

Section 78. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-416, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-416. Transfer warranties.

(1) A person who transfers an instrument for consideration warrants to the transferee and, if the transfer is by indorsement, to any subsequent transferee that:

(a) the warrantor is a person entitled to enforce the instrument;

(b) all signatures on the instrument are authentic and authorized;

(c) the instrument has not been altered;

(d) the instrument is not subject to a defense or claim in recoupment of any party which can be asserted against the warrantor; and

(e) the warrantor has no knowledge of any insolvency proceeding commenced with respect to the maker or acceptor or, in the case of an unaccepted draft, the drawer.

(2) A person to whom the warranties under Subsection (1) are made and who took the instrument in good faith may recover from the warrantor, as damages for breach of warranty, an amount equal to the loss suffered as a result of the breach, but not more than the amount of the instrument plus expenses and loss of interest incurred as a result of the breach.

(3) The warranties stated in Subsection (1) cannot be disclaimed with respect to checks. Unless notice of a claim for breach of warranty is given to the warrantor within 30 days after the claimant has reason to know of the breach and the identity of the warrantor, the liability of the warrantor under Subsection (2) is discharged to the extent of any loss caused by the delay in giving notice of the claim.

Section 79. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-417, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-417. Presentment warranties.

(1) If an unaccepted draft is presented to the drawee for payment or acceptance and the drawee pays or accepts the draft, the person obtaining payment or acceptance, at the time of presentment, and a previous transferee of the draft, at the time of transfer, warrant to the drawee making payment or accepting the draft in good faith that:

(a) the warrantor is, or was, at the time the warrantor transferred the draft, a person entitled to enforce the draft or authorized to obtain payment or acceptance of the draft on behalf of a person entitled to enforce the draft;

(b) the draft has not been altered; and

(c) the warrantor has no knowledge that the signature of the drawer of the draft is unauthorized.

(2) A drawee making payment may recover from any warrantor damages for breach of warranty equal to the amount paid by the drawee less the amount the drawee received or is entitled to receive from the drawer because of the payment. In addition, the drawee is entitled to compensation for expenses and loss of interest resulting from the breach. The right of the drawee to recover damages under this subsection is not affected by any failure of the drawee to exercise ordinary care in making payment. If the drawee accepts the draft, breach of warranty is a defense to the obligation of the acceptor. If the acceptor makes payment with respect to the draft, the acceptor is entitled to recover from any warrantor for breach of warranty the amounts stated in this subsection.

(3) If a drawee asserts a claim for breach of warranty under Subsection (1) based on an unauthorized indorsement of the draft or an alteration of the draft, the warrantor may defend by proving that the indorsement is effective under Section 70A-3-404 or 70A-3-406, or that the drawer is precluded under Section 70A-3-406 or 70A-4-406 from asserting against the drawee the unauthorized indorsement or alteration.

(4) If a dishonored draft is presented for payment to the drawer or an indorser, or any other instrument is presented for payment to a party obliged to pay the instrument, and payment is received, the following rules apply:

(a) The person obtaining payment and a prior transferor of the instrument warrant to the person making payment in good faith that the warrantor is, or was, at the time the warrantor transferred the instrument, a person entitled to enforce the instrument or authorized to obtain payment on behalf of a person entitled to enforce the instrument.

(b) The person making payment may recover from any warrantor for breach of warranty an amount equal to the amount paid plus expenses and loss of interest resulting from the breach.

(5) The warranties stated in Subsections (1) and (4) cannot be disclaimed with respect to checks. Unless notice of a claim for breach of warranty is given to the warrantor within 30 days after the claimant has reason to know of the breach and the identity of the warrantor, the liability of the warrantor under Subsection (2) or (4) is discharged to the extent of any loss caused by the delay in giving notice of the claim.

(6) A cause of action for breach of warranty under this section accrues when the claimant has reason to know of the breach.
Section 70A-3-418. Payment or acceptance by mistake.

(1) Except as provided in Subsection (3), if the drawee of a draft pays or accepts the draft and the drawer acted on the mistaken belief that payment of the draft had not been stopped pursuant to Section 70A-4-403, or if the signature of the drawer of the draft was authorized, the drawee may recover the amount of the draft from the person to whom or for whose benefit payment was made or, in the case of acceptance, may revoke the acceptance. Rights of the drawee under this subsection are not affected by failure of the drawer to exercise ordinary care in paying or accepting the draft.

(2) Except as provided in Subsection (3), if an instrument has been paid or accepted by mistake and the or is not covered by Subsection (1), the person paying or accepting may, to the extent permitted by the law governing mistake and restitution, recover the payment from the person to whom or for whose benefit payment was made, or in the case of acceptance, may revoke the acceptance.

(3) The remedies provided by Subsection (1) or (2) may not be asserted against a person who took the instrument in good faith and for value or who in good faith changed position in reliance on the payment or acceptance. This subsection does not limit remedies provided by Section 70A-3-417 or 70A-4-407.

(4) Notwithstanding Section 70A-4-215, if an instrument is paid or accepted by mistake and the payor or acceptor recovers payment or revokes acceptance under Subsection (1) or (2), the instrument is deemed not to have been paid or accepted and is treated as dishonored, and the person from whom payment is recovered has rights as a person entitled to enforce the dishonored instrument.

Section 81. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-419, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 154, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-419. Instruments signed for accommodation.

(1) If an instrument is issued for value given for the benefit of a party to the instrument, the "accommodated party," and another party to the instrument, the "accommodation party," signs the instrument for the purpose of incurring liability on the instrument without being a direct beneficiary of the value given for the instrument, the instrument is signed by the accommodation party "for accommodation."

(2) An accommodation party may sign the instrument as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser and, subject to Subsection (1), is obliged to pay the instrument in the capacity in which the accommodation party signs. The obligation of an accommodation party may be enforced notwithstanding any statute of frauds and whether or not the accommodation party receives consideration for the accommodation.

(3) A person signing an instrument is presumed to be an accommodation party and there is notice that the instrument is signed for accommodation if the signature is an anomalous indorsement or is accompanied by words indicating that the signer is acting as surety or guarantor with respect to the obligation of another party to the instrument. Except as provided in Section 70A-3-605, the obligation of an accommodation party to pay the instrument is not affected by the fact that the person enforcing the obligation had notice when the instrument was taken by that person that the accommodation party signed the instrument for accommodation.

(4) If the signature of a party to an instrument is accompanied by words indicating unambiguously that the party is guaranteeing collection rather than payment of the obligation of another party to the instrument, the signer is obliged to pay the amount due on the instrument to a person entitled to enforce the instrument only if execution of judgment against the other party has been returned unsatisfied, the other party is insolvent or in an insolvency proceeding, the other party cannot be served with process, or it is otherwise apparent that payment cannot be obtained from the other party.

(5) An accommodation party who pays the instrument is entitled to reimbursement from the accommodated party and is entitled to enforce the instrument against the accommodated party. An accommodated party who pays the instrument has no right of recourse against, and is not entitled to contribution from, an accommodation party.

Section 82. Section Enacted.

Section 70A-3-420, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

70A-3-420. Conversion of instrument.

(1) The law applicable to conversion of personal property applies to instruments. An instrument is also converted if it is taken by transfer, other than by negotiation, from a person not entitled to enforce the instrument or a bank makes or obtains payment with respect to the instrument for a person not entitled to enforce the instrument or receive payment. An action for conversion of an instrument may not be brought by the issuer or acceptor of the instrument, or a payee or indorsee who did not receive delivery of the instrument either directly or through delivery to an agent or a copayee.

(2) In an action under Subsection (1), the measure of liability is presumed to be the amount payable on the instrument, but recovery may not exceed the amount of the plaintiff's interest in the instrument.

(3) A representative, other than a depository bank, who has in good faith dealt with an instrument or its proceeds on behalf of one who was not the person entitled to enforce the instrument, is not liable in conversion to that person beyond the amount of any proceeds that it has not paid out.

(a) If the draft is payable on demand, the draft is dishonored if presentment for payment is duly made to the acceptor and the draft is not paid on the day of presentment.
(b) If the draft is not payable on demand, the draft is dishonored if presentment for payment is duly made to the acceptor and payment is not made on the day it becomes payable or the day of presentment, whichever is later.

(e) the drawer instructed the drawee not to pay or accept the draft or the drawee was not obligated to the drawer to pay the draft.

(2) Notice of dishonor is excused if by the terms of the instrument notice of dishonor is not necessary to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument, or the party whose obligation is being enforced waived notice of dishonor. A waiver of presentment is also a waiver of notice of dishonor.

(3) Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused if the delay was caused by circumstances beyond the control of the person giving the notice and the person giving the notice exercised reasonable diligence after the cause of the delay ceased to operate.

(3) If tender of payment of an amount due on an instrument is made to a person entitled to enforce the instrument, the obligation of the obligor to pay interest after the due date on the amount tendered is discharged. Section 92. Section Repealed and Reenacted.

Section 70A-3-605, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 164, Laws of Utah 1965, is repealed and reenacted to read:

70A-3-605. Discharge of indorsers and accommodation parties.

(1) In this section, the term “indorser” includes a drawer having the obligation described in Subsection 70A-3-414 (4).

(2) Discharge, under Section 70A-3-604, of the obligation of a party to pay an instrument does not discharge the obligation of an indorser or accommodation party having a right of recourse against the discharged party.

(3) If a person entitled to enforce an instrument agrees, with or without consideration, to an extension of the due date of the obligation of a party to pay the instrument, the extension discharges an indorser or accommodation party having a right of recourse against the discharged party.

(4) If a person entitled to enforce an instrument agrees, with or without consideration, to a material modification of the obligation of a party other than an extension of the due date, the modification discharges the obligation of an indorser or accommodation party having a right of recourse against the person whose obligation is modified to the extent the modification causes loss to the indorser or accommodation party with respect to the right of recourse. The loss suffered by the indorser or accommodation party as a result of the modification is equal to the amount of the right of recourse unless the person enforcing the instrument provesthat no loss was caused by the modification or that the loss caused by the modification was an amount less than the amount of the right of recourse.

(5) If the obligation of a party to pay an instrument is secured by an interest in collateral and a person entitled to enforce the instrument impairs the value of the interest in collateral, the obligation of an indorser or accommodation party having a right of recourse against the obligor is discharged to the extent of the impairment. The value of an interest in collateral is impaired to the extent the value of the interest is reduced to an amount less than the amount of the right of recourse of the party asserting discharge, or the reduction in value of the interest causes the party asserting discharge to pay more than the amount of the right of recourse exceeding the value of the interest. The burden of proving impairment is on the party asserting discharge.

(6) If the obligation of a party is secured by an interest in collateral not provided by an accommodation party and a person entitled to enforce the instrument impairs the value of the interest in collateral, the obligation of any party who is severally liable with respect to the secured obligation is discharged to the extent the impairment causes the party asserting discharge to pay more than that party would have been obliged to pay, taking into account rights of contribution, if impairment had not occurred. If the party asserting discharge is an accommodation party not entitled to discharge under Subsection (6), the party is deemed to have a right to contribution based on joint and several liability rather than a right to reimbursement. The burden of proving impairment is on the party asserting discharge.

(7) Under Subsection (5) or (6), impairing value of an interest in collateral includes failure to obtain or maintain perfection or recordation of the interest in collateral, release of collateral without substitution of collateral of equal value, failure to perform a duty to preserve the value of collateral owed, under Title 70A, Chapter 9, Uniform Commercial Code — Secured Transactions, or other law, to a debtor or surety or other person secondarily liable, or failure to comply with applicable law in disposing of collateral.

(8) An accommodation party is not discharged under Subsection (3), (4), or (5) unless the person entitled to enforce the instrument knows of the accommodation or has notice under Subsection 70A-3-119(3) that the instrument was signed for accommodation.

(9) A party is not discharged under this section if the party asserting discharge consents to the event or conduct that is the basis of the discharge, or the instrument or a separate agreement of the party provides for waiver of discharge under this section either specifically or by general language indicating that parties waive defenses based on suretyship or impairment of collateral.

70A-4-208. Presentment warranties.

(1) If an unaccepted draft is presented to the drawee for payment or acceptance and the drawee pays or accepts the draft, the person obtaining payment or acceptance, at the time of presentment, and a previous transferor of the draft, at the time of transfer, warrant to the drawee that pays or accepts the draft in good faith that:

(a) the warrantor is, or was, at the time the warrantor transferred the draft, a person entitled to enforce the draft or authorized to obtain payment or acceptance of the draft on behalf of a person entitled to enforce the draft;

(b) the draft has not been altered; and

(c) the warrantor has no knowledge that the signature of the purported drawer of the draft is unauthorized.

(2) A drawee making payment may recover from a warrantor damages for breach of warranty equal to the amount paid by the drawee less the amount the drawee received or is entitled to receive from the drawer because of the payment. Section 136. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-106, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-106. Time payment order is received.

(1) The time of receipt of a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is determined by the rules applicable to receipt of a notice stated in Subsection 70A-1-201 (27). A receiving bank may fix a cutoff time or times on a funds transfer business day, as a cutoff time for the receipt and processing of payment orders and communications canceling or amending payment orders. Different cutoff times may apply to receipt of payment orders, cancellations, or amendments, or to different categories of payment orders, cancellations, or amendments. A cutoff time may apply to senders generally or different cutoff times may apply to different senders or categories of payment orders. If a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is received after the close of a funds transfer business day or after the appropriate cutoff time on a funds transfer business day, the receiving bank may treat the payment order or communication as received at the opening of the next funds transfer business day.

(2) If this chapter refers to an execution date or payment date or states a day on which a receiving bank is required to take any action, and the date or day does not fall on a funds transfer business day, the next day [which] that is a funds transfer business day is treated as the date or day stated, unless the contrary is stated in this chapter.

Section 137. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-204, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-204. Refund of payment and duty of customer to report with respect to unauthorized payment order.

(1) (a) If a receiving bank accepts a payment order issued in the name of its customer as sender which is (i) not authorized and not effective as the order of the customer under Section 70A-4a-202 [1], or (ii) not enforceable, in whole or in part, against the customer under Section 70A-4a-203, the bank shall refund any payment of the payment order received from the customer to the extent the bank is not entitled to enforce payment, and shall pay interest on the refundable amount calculated from the date the bank received payment to the date of the refund.

(b) However, the customer is not entitled to interest from the bank on the amount to be refunded if the customer fails to exercise ordinary care to determine that the order was not authorized by the customer and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not to exceed 90 days [from] after the date the customer received notification from the bank that the order was accepted or that the customer's account was debited with respect to the order.

(a) a payment order described in Subsection (2) is accepted;

(b) If the originator is not a bank and is not obliged to pay its payment order, the originator's bank has the right to recover.

Section 140. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-208, Utah Code Annotated 1963, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-208. Misdescription of intermediary bank or beneficiary's bank.

(1) This [section] subsection applies if to a payment order [identifies identifying an intermediary bank or beneficiary's bank by an identifying number [and]].

[a] the bank is also identified by name and the name and number identify different persons; or

[b] the number identifies a person that is not a bank:

[2] This subsection applies if the payment-order identifies the intermediary or beneficiary's bank only by number. (a) The receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank and [has no duty to] need not determine whether the number identifies a bank.

(b) The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

(3) (2) This subsection applies [if the] to a payment order [identifies the] identifying an intermediary or beneficiary's bank both by number and name and an identifying number if the name and number identify different persons.

(a) If the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank,[at the time] when it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank [has no duty to] need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person or whether the number refers to a bank. The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

(b) If the sender is not a bank and the receiving bank proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, had notice that the receiving bank might rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank even if it identifies a person different from the bank identified by name, the rights and obligations of the sender and the receiving bank are governed by Subsection (3)(2)(a), as though the sender were a bank. Proof of notice may be made by any admissible evidence[but in any event the]. The receiving bank satisfies the burden of proof if it proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, signed a writing stating the information to which the notice relates.

(c) Regardless of whether the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the name as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank, at the time it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank [has no duty to] need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person.
(d) If the receiving bank knows that the name and number identify different persons, reliance on either the name or the number in executing the sender’s payment order is a breach of the obligation stated in Subsection 70A-4a-302 (14a).

Section 141. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-209, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-209. Acceptance of payment order.

(1) Subject to Subsection (4), a receiving bank other than the beneficiary’s bank accepts a payment order when it executes the order.

(2) Subject to Subsections (3) and (4), a beneficiary’s bank accepts a payment order at the earliest of the following times:

(a) [the time] when the bank:

(i) pays the beneficiary as stated in Subsection 70A-4a-405 (1) or (2); or

(ii) notifies the beneficiary of receipt of the order or that the account of the beneficiary has been credited with respect to the order unless the notice indicates that the bank is rejecting the order or that funds with respect to the order may not be withdrawn or used until receipt of payment from the sender of the order;

(b) [the time] when the bank receives payment of the entire amount of the sender’s order pursuant to Subsection 70A-4a-403 (1)(a) or (b); or

(c) the opening of the next funds transfer business day of the bank following the payment date of the order if, at that time, the amount of the sender’s order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender or the bank has otherwise received full payment from the sender, unless the order was rejected before that time or is rejected within:

(i) one hour after that time; or

(ii) one hour after the opening of the next business day of the sender following the payment date if that time is later.

(d) If notice of rejection is received by the sender after the payment date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the payment date to the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not accepted, counting that day as an elapsed day.

(e) If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest payable is reduced accordingly.

(3) Acceptance of a payment order cannot occur before the order is received by the receiving bank. [No acceptance occurs] Acceptance does not occur under Subsection (2) if the beneficiary of the payment order does not have an account with the receiving bank, the account has been closed, or the receiving bank is not permitted by law to receive credits for the beneficiary’s account.

(4) (a) A payment order issued to the originator’s bank cannot be accepted until:

(i) the payment date if the bank is the beneficiary’s bank; or

(ii) the execution date if the bank is not the beneficiary’s bank.

(b) If the originator’s bank executes the originator’s payment order before the execution date or pays the beneficiary of the originator’s payment order before the payment date and the payment order is subsequently canceled pursuant to Subsection 70A-4a-211 (2), the bank may recover from the beneficiary any payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

Section 142. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-210, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-210. Rejection of payment order.

(1) A payment order is rejected by the receiving bank by a notice of rejection transmitted to the sender [by] oral, written, or electronic communication orally, electronically, or in writing. Notice of rejection need not use any particular words and is sufficient if it indicates that the receiving bank is rejecting the order or will not execute or pay, or otherwise act to carry out the order. Rejection is effective when the notice is given if transmission is by a means that is reasonable in the circumstances. If notice of rejection is given by a means that is not commercially reasonable, rejection is effective when the notice is received. If an agreement of the sender and receiving bank establishes the means to be used to reject a payment order:

(a) any means complying with the agreement is commercially reasonable; and

(b) any means not complying is not commercially reasonable unless no significant delay in receipt of the notice resulted from the use of the noncomplying means.

(2) This subsection applies if a receiving bank other than the beneficiary’s bank fails to execute a payment order notwithstanding that on the execution date despite the existence on the execution date of a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender [has a withdrawable credit balance] sufficient to cover the order. If the sender does not receive notice of rejection of the order on the execution date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the execution date to the earlier of the day the order is canceled pursuant to Section 70A-4a-211 or the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not executed, counting [that] the final day of the period as an elapsed day. If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest is reduced accordingly.
If a receiving bank suspends payments, all unaccepted payment orders issued to the bank are deemed rejected at the time the bank suspends payments.

Acceptance of a payment order precludes a later rejection of the order. Rejection of a payment order precludes a later acceptance of the order.

Section 143. Section Amended.
Section 70A-4a-211, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-211. Cancellation and amendment of payment order.

(1) A communication of the sender of a payment order canceling or amending the order may be transmitted to the receiving bank orally, electronically, or in writing[; or electronically]. If a security procedure is in effect between the sender and the receiving bank, the communication is not effective to cancel or amend the order unless the communication is verified pursuant to the security procedure or the bank agrees to the cancellation or amendment.

(2) Subject to Subsection (1), a communication by the sender canceling or amending a payment order is effective to cancel or amend the order if notice of the communication is received at a time and in a manner affording the receiving bank a reasonable opportunity to act on the communication before the bank accepts the payment order.

(3) After a payment order has been accepted, cancellation or amendment of the order is not effective unless the receiving bank agrees or a funds transfer system rule allows cancellation or amendment without agreement of the bank:

(a) With respect to a payment order accepted by a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless a conforming cancellation or amendment of the payment order issued by the receiving bank is also made.

(b) With respect to a payment order accepted by the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless the order was issued in execution of an unauthorized payment order, or because of a mistake by a sender in the funds transfer which resulted in the issuance of a payment order:

(i) that is a duplicate of a payment order previously issued by the sender;

(ii) that orders payment to a beneficiary not entitled to receive payment from the originator; or

(iii) that orders payment in an amount greater than the amount the beneficiary was entitled to receive from the originator. If the payment order is canceled or amended, the beneficiary's bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary any amount paid to the beneficiary to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(4) An unaccepted payment order is canceled by operation of law at the close of the fifth funds transfer business day of the receiving bank after the execution date or payment date of the order.

(5) A canceled payment order cannot be accepted. If an accepted payment order is canceled, the acceptance is nullified and no person has any right or obligation based on the acceptance. Amendment of a payment order is deemed to be cancellation of the original order at the time of amendment and issuance of a new payment order in the amended form at the same time.

(6) Unless otherwise provided in an agreement of the parties or in a funds transfer system rule, if the receiving bank, after accepting a payment order, agrees to cancellation or amendment of the order by the sender or is bound by a funds transfer system rule allowing cancellation or amendment without the bank's agreement, the sender, whether or not cancellation or amendment is effective, is (obliged) liable to (compensate) the bank for any loss and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, incurred by the bank as a result of the cancellation or amendment or attempted cancellation or amendment.

(7) A payment order is not revoked by death or legal incapacity of the sender unless the receiving bank [has knowledge] knows of the death or of an adjudication of incapacity by a court of competent jurisdiction and has reasonable opportunity to act before acceptance of the order.

(8) A funds transfer system rule is not effective to the extent it conflicts with Subsection (3)(b).

Section 144. Section Amended.
Section 70A-4a-212, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-212. Liability and duty of receiving bank regarding unaccepted payment order.

If a receiving bank fails to accept a payment order that it is obliged by express agreement to accept, the bank [may-be-held] is liable for breach of the agreement to the extent as provided in the agreement or in this chapter, but does not otherwise have any duty to accept a payment order [and] or, before acceptance, to take any action, or refrain from taking action, with respect to the order except as provided in this chapter or by express agreement. Liability based on acceptance arises only when acceptance occurs as stated in Section 70A-4a-207. 70A-4a-209 and liability is limited to that provided in this chapter. A receiving bank is not the agent of the sender or beneficiary of the payment order it accepts, or of any other party to the funds transfer, and the bank owes no duty to any party to the funds transfer except as provided in this chapter or by express agreement.

Section 145. Section Amended.
Section 70A-4a-302, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-302. Obligations of receiving bank in execution of payment order.
(1) [This subsection is subject to Subsections (2) through (14) if a] Except as provided in Subsections (b) through (d), if the receiving bank accepts a payment order pursuant to Subsection 70A-4a-209(1), the bank has the following obligations in executing the order:

(a) The receiving bank is obliged to issue, on the execution date, a payment order complying with the order:

(i) the executing bank is instructed to execute the sender’s order in accordance with Subsection 70A-4a-402(1);

(ii) the means by which payment orders are to be transmitted in the funds transfer is stated in the instruction; and

(iii) the receiving bank exercises ordinary care in the selection of the intermediary bank.

(b) If the sender’s instruction states a payment date or as soon thereafter as is feasible.

(c) If a sender’s instruction states a payment date, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order in an amount greater than the amount of the sender’s order for the purpose of obtaining payment of the amount of the sender’s order in accordance with Subsection 70A-4a-402(3) if that subsection is otherwise satisfied. The bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the erroneous order the excess payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(2) (a) Unless otherwise instructed, a receiving bank executing a payment order may:

(i) use any funds transfer system if use of that system is reasonable in the circumstances; and

(ii) issue a payment order to the beneficiary’s bank or to an intermediary bank through which a payment of the sender is to be carried out by the most expeditious means, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order by the most expeditious available means, and to instruct any intermediary bank accordingly. If the originator’s bank issues a payment order to an intermediary bank, the originator’s bank is obliged to instruct the intermediary bank according to the instruction of the originator. [Any] An intermediary bank in the funds transfer is similarly bound by an instruction given to it by the sender of the payment order that it accepts.

(b) If the sender’s instruction states that the funds transfer is to be carried out telephonically or by wire transfer or otherwise indicates that the funds transfer is to be carried out by the most expeditious means, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order by the most expeditious available means, and to instruct any intermediary bank accordingly. If a sender’s instruction states a payment date, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order at a time and by means reasonably necessary to allow payment to the beneficiary on the payment date or as soon thereafter as is feasible.

(3) Unless Subsection (1)(b) applies or the receiving bank is otherwise instructed, the bank may not instruct a subsequent receiving bank to obtain payment of its charges in the same manner.

Section 146. Section Amended.

Section 70A-4a-303, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-303. Erroneous execution of payment order.

(1) (a) A receiving bank that executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order in an amount greater than the amount of the sender’s order, or (ii) issues a payment order in execution of the sender’s order and then issues a duplicate order, is entitled to payment of the amount of the sender’s order in accordance with Subsection 70A-4a-402(3) if that subsection is otherwise satisfied. The bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the erroneous order the excess payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(b) If the error is not corrected, the issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to receive or retain payment from the sender of the order it accepted only to the extent of the amount of the erroneous order. This subsection does not apply if the receiving bank executes the sender’s payment order by issuing a payment order in an amount less than the amount of the sender’s order for the purpose of obtaining payment of its charges for services and expenses pursuant to [Subsection 70A-4a-302(4)] instruction of the sender.

(3) If a receiving bank executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order to a beneficiary different from the beneficiary of the sender’s order and the funds transfer is completed on the basis of that error, the sender of the payment order that was erroneously executed and all previous senders in the funds transfer are not obliged to pay the payment orders they issued. The issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the order the payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.
Section 147. Section Amended.
Section 70A-4a-304, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-304. Duty of sender to report erroneously executed payment order.
If the sender of a payment order that is erroneously executed as stated in Section 70A-4a-303 receives notification from the receiving bank that the order was executed or that the sender's account was debited with respect to the order, the sender has a duty to exercise ordinary care to determine, on the basis of information available to the sender, that the order was erroneously executed and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not to exceed 90 days after the notification from the bank was received by the sender. If the sender fails to perform that duty, the bank is not obliged to pay interest on any amount that is refundable to the sender under Subsection 70A-4a-402 (4) for the period before the bank learns of the execution error. The bank is not entitled to any recovery for the period before the bank learns of the execution error. The bank is not entitled to any recovery for the period before the bank learns of the execution error.

Section 148. Section Amended.
Section 70A-4a-305, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-4a-305. Liability for late or improper execution or failure to execute payment order.

(1) If a funds transfer is completed but execution of a payment order by the receiving bank in breach of Section 70A-4a-302 results in delay in payment to the beneficiary, the bank is obliged to pay interest to either the originator or the beneficiary of the funds transfer for the period of delay caused by the improper execution. Except as provided in Subsection (3), additional damages are not recoverable.

(2) (a) If execution of a payment order by a receiving bank in breach of Section 70A-4a-302 results in (i) noncompletion of the funds transfer, (ii) failure to use an intermediary bank designated by the originator, or (iii) issuance of a payment order that does not comply with the terms of the payment order of the originator, the bank is liable to the originator for its expenses in the funds transfer and for incidental expenses and interest losses, to the extent not covered by Subsection (1), resulting from the improper execution.

(b) Except as provided in Subsection (3), additional damages are not recoverable.

(3) In addition to the amounts payable under Subsections (1) and (2), damages, including consequential damages, are recoverable to the extent provided in an express written agreement of the receiving bank.

(i) the payment under Subsection (1) was made by a means prohibited by the contract of the beneficiary with respect to the obligation;

(ii) the beneficiary, within a reasonable time after receiving notice of receipt of the order by the beneficiary's bank, notified the originator of the beneficiary's refusal of the payment;

[+4] (7) Creditor process with respect to a payment by the originator to the beneficiary pursuant to a funds transfer may be served only on the beneficiary's bank with respect to the debt owed by that bank to the beneficiary. The applicable Federal Funds rate is the average of the Federal Funds rates published by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for each of the days for which interest is payable divided by 360. The Federal Funds rate for any day on which a published rate is not available is the same as the published rate for the next preceding day for which there is a published rate. (2) If the parties described in each of the subparagraphs of Subsection (1) have made an agreement selecting the law of a particular jurisdiction to govern rights and obligations between each other, the law of that jurisdiction governs those rights and obligations, whether or not the payment order or the funds transfer bears a reasonable relation to that jurisdiction.

(3) (a) A funds transfer system rule may select the law of a particular jurisdiction to govern:

(i) rights and obligations between participating banks with respect to payment orders transmitted or processed through the system; or

(ii) the rights and obligations of some or all parties to a funds transfer, any part of which is carried out by means of the system.
(b) A choice of law made pursuant to Subsection (a)(i) is binding on participating banks. A choice of law made pursuant to Subsection (a)(ii) is binding on the originator, other sender, or a receiving bank having notice that the funds transfer system might be used in the funds transfer and of the choice of law by the system when the originator, other sender, or receiving bank issued or accepted a payment order. The beneficiary of a funds transfer is bound by the choice of law if, at the time the funds transfer is initiated, the beneficiary has notice that the funds transfer system might be used in the funds transfer and of the choice of law by the system. The law of a jurisdiction selected pursuant to this subsection may govern whether or not that law bears a reasonable relation to the matter in issue.

(4) In the event of inconsistency between an agreement under Subsection (2) and a choice of law rule under Subsection (3), the agreement under Subsection (2) prevails.

(5) If a funds transfer is made by use of more than one funds transfer system and there is inconsistency between choice of law rules of the systems, the matter in issue is governed by the law of the selected jurisdiction (which) that has the most significant relationship to the matter in issue.

78-37-1.5. Environmental impairment to real property security interest — Remedies of lender.

(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Borrower" means:

(i) the trustor under a deed of trust, or a mortgagor under a mortgage, when the deed of trust or mortgage encumbers real property security and secures the performance of the trustor or mortgagor under a loan, extension of credit, guaranty, or other obligation; and

(ii) includes any successor-in-interest of the trustor or mortgagor to the real property security before the deed of trust or mortgage has been discharged, reconveyed, or foreclosed upon.

(b) "Environmentally impaired" means the estimated costs to clean up and remediate a past or present release of any hazardous matter into, onto, beneath, or from the real property security exceed 25% of the higher of the aggregate fair market value of all security for the loan or extension of credit at the time:

(i) of the making of the loan or extension of credit;

(ii) of the discovery of the release or threatened release by the secured lender; or

(iii) an action is brought under this section.

(iii) any successor-in-interest of the trustee, beneficiary, or mortgagee under the deed of trust or mortgage.

(2) Under this section:

(a) Estimated costs to clean up and remediate the contamination caused by the release include only those costs that would be incurred reasonably and in good faith.

(b) Fair market value is determined without giving consideration to the release, and is exclusive of the amount of all liens and encumbrances against the security that are senior in priority to the lien of the secured lender.

c) Any real property security for any loan or extension of credit secured by a single parcel of real property is considered environmentally impaired if the property is:

(i) included in or proposed for the National Priorities List under Section 42 U.S.C. 9605; or

(ii) any list identifying leaking underground storage tanks under 42 U.S.C. 6991. et seq.; or

(iii) in any list published by the Department of Environmental Quality under Section 19-6-311.

(3) A secured lender may elect between the following when the real property security is environmentally impaired and the borrower's obligations to the secured lender are in default:

(a) (i) waiver of its lien against:

(A) any parcel of real property security or any portion of that parcel that is environmentally impaired; and

(B) all or any portion of the fixtures and personal property attached to the parcels; and

(ii) exercise of:

(A) the rights and remedies of an unsecured creditor, including reduction of its claim against the borrower to judgment; and

1218
(B) any other rights and remedies permitted by law; or

(b) exercise of:

(i) the rights and remedies of a creditor secured by a deed of trust or mortgage and, if applicable, a lien against fixtures or personal property attached to the real property security; and

(ii) any other rights and remedies permitted by law, including the right to obtain a deficiency judgment.

(c) The provisions of this subsection take precedence over Section 78-37-1.

(4) (a) Subsection (3) is applicable only if in conjunction with and at the time of the making, renewal, or modification of the loan, extension of credit, guaranty, or other obligation secured by the real property security, the secured lender:

(i) did not know or have reason to know of a release of any hazardous matter into, onto, beneath, or from the real property security; and

(ii) undertook all appropriate inquiry into the previous ownership and uses of the real property security consistent with good commercial or customary practice in an effort to minimize liability.

(b) For the purposes of Subsection (4)(a)(ii), the court shall take into account:

(i) any specialized knowledge or experience of the secured lender;

(ii) the relationship of the purchase price to the value of the real property security if uncontaminated;

(iii) commonly known or reasonably ascertainable information about the real property security;

(iv) the obviousness of the presence or likely presence of contamination at the real property security; and

(v) the ability to detect the contamination by appropriate inspection.

(i) provide written notice of the default to the borrower; and

(ii) bring a valuation and confirmation action against the borrower in a court of competent jurisdiction and obtain an order establishing the value of the subject real property security.

(b) The complaint in an action under Subsection (5)(a) may include causes of action for a money judgment for all or part of the secured obligation, in which case the waiver of the secured lender's lien under Subsection (3)(a) may result only if a final money judgment is obtained against the borrower.

(6) (a) If a secured lender elects the rights and remedies under Subsection (3)(a) and the borrow-
The commission shall, in cooperation with the employer, consider for the purposes of this chapter the reasonableness of the claimant’s actions, and the extent to which the actions evidence a genuine continuing attachment to the labor market in reaching a determination of whether the ineligibility of a claimant is contrary to equity and good conscience.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a claimant who has left work voluntarily to accompany, follow, or join his or her spouse to or in a new locality does so without good cause for purposes of this subsection.

[(b)(4)] (2) (a) For the week in which the claimant was discharged for just cause or for an act or omission in connection with employment, not constituting a crime, which is deliberate, willful, or wanton and adverse to the employer’s rightful interest, if so found by the commission, and thereafter until the claimant has earned an amount equal to at least six times the claimant’s weekly benefit amount in bona fide covered employment.

[(b)(2)] (b) For the week in which he was discharged for dishonesty constituting a crime or any felony or class A misdemeanor in connection with his work as shown by the facts, together with his admission, or as shown by his conviction of that crime in a court of competent jurisdiction (for that crime) and for the 51 next following weeks (and for each week thereafter until the claimant has performed services in bona fide covered employment and earned wages for those services equal to at least six times the claimant’s weekly benefit amount. If by reason of his alleged dishonesty or crime in connection with his work, the individual is held or confined in a correctional institution and any determination of his eligibility shall be held in abeyance pending his release or conviction, wage credits shall be deleted from the claimant’s base period, and are not available for this or any subsequent claim for benefits.

[(e)(3)] (3) If the commission finds that the claimant has failed without good cause to properly apply for available suitable work, to accept a referral to suitable work offered by the employer office, or to accept suitable work offered by an employer or the employment office. The ineligibility continues until the claimant has performed services in bona fide covered employment and earned wages for the services in an amount equal to at least six times the claimant’s weekly benefit amount. A claimant shall not be denied eligibility for benefits for failure to apply, accept referral, or accept available suitable work under circumstances of such a nature that it would be contrary to equity and good conscience to impose a disqualification.

The commission shall consider the purposes of this chapter, the reasonableness of the claimant’s actions, and the extent to which the actions evidence a genuine continuing attachment to the labor market in reaching a determination of whether the ineligibility of a claimant is contrary to equity and good conscience.

[(4)] (a) In determining whether or not work is suitable for an individual, the commission shall consider the degree of risk involved to his health, safety, and morals, his physical fitness and prior training, his prior earnings and experience, his length of unemployment and prospects for securing local work in his customary occupation, the wages for similar work in the locality, and the distance of the available work from his residence.

Prior earnings shall be considered on the basis of all four quarters used in establishing eligibility and not just the earnings from the most recent employer. The commission shall be more prone to find work as suitable the longer the claimant has been unemployed and the less likely the prospects are to secure local work in his customary occupation.

(63) (b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, no work is suitable, and benefits shall not be denied under this chapter to any otherwise eligible individual for refusing to accept new work under any of the following conditions:

(i) if the position offered is vacant due directly to a strike, lockout, or other labor dispute;

(ii) if the wages, hours, or other conditions of the work offered are substantially less favorable to the individual than those prevailing for similar work in the locality; or

(iii) if as a condition of being employed the individual would be required to join a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization.

(64) (4) For any week in which the commission finds that his unemployment is due to a stoppage of work which exists because of a strike involving his grade, class, or group of workers at the factory or establishment at which he is or was last employed.

(64) (a) If the commission finds that a strike has been fomented by a worker of any employer, none of the workers of the grade, class, or group of workers of the individual who is found to be a party to the plan, or agreement to foment a strike, shall be eligible for benefits. However, if the commission finds that the strike is caused by the failure or refusal of any employer to conform to the provisions of any law of the state of Utah or of the United States pertaining to hours, wages, or other conditions of work, the strike shall not render the workers ineligible for benefits.

(65) (b) If the commission finds that the employer, his agent or representative has conspired, planned, or agreed with any of his workers, their agents or representatives to foment a strike, that strike shall not render the workers ineligible for benefits.

(65) (c) A worker may receive benefits if, subsequent to his unemployment because of a strike as defined in Subsection (4), he has obtained employment and has been paid wages of not less than the amount specified in Subsection 35-4-3 (d) and has worked as specified in Subsection 35-4-4 (f). During the existence of the stoppage of work due to this strike the wages of the worker used for the determination of his benefit rights shall not include any wages he earned from the employer involved in the strike.

[65] (e) (5) For each week with respect to which the claimant willfully made a false statement or representation or knowingly failed to report a material fact to obtain any benefit under the provisions of this chapter, and an additional 13 weeks for the first week the statement or representation was made or fact withheld and six weeks for each week thereafter; the additional weeks not to exceed 49 weeks. The additional period shall commence on the Sunday following the issuance of a determination finding the claimant in violation of this subsection. Each individual found in violation of this subsection shall repay to the commission the amount of benefits the claimant actually received and, as a civil penalty, an amount equal to the benefits the claimant received by direct reason of his fraud. The penalty amount shall be regarded as any other penalty under this chapter. These amounts shall be collectible by civil action or warrant in the manner provided in Subsections 35-4-17 (c) and (e). A claimant is ineligible for future benefits or waiting week credits, and any wage credits earned by the claimant shall be unavailable for purposes of paying benefits, if any amount owed under this subsection remains unpaid.

Determinations under this subsection shall be made only upon a sworn written admission of the claimant or after due notice and recorded hearing. If a claimant waives the recorded hearing, a determination shall be made based upon all the facts which the commission, exercising due diligence, has obtained. Determinations by the commission are appealable in the manner provided by this chapter for appeals from other benefit determinations.

(66) (6) For any week with respect to which or a part of which he has received or is seeking unemployment benefits under an unemployment compensation law of another state or the United States. If the appropriate agency of the other state or of the United States finally determines that he is not entitled to those unemployment benefits, this disqualification does not apply.

(67) (a) For any week in which he is registered at and attending an established school, or is on vacation during or between successive quarters or semesters of school attendance, unless the major portion of his wages for insured work during his base period was for services performed while attending school. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection, an otherwise eligible individual is not ineligible to receive benefits while attending a part-time training course. An otherwise eligible individual shall not be denied benefits for any week because he is in training with the approval of the commission, and that individual is not ineligible to receive benefits by reason of unavailability for work, failure to search for work, refusal of suitable work, or failure to apply for or to accept suitable work with respect to any week he is in training with the approval of the commission.

(67) (b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, no otherwise eligible individual shall be denied benefits for any week because he is in training approved under Section 236 (a)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974, nor shall he be denied benefits for leaving work to enter that training, provided the work left is not suitable employment, or because of the application to any such week in training of provisions in this law or any applicable federal unemployment compensation law relating to availability for work, active search for work, or refusal to accept work.

For purposes of this subsection, “suitable employment” means work of a substantially equal or higher skill level than the individual's past adversely affected employment, as defined for purposes of the Trade Act of 1974, and wages for that work at not less than 80% of the individual's average weekly wage as determined for the purposes of the Trade Act of 1974.

[(h)] (8) For any week with respect to which he is receiving, has received, or is entitled to receive remuneration in the form of:

[(i)] (a) wages in lieu of notice, or a dismissal or separation payment; or [(j)] (b) accrued vacation or terminal leave payment.

If the remuneration is less than the benefits which would otherwise be due, he is entitled to receive for that week, if otherwise eligible, benefits reduced as provided in Subsection 35-4-3 (c).

[(k)] (9) For any week in which the individual's benefits are based on service for an educational institution in an instructional, research, or principal administrative capacity and which begins during the period between two successive academic years, or during a similar period between two regular terms, whether or not successive, or during a period of paid sabbatical leave provided for in the individual's contract if the individual performs services in an educational institution while in the employ of an educational service agency. For purposes of this subsection, “educational service agency” means a governmental agency or entity established and operated exclusively for the purpose of providing the services described in Subsection (44) (9) (b) to an educational institution.

Benefits based on service in employment, defined in [Section] Subsections 35-4-22.3 (2) (d) and (e) are payable in the same amount, on the same terms and subject to the same conditions as compensation payable on the basis of other service subject to this chapter.

[(l)] (10) For any week which commences during the period between two successive sport seasons or similar periods if the individual performed any services, substantially all of which consists of participating in sports or athletic events or training or preparing to participate in the first of those seasons or similar periods and there is a reasonable assurance that individual will perform those services in the later of the seasons or similar periods.

[(m)] (11) (a) For any week in which the benefits are based upon services performed by an alien, unless the alien is an individual who has been lawfully admitted for permanent residence in the United States, the services were performed, was lawfully present under color of law at the time the services were performed, including an alien who is lawfully present in the United States as a result of the application of [Subsection 203(a) or Subsection 212 (d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

[(n)] (b) Any data or information required of individuals applying for benefits to determine whether benefits are not payable to them because of their alien status shall be uniformly required from all applicants for benefits.

[(o)] (c) In the case of an individual whose application for benefits would otherwise be approved, no determination that benefits to the individual are not payable because of his alien status shall be made except upon a preponderance of the evidence.

Section 2. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-6, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 255, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

35-4-6. Claims for benefits.
Claims for benefits shall be made and shall be determined by the commission or its authorized representatives in accordance with the rules adopted by the commission. Each employer shall post and maintain in places readily accessible to individuals in his service printed statements concerning benefit rights, claims for benefits, and such other matters relating to the administration of this chapter as the commission may prescribe. Each employer shall supply to these individuals copies of the printed statements or other materials relating to claims for benefits when and as the commission may prescribe. The printed statements and other materials shall be supplied by the commission to each employer without cost to the employer.

Continuing Jurisdiction.

Jurisdiction over benefits shall be continuous. Upon its own initiative or upon application of any party affected, the commission or its authorized representatives may on the basis of change in conditions or because of a mistake as to facts, review a decision allowing or disallowing in whole or in part a claim for benefits. The review shall be conducted in accordance with the rules adopted by the commission and may result in a new decision which may award, terminate, continue, increase, or decrease benefits, or may result in a referral of the claim to an appeal tribunal. Notice of any redetermination shall be promptly given to the party applying for redetermination and to other parties entitled to notice of the original determination, in the manner prescribed in this section with respect to notice of an original determination. The new order shall be subject to review and appeal as provided in this section. A review may not be made after one year from the date of the original determination, except in cases of fraud or claimant fault, as provided in Subsection (d).

Notice of Determination of Claims.

The claimant or any other party entitled to notice of a determination as provided may file an appeal from the determination with an administrative law judge within ten days after the date of mailing of the notice to his last known address or, if the notice is not mailed, within ten days after the date of delivery of the notice.

Appeal — Notice.

Unless the appeal or referral is withdrawn with his permission, the administrative law judge, after affording the parties reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing, shall make findings and conclusions and on that basis affirm, modify, or reverse the determination. The administrative law judge shall first give notice of the pendency of an appeal to the commission, which may then be a party to the proceedings.

Copy of Decision.

The parties shall be promptly notified of the administrative law judge's decision and shall be furnished with a copy of the decision and the findings and conclusions in support of the decision. The decision is considered to be final unless, within ten (10) days after the date of mailing of notice, further appeal is initiated pursuant to the provisions of Section 35-4-10.

Repayment of Benefits

Fraudulently Received.

Any person who, by reason of his fraud, has received any sum as benefits under this chapter to which he was not entitled, shall repay the sum to the commission for the fund. If any person, by reason of his own fault, has received any sum as benefits under this chapter to which he was not entitled, he shall have the sum deducted from any future benefits payable to him, or both. In any case in which under this subsection a claimant is liable to repay to the commission any sum for the fund, the sum shall be collectible in the same manner as provided for contributions due under this chapter.

Overpayment of Benefits without Fault of Recipient.

If any person has received any sum as benefits under this chapter to which he was not entitled, and it has been found that he was without fault in the matter, he is not liable to repay the sum but shall have the sum deducted from any future benefits payable to him. The commission may waive recovery of the overpayment if it is shown to the satisfaction of the commission that the claimant has the inability to meet more than the basic needs of survival for an indefinite period lasting at least seven months.

Section 3. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-7.5, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 174, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

35-4-7.5. Nonprofit organizations — Contributions — Payments in lieu of contributions.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter for payments by employers, benefits paid to employees of nonprofit organizations, as described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code which is exempt from income tax under Section 501(a), shall be financed in accordance with the following provisions:

Any nonprofit organization which is, or becomes, subject to this chapter on or after January 1, 1972, shall pay contributions under the provisions of Section 35-4-7.2, unless it elects in accordance with this paragraph to pay to the commission for the unemployment fund an amount equal to the amount of regular benefits and of one-half of the extended benefits paid that is attributable to service in the employ of such nonprofit organization, to individuals for weeks of unemployment which begin during the effective period of [such] this election;

[10] (b) Any nonprofit organization which is or becomes subject to this chapter on or after January 1, 1972, may elect to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions for a period of not less than one contribution year beginning with the date on which the organization becomes subject to this chapter. The nonprofit organization shall file a written notice of its election with the commission not later than 30 days immediately following the date that the commission gives notice to the organization that it is subject to this chapter;

[10] (c) Any nonprofit organization which makes an election in accordance with Subsection [10] (b) shall continue to be liable for payments in lieu of contributions until it files with the commission a written notice of its termination of such election, not later than 30 days prior to the beginning of the contribution year for which [such] this termination shall first be effective;

[10] (d) Any nonprofit organization which has been paying contributions under this chapter for a period subsequent to January 1, 1972, may change to a reimbursable basis by filing with the commission, not later than 30 days prior to the beginning of any contribution year, a written notice of election to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions. [Such] This election [shall] is not [be] terminable by the organization for that year or the next year;

[10] (e) The commission may, for good cause, extend the period within which a notice of election or a notice of termination must be filed and may permit an election to be retroactive but not with respect to benefits paid prior to January 1, 1970; and

[10] (f) The commission, in accordance with its rules, shall notify each nonprofit organization of any determination which it may make of its status as an employer, of the effective date of any election which it makes, and of any termination of [such] this election. [Such] These determinations shall be subject to reconsideration, appeal, and review in accordance with the provisions of Section 35-4-10.

[10] (2) Payments in lieu of contributions shall be made in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph including either Subparagraph [10] (a) or Subparagraph [10] (b).

[10] (a) At the end of each calendar month, or at the end of any other period as determined by the commission, the commission shall require each nonprofit organization or group of such organizations which has elected to make payments in lieu of contributions for an amount equal to the full amount of regular benefits plus one-half of the amount of extended benefits paid during [such] this month or other prescribed period that is attributable to service in the employ of such organization.

[10] (b) Every nonprofit organization which has elected payments in lieu of contributions may request permission to make payments under one of the methods provided in this subparagraph. The method selected becomes effective upon approval by the commission. At the end of each calendar month, or at the end of any other period as determined by the commission, the commission shall bill each organization for an amount representing the organization's choice of the following:

[10] (A) for 1972, 0.1% of its total payroll for 1971;

[10] (B) for years after 1972, such percentage of its total payroll for the immediately preceding calendar year as the commission shall determine, based upon the average benefit costs attributable to service in the employ of nonprofit organizations during the preceding calendar year; or

[10] (C) for any organization which did not pay wages throughout the four calendar quarters of the preceding calendar year, such percentage of its payroll during [such] the year as the commission shall determine.

[10] (ii) At the end of each contribution year, the commission may modify the monthly or other period's percentage of payroll thereafter payable by the nonprofit organization in order to minimize excess or insufficient payments.

[10] (iii) (C) At the end of each contribution year, the commission shall determine whether the total of payments for [such] the year made by a nonprofit organization is less than, or in excess of, the total amount of regular benefits plus one-half of the amount of extended benefits paid to individuals during [such] the contribution year based on wages attributable to service in the employ of [such] the organization. Each nonprofit organization whose total payments for [such] the year are less than the amount so determined shall be liable for payment of the unpaid balance to the fund in accordance with Subparagraph [10] (b). If the total payments exceed the amount so determined for the contribution year, all or a part of the excess may, at the discretion of the commission, be refunded from the fund or retained in the fund as part of the payments which may be required for the next contribution year.

[10] (b) (a) Payment of any bill rendered under Subparagraph [10] (a) or Subparagraph [10] (b) shall be made not later than 30 days after [such] the bill was mailed to the last known address of the nonprofit organization or was otherwise delivered to it, unless there has been an application for review and redetermination in accordance with Subparagraph [10] (e).

[10] (d) Payments made by any nonprofit organization under the provisions of this subsection shall not be deducted or deductible, in whole or in part, from the remuneration of individuals in the employ of the organization.

[10] (e) The amount due specified in any bill from the commission shall be conclusive on the organization unless, not later than 15 days after the bill was mailed to its last known address or otherwise delivered to it, the organization files an application for redetermination by the commission or an appeal to the board of review, setting forth the grounds for [such] the application or appeal. The commission shall promptly review and reconsider the amount due specified in the bill and shall thereafter issue a redetermination in any case in which [such] the application for redetermination has been filed. Any such redetermination shall be conclusive on the organization unless, not later than 10 days after the redetermination was mailed to its last known address or otherwise delivered to it, the organization files an appeal to the board of review, setting forth the grounds for the appeal. Proceedings on appeal to the board of review from the amount of a bill rendered under this subsection or a redetermination of [such] the amount shall be in accordance with the provisions of Subsection 35-4-10 (f), and the decision of the board of review shall be subject to the provisions of Subsection 35-4-10 (f) (9).

(6) (f) Past due payments of amounts in lieu of contributions shall be subject to the same interest and penalties that, under Subsection 35-4-17 (a), attach to past due contributions.

(6) (g)(1) If any nonprofit organization is delinquent in making payments in lieu of contributions as required under Subsection (6) (2), the commission may terminate [such] the organization's election to make payment in lieu of contributions as of the beginning of the next contribution year, and [such] this termination shall be effective for that and the next contribution year.

(6) (h) In the discretion of the commission, any nonprofit organization that elects to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions shall be required, within 30 days after the effective date of its election, to deposit money with the commission. The amount of [such] the deposit shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph.

(6) (i) (a) The amount of the deposit required by this paragraph shall be equal to 1% of the organization's total wages paid for employment as defined in Section 35-4-22.3 for the four calendar quarters immediately preceding the effective date of the election, or the anniversary of the effective date of election, whichever date shall be most recent and applicable. If the nonprofit organization did not pay wages in each of [such] these four calendar quarters, the amount of the deposit shall be as determined by the commission.

(6) (b) Any deposit of money in accordance with this paragraph shall be retained by the commission in an escrow account until liability under the election is terminated, at which time it shall be returned to the organization, less any deductions as hereinafter provided in this section. The commission may deduct from the money deposited under this paragraph by a nonprofit organization to the extent necessary to satisfy any due and unpaid payments in lieu of contributions and any applicable interest and penalties provided for in Subsection (6) (f) (2) (f). The commission shall require the organization within 30 days following any deduction from a money deposit under the provisions of this subsection to deposit sufficient additional money to make whole the organization's deposit at the prior level. The commission may, at any time, review the adequacy of the deposit made by any organization. If, as a result of [such] this review, the commission determines that an adjustment is necessary, it shall require the organization to make additional deposit within 30 days of written notice of the commission's determination or shall return to it [such] any portion of the deposit as the commission no longer considers necessary, as deemed appropriate.

(6) (j) (c) If any nonprofit organization fails to make a deposit, or to increase or make whole the amount of a previously made deposit, as provided under this paragraph, the commission may terminate [such] the organization's election to make payments in lieu of contributions and such termination shall continue for not less than the four-consecutive-calendar-quarter period beginning with the quarter in which such termination becomes effective. However, the commission may extend for good cause the applicable filing, deposit, or adjustment period by not more than 60 days.

(6) (k) (5) Each employer liable for payments in lieu of contributions shall pay to the commission for the fund the amount of regular benefits plus the amount of one-half of extended benefits paid that are attributable to service in the employ of [such] the employer. If benefits paid to an individual are based on wages paid by more than one employer and one or more of [such] these employers are liable for payments in lieu of contributions, the amount payable to the fund by each employer liable for such payments shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of Subsection (6) (f) (5) or (6) (b) (5x) or (b).

(6) (l) (a) If benefits paid to an individual are based on wages paid by one or more employers who are liable for payments in lieu of contributions and on wages paid by one or more employers who are liable for contributions, the amount of benefits payable by each employer that is liable for payments in lieu of contributions shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total benefits paid to the individual as the total base-period wages paid to the individual by each such employer bear to the total base-period wages paid to the individual by all of his base-period employers.

(6) (m) (b) If benefits paid to an individual are based on wages paid by two or more employers who are liable for payments in lieu of contributions, the amount of benefits payable by each such employer shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the total benefits paid to the individual as the total base-period wages paid to the individual by [such] the employer bear to the total base-period wages paid to the individual by all of his base-period employers.

(6) (n) (b) If two or more employers who have become liable for payments in lieu of contributions, in accordance with the provisions of this section and [Section] Subsection 35-4-22.3 (2)(d), may file a joint application to the commission for the establishment of a group account for the purpose of sharing the cost of benefits paid that are attributable to service in the employ of [such] these employers. Each such application shall identify and authorize a group representative to act as the group's agent for the purpose of this paragraph. Upon approval of the application, the commission shall establish a group account for [such] these employers effective as of the beginning of the calendar period in which it re-

Section 4. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-9, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 174, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:
35-4-8. Unemployment compensation fund — Administration — Contents — Treasurer and custodian — Separate accounts — Use of money requisitioned — Advances under Social Security Act.

(a) There is hereby established as a special fund, separate and apart from all public moneys or funds of this state, an unemployment compensation fund, which shall be administered by the commischapter. This fund shall consist of the following moneys, all of which shall be mingled and undivided:

(a) all contributions collected under this chapter, less refunds of contributions made from the clearing account under [Section] Subsection 35-4-7.3(5); [1983]

(b) interest earned upon any moneys in the fund;
[1983]

(c) property or securities acquired through the use of moneys belonging to the fund; [1983]

(d) all earnings of the property or securities; [1983]

(e) all money credited to this state's account in the unemployment trust fund under section 903 of the Social Security Act as amended; and [1983]

(f) all other moneys received for the fund from any other source. [All moneys in the fund shall be mingled and undivided.]
[1983]

(2) The state treasurer shall be the treasurer and custodian of the fund, and shall administer this fund in accordance with the directions of the commission and shall pay all warrants drawn upon it by the commission or its duly authorized agent in accordance with such rules as the commission shall prescribe. The commission shall maintain within the fund three separate accounts:

(a) a clearing account; [1983] (b) an unemployment trust fund account; and [1983] (c) a benefit account. All moneys payable to the fund, upon receipt by the commission, shall be immediately deposited in the clearing account. All moneys in the clearing account after clearance shall, except as herein otherwise provided in this section, be deposited immediately with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America to the credit of the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund, established and maintained under Section 904 of the Social Security Act, as amended, any provisions of law in this state relating to the deposit, administration, release, or disbursement of moneys in the possession or custody of this state to the contrary notwithstanding. Refunds of contributions payable under [Sections] Subsections 35-4-7.3(5) and 35-4-22.4(2) may be paid from the clearing account or the benefit account. The benefit account shall consist of all moneys requisitioned from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund in the United States treasury. Moneys in the clearing and benefit accounts may be deposited in any depository bank in which general funds of this state may be deposited, but no public deposit insurance charge or premium shall be paid out of the fund. Moenies in the clearing and benefit accounts shall not be mingled with other state funds, but shall be maintained in separate accounts on the books of the depository bank. The money shall be secured by the depository bank to the same extent and in the same manner as required by the general depository law of this state. Collateral pledged for this purpose shall be kept separate and distinct from any collateral pledged to secure other funds of the state. The state treasurer shall be liable on his official bond for the faithful performance of his duties in connection with the unemployment compensation fund provided for under this chapter. The liability on the official bond shall be effective immediately upon the enactment of this provision, and that liability shall exist in addition to the liability upon any separate bond existing on the effective date of this provision, or which may be given in the future.

All sums recovered for losses sustained by the fund shall be deposited therein.

[1983] (a) Moneys requisitioned from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund shall, except as herein otherwise set forth in this section, be used exclusively for the payment of benefits for refunds of contributions under [Sections] Subsections 35-4-7.3(5) and 35-4-22.4(2). The commission shall have time to time requisition from the unemployment trust fund such amounts, not exceeding the amounts standing to this state's account therein in the fund, as it deems necessary for the payment of those benefits and refunds for a reasonable future period. Upon receipt thereof the treasurer shall deposit the moneys in the benefit account and shall pay benefits and refunds from the account by means of warrants issued by the commission or its duly authorized agent in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission. Expenditures of these moneys in the benefit account and refunds from the clearing account shall not be subject to any provisions of law requiring specific appropriations or other formal release by state officers of money in their custody.

(iib) Moneys in this state's account in the unemployment trust fund which were collected under the "Federal Unemployment Tax Act" and credited to this state under Section 903 of the Social Security Act, as amended, may be requisitioned from this state's account and used in the payment of expenses incurred by the commission for the administration of this state's unemployment law and public employment offices, if the expenses are incurred and the withdrawals are made only after and under a specific appropriation of the Legislature which specifies: (i) The purposes and amounts, and (ii) that the moneys may not be obligated after the two-year period which began on the date of the enactment of the appropriation law, and (iii) that the total amount which may be used during a fiscal year shall not exceed the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts credited to this state's account under section 903 of the Social Security Act, as amended, during the fiscal year and the 34 preceding fiscal years, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts used by this state for administration during the same 35 fiscal years. For the purpose of Subsection (b)(iii), amounts used during any fiscal year shall be charged against equivalent amounts which were first credited and which have not previously been so charged. No amount used during any fiscal year may be charged against any amount credited during a fiscal year earlier than the 94th preceding fiscal year. Except as appropriated and used for administrative expenses, as hereinabove provided in this section, moneys transferred to this state under Section 903 of the Social Security Act as amended, may be used only for the payment of benefits. Any moneys used for the payment of benefits may be restored for appropriation and use for administrative expenses, upon request of the governor, under Section 908(c) of the Social Security Act. Money appropriated as provided herein in this section for the payment of expenses of administration shall be requisitioned as needed for the payment of obligations incurred under the appropriation and, upon requisition, shall be deposited in the employment security administration fund from which the payments shall be made. The commission shall maintain a separate record of the deposit, obligation, expenditure, and return of funds deposited. Money deposited shall, until expended, remain a part of the unemployment fund and, if not expended, shall be returned promptly to the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund. The moneys available by reason of such legislative appropriation shall not be expended or available for expenditure in any manner which would permit their substitution for, or a corresponding reduction in, federal funds which would in the absence of the moneys be available to finance expenditures for the administration of the Employment Security Act.

(iic) Any balance of moneys requisitioned from the unemployment trust fund which remains unclaimed or unpaid in the benefit account after the expiration of the period for which the sums were requisitioned shall either be deducted from estimates for, and may be utilized for the payment of, benefits and refunds during succeeding periods, or in the discretion of the commission, shall be deposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America to the credit of this state's account in the unemployment trust fund, as provided in Subsection (iib)(2).

(f) The provisions of Subsections (a), (b) and (e)(1, 2, and 3), to the extent that they relate to the unemployment trust fund, shall be operative only so long as the unemployment trust fund continues to exist and so long as the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America continues to maintain for this state a separate book account of all funds deposited therein by the state for benefit purposes, together with this state's proportionate share of the earnings of the unemployment trust fund, from which no other state is permitted to make withdrawals. If and when the unemployment trust fund ceases to exist, or the separate book account is no longer maintained, all moneys belonging to the unemployment compensation fund of this state shall be administered by the commission as a trust fund for the purpose of paying benefits under this [aet] chapter, and the commission shall have authority to hold, invest, transfer, sell, deposit, and release the money, and any properties, securities, or earnings acquired as an incident to the administration. The moneys shall be invested in the following readily marketable classes of securities; bonds or other interest-bearing obligations of the United States of America, of this state, or of any county, city, town, or school district of this state, at current market prices for the bonds. The investment shall at all times be so made that all the assets of the fund shall always be readily convertible into cash when needed for the payment of benefits.

Section 5. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-10, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 255, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

35-4-10. Review of decision or determination — Administrative law judge — Board of review — Effect of actions before unemployment insurance appeals tribunal — Witness fees — Judicial review — Court of Appeals — Exclusive procedure.

(a) (1) A review of a decision or determination involving contribution liability or applications for refund shall be made by the commission or its authorized representative in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. The decision of the representative conducting the review is considered the decision of the commission. The commission or its authorized representative conducting the review may refer the matter to an administrative law judge, may decide the application for review on the basis of any facts and information as may be obtained, or may, in its discretion, hear argument or hold a hearing to secure further facts. After the review, notice of the decision shall be given to the employing unit. The decision made pursuant to the review is the final decision of the commission unless, within ten days after the date of notification or mailing of the decision, a further appeal is initiated under the provisions of this section.

[(b)(2)] Within ten days after the mailing or personal delivery of a notice of a determination or decision rendered following a review under Subsection [(a)(1)], an employing unit may appeal to an administrative law judge by filing a notice of appeal. The administrative law judge shall give notice of the pendency of the appeal to the commission, which is then a party to the proceedings. After affording the parties reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing, he shall make findings and conclusions and on that basis affirm, modify, or reverse the determination. The parties shall be promptly notified of the administrative law judge’s decision and furnished a copy of the decision and findings. The decision is the final decision of the commission unless within [ten] 30 days after the date of mailing of notice to the parties last known addresses or in the absence of a mailing within ten days after the delivery of notice, further appeal is initiated under the provisions of this section.

[(e)(3)(a)] Each appeal referee employed by the Department of Employment Security shall be known as an administrative law judge.

[(g)(b)] The commission shall appoint one or more impartial administrative law judges consisting in each case of a salaried administrative law judge selected in accordance with Subsection 35-4-11(4)(d) to hear and decide referrals or appeals relating to claims for benefits or to decisions affecting employing units referred to. No administrative law judge may participate in any case in which he is an interested party. Each decision of an administrative law judge shall represent his independent judgment.

[(h)(4)(a)] The governor shall appoint a review board consisting of one or more panels, composed of three impartial members to hear and decide referrals and appeals from the decision of an administrative law judge. The members shall be: one industrial commissioner, one member who is representative of employers, and one member who is representative of employees. In addition, the governor shall appoint two alternates who are representative of the employers and two alternates who are representative of employees. The alternates shall serve in the absence of the regular member or members.

The commissioner shall be the chairman, and all records on appeals shall be maintained in the office of the commission. Those records to include an appeal docket showing the receipt and disposition of the appeals on review. In the absence of a regular member the chairman shall designate an alternate. Every case shall be decided by a full three-member board. The members and the alternates shall be appointed for two-year terms commencing July 1 and ending June 30. The members of the board other than the commissioner shall be paid a per diem for each day of attendance necessary, and expenses incurred, in the performance of their duties, as provided by law. At the board’s request the legal counsel of the commission shall act as an impartial aid to the board in outlining the facts and the issues.
(b) Any findings of fact or law, judgment, conclusion, or final order made by an unemployment insurance hearing officer, administrative law judge, or any person with the authority to make findings of fact or law in any action or proceeding before the unemployment insurance appeals tribunal, is not conclusive or binding in any separate or subsequent action or proceeding, between an individual and his present or prior employer, brought before an arbitrator, court, or judge of this state or the United States, regardless of whether the prior action was between the same or related parties or involved the same facts.

(7) Witnesses subpoenaed under this section are allowed fees as provided by law for witnesses in the district court of the state. The fees are part of the expense of administering this (set) chapter.

(8) Any decision in the absence of an appeal as provided becomes final (ten days after the date of notification or mailing) upon issuance and judicial review may be permitted only after any party claiming to be aggrieved has exhausted his remedies before the commission and board of review as provided by this chapter. The commission is a party to any judicial action involving any decisions and shall be represented in the judicial action by any qualified attorney employed by the commission and designated by it for that purpose or at the commission’s request by the attorney general.

(9) Within (ten) 30 days after the decision of the board of review has become final, any aggrieved party may secure judicial review by commencing an action in the court of appeals against the board of review for the review of its decision, in which action any other party to the proceeding before the board of review shall be made a defendant. In that action a petition, which shall state the grounds upon which a review is sought, shall be served upon a member of the board of review or upon that person the board of review designates. This service is considered completed service on all parties but there shall be left with the party served as many copies of the petition as there are defendants and the board of review shall mail one copy to each defendant. With its answer, the board of review shall certify and file with the court all documents and papers and a transcript of all testimony taken in the matter together with its findings of fact and decision. The board of review may also, in its discretion, certify to the court questions of law involved in any decision by it. In any judicial proceeding under this section, the findings of the commission and the board of review as to the facts, if supported by evidence, are conclusive and the jurisdiction of the court is confined to questions of law. It is not necessary in any judicial proceeding under this section to enter exceptions to the rulings of the commission or the board of review and no bond is required for entering the appeal. Upon final determination of the judicial proceeding, the commission shall enter an order in accordance with the determination. In no event may a petition for judicial review act as a supersedeas.

(10) The procedure provided for hearings and decisions with respect to any decision or determination of the commission affecting claimants or employing units under this (set) chapter is the sole and exclusive procedure notwithstanding any other provision of this (set) chapter.

Section 6. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-15, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 174, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

25-4-15. Special administrative expense fund.

There is (hereby) created in the state treasury a special fund to be known as the special administrative expense fund. All interest and penalties collected under this (set) chapter, less refunds made under [Section] Subsection 35-4-7.3(5), shall be paid into this fund from the clearing account of the fund at the end of each calendar month. Any voluntary contributions tendered as a contribution to this fund and any other moneys received for that purpose shall be paid into this fund. The moneys shall not be expended or available for expenditure in any manner which would permit their substitution for, or corresponding reduction in, federal funds which would in the absence of those moneys be available to finance expenditures for the administration of the Employment Security Act. Nothing in this section shall prevent those moneys from being used as a revolving fund to cover expenditures, necessary and proper under the act, for which federal funds have been duly requested but not yet received subject to the charging of those expenditures against the fund when received. The moneys in this fund shall be deposited, administered, and dispersed in accordance with the directions of the Legislature. The moneys shall be used for the payment of costs of administration which are found not to have been properly and validly chargeable against federal grants or other funds received for or in the employment security administration fund, and may be used for the payment of refunds of interest and penalties under [Section] Subsection 35-4-7.3(5). The moneys shall be available either to satisfy the obligations incurred by the commission directly or by requesting the state treasurer to transfer the required amounts from the special administrative expense fund to the employment security administration fund. The moneys in this fund are hereby specifically made available to replace within a reasonable time any moneys received by this state under Section 302 of the Federal Social Security Act as amended, which because of any action of contingency have been lost or have been expended for purposes other than or in amounts in excess of those necessary for the proper administration of the Employment Security Act. The moneys in this fund shall be continuously available to the commission for expenditure in accordance with this section and shall not lapse at any time or be transferred to any other fund except as directed by the Legislature. Section 7. Section Amended.

Section 35-4-17, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapters 81 and 92, Laws of Utah 1987, is amended to read:

35-4-17. Collection of contributions — Unpaid contributions to bear interest.

(a) (1) Contributions unpaid on the date on which they are due and payable, as prescribed by the commission, shall bear interest at the rate of 1% per month from and after that date until payment plus accrued interest is received by the commission.

(2) Contribution reports not made and filed by the date on which they are due as prescribed by the commission shall be subject to a penalty to be assessed and collected in the same manner as contributions due hereunder equal to 5% of the contribution due if the failure to file on time was not more than 15 days, with an additional 1% for each additional 15 days or fraction thereof during which the failure continued, but not to exceed 25% in the aggregate and not less than $25 with respect to each reporting period. If a report is filed after such time and it is shown to the satisfaction of the commission or its authorized representative that the failure to file was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, no such addition shall be made to the contribution.

(3) If contributions are unpaid after ten days from the date of the mailing or personal delivery by the commission or its authorized representative, of a written demand for payment, there shall attach to the contribution, to be assessed and collected in the same manner as contributions due hereunder, a penalty equal to 5% of the contribution due. No such penalty shall attach if within ten days after the mailing or personal delivery, arrangements for payment have been made with the commission, or its authorized representative, and payment is made in accordance with those arrangements.

(4) Benefit overpayments, contributions, interest, and penalties, uncollected three years after they become due, may be charged as uncollectable and removed from the records of the commission if no assets belonging to the liable person and subject to attachment can be found, and in the opinion of the commission there is no likelihood of collection at a future date. This does not apply to benefit overpayments under Subsection 35-4-5 (2)(e) (5).

(b) Interest and penalties collected in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be paid into the Special Administrative Expense Fund.

(c) Action required for the collection of sums due under this chapter is subject to the applicable limitations of actions under Title 78, Chapter 12.

(d) If an employer fails to file a report when prescribed by the commission for the purpose of determining the amount of his contribution due under this chapter, or if the report when filed is incorrect or insufficient or is not satisfactory to the commission, the commission or its authorized representative may determine the amount of wages paid for employment during the period or periods with respect to which the reports were or should have been made and the amount of contribution due from the employer on the basis of such information as it may be able to obtain. The commission shall give written notice of the determination to the employer. The determination is considered correct unless the employer shall, within ten days after mailing or personal delivery of notice of the determination, apply to the commission for a review of the determination as provided in Section 35-4-10, or unless the commission or its authorized representative of its own motion shall review the determination. The amount of contribution so determined shall be subject to penalties and interest as provided in Subsection (a).

(e) If, after due notice, any employer defaults in any payment of contributions, interest, or penalties thereon, the amount due shall be collectible by civil action in the name of the commission, and the employer adjudged in default shall pay the costs of the action. Civil actions brought under this section to collect contributions, interest or penalties from an employer shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date and shall be entitled to preference upon the calendar of the court over all other civil actions except petitions for judicial review under this chapter and cases arising under the workers' compensation law of this state.

(f) In the event of any distribution of an employer's assets under an order of any court under the laws of this state, including any receivership, assignment for the purpose of deter-
The sheriff shall then proceed in the same manner as a judgment duly rendered have the force and effect of an execution against all filed. The amount of the warrant so docketed shall be collected by virtue thereof by time to be therein specified, not more than 60 days from the date of the warrant. Immediately upon receipt of the warrant in duplicate, the sheriff shall file the duplicate with the clerk of the district court in his county. The clerk shall enter in the judgment docket, in the column for judgment debtors, the name of the delinquent employer mentioned in the warrant, and in appropriate columns the amount of the contribution, penalties, interest, and costs, for which the warrant is issued and the date when the duplicate is filed. The amount of the warrant so docketed shall have the force and effect of an execution against all personal property of the delinquent employer and shall also become a lien upon the real property of the delinquent employer in the same manner and to the same extent as a judgment duly rendered by any district court and docketed in the office of the clerk. The sheriff shall then proceed in the same manner as is prescribed by law with respect to execution issued against property upon judgment of a court of record, and shall be entitled to the same fees for his services in executing the warrant, to be collected in the same manner.

(f) Contributions imposed by this chapter are a lien upon the property of any employer liable for the contribution herein required to be collected who shall sell out his business or stock of goods or shall quit business, if the employer fails to make a final report and payment on the date subsequent to the date of selling or quitting business on which they are due and payable as prescribed by the commission. His successor, successors, or assigns, if any, shall be required to withhold sufficient of the purchase money to cover the amount of the contributions and interest or penalties due and payable until such time as the former owner shall produce a receipt from the commission showing that they have been paid or a certificate stating that no amount is due. If the purchaser of a business or stock of goods fails to withhold sufficient purchase money as above provided, he shall be personally liable for the payment of the amount of the contributions required to be paid by the former owner, interest and penalties accrued and unpaid by the former owner, owners, or assignors.

(g) In the event that any employer is delinquent in the payment of any contribution, the commission may give notice of the amount of the delinquency by registered mail to all persons having in their possession or under their control, any credits or other personal property belonging to the employer, or owing any debts to the employer at the time of the receipt by them of the notice and thereafter any persons notified shall neither transfer nor make any other disposition of the credits, other personal property, or debts until the commission has consented to a transfer or disposition, or until 20 days after the receipt of the notice. All persons so notified must, within five days after receipt of the notice, advise the commission of any and all such credits, other personal property, or other debts in their possession, under their control or owing to them, as the case may be.

(h)(1) Each employer shall furnish the commission such information as is necessary for the proper administration of this chapter and shall include wage information for each employee, for each calendar quarter beginning October 1, 1984. The information shall be furnished at a time, in the form, and to those individuals as the commission may by rule require.

(2) Each employer shall furnish each individual worker who is separated that information as the commission may by rule require, and shall furnish within 48 hours of the receipt of a request from the commission a report of the earnings of any individual during such individual's base-period, such report to be on a form prescribed by the commission and containing such other information as is prescribed by the commission.

(3) For each failure by an employer to conform to the provisions of Subsection (h)(1) or (2) the commission shall, unless good cause is shown to the satisfaction of the commission for the failure, assess a $50 penalty to be collected in the same manner as contributions due under this chapter.

(i) If any person liable to pay any contribution or benefit overpayment imposed by the Employment Security Act neglects or refuses to pay the same after demand, the amount, including any interest, additional amount, addition to contributions, or assessable penalty, together with any additional accruable costs, shall be a lien in favor of the Department of Employment Security of the Industrial Commission upon all property and rights to property, whether real or personal belonging to the person.

(j)(1) The lien imposed by Subsection (i) arises at the time of the assessment, as defined in the department rules, is made and continues until the liability, whether the amount so assessed, or a judgment against the taxpayer arising out of the liability, is satisfied.

(2) The lien imposed by Subsection (i) is not valid as against any purchaser, holder of a security interest, mechanics lienor, or judgment lien creditor until a warrant which meets the requirements of Subsection (e) has been filed with the clerk of the district court. For the purposes of this subsection, the following definitions shall apply:

(B)"Mechanics lienor" means any person who has a lien on real property, or on the proceeds of a contract relating to real property, for services, labor, or materials furnished in connection with the construction or improvement of the property. For purposes of the preceding sentence, a person has a lien on the earliest date the lien becomes valid against subsequent purchasers without actual notice, but not before he begins to furnish the services, labor, or materials.

A judgment lien does not include involuntary liens such as attachment or garnishment liens until they ripen into a judgment. A judgment lien does not include the determination or assessment of a quasi-judicial authority, such as a state or federal taxing authority.

(E) "Person" means an individual, a trust, an estate, a partnership, an association, a company, or a corporation.

(1) Subject to the other provisions of this subsection, "employment" means any service performed for wages or under any contract of hire, whether written or oral, express or implied, including service in interstate commerce, and service as an officer of a corporation.

(2) "Employment" includes an individual's entire service performed within or both within and without this state if any of the following provisions is satisfied:

(a) The service is localized in this state. Service is localized within state if:

(i) the service is performed entirely within the state; or

(ii) the service is performed both within and without the state, but the service performed without the state is incidental to the individual's service within the state, for example, is temporary or transitory in nature or consists of isolated transactions.

(b) (i) The service is not localized in any state but some of the service is performed in this state and the individual's base of operations, or if there is no base of operations, the place from which the service is directed or controlled, is in this state; or

(ii) the individual's base of operations or place from which the service is directed or controlled is not in any state in which some part of the service is performed, but the individual's residence is in this state.

(c) (i) The service is performed entirely outside this state and is not localized in any state, the worker is one of a class of employees who are required to travel outside this state in performance of their duties, and the base of operations is in this state or, if there is no base of operations, the place from which the service is directed or controlled is in this state.

(ii) Services covered by an election under Subsection 35-4-8 (e), and services covered by an arrangement under Section 35-4-21 between the commission and the agency charged with the administration of any other state or federal unemployment compensation law, under which all services performed by an individual for an employing unit are considered to be performed entirely within this state, are considered to be employment if the commission has approved an election of the employing unit for whom the services are performed, under which the entire service of the individual during the period covered by the election is considered to be insured work.

(d) The service is performed after December 31, 1977, in the employ of this state or any of its instrumentalities or any county, city, town, school district, or any political subdivision thereof or any of its instrumentalities or any instrumentality more than one of the foregoing or any instrumentality of any of the foregoing and one or more other states or political subdivisions; provided, that the service is excluded from employment as defined in the Federal Unemployment Tax Act by Section 3306 (c)(7) of that act and is not excluded from employment by Section 35-4-22.4; and provided that as to any county, city, town, school district, or political subdivision of this state, or any instrumentality of the same, that service is either:

(i) required to be treated as covered employment as a condition of eligibility of employers in this state for Federal Unemployment Tax Act employer tax credit;

(ii) required to be treated as covered employment by any other requirement of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, as amended; or

(iii) not required to be treated as covered employment by any other requirement of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, but coverage of the service is elected by a majority of the members of the governing body of the political subdivision or instrumentality in accordance with Section 35-4-8.

(ll) Services performed by an individual for wages or under any contract of hire, written or oral, express or implied, are considered to be employment subject to this chapter, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the commission that the individual is an independent contractor. The commission shall analyze all of the facts in Subsections (a) through (l) under the common-law rules applicable to the employer-employee relationship to determine if an individual is an independent contractor. An individual is an independent contractor if the weight of the evidence supports that finding. The following factors are to be considered if applicable:

(a) whether the individual works his own schedule or is required to comply with another person's instructions about when, where, and how work is to be performed;

(d) whether the individual's services may be assigned to others or must be rendered personally;

(e) whether the individual has the right to hire, supervise, and pay other assistants pursuant to a contract under which the individual is responsible only for the attainment of a result or the individual hires, supervises, and pays workers at the direction of the employer;

(iii) whether the individual submits no reports or is required to submit regular oral or written reports to the employer;

(iv) whether the individual is paid by the job or on a straight commission or is paid by the employer in regular amounts at stated intervals;

(v) whether the individual furnishes his own tools or is furnished tools and materials by the employer;

(vi) whether the individual has a real, essential, and adequate investment in the business or has a lack of investment and depends on the employer for such facilities;

(vii) whether the individual may realize a profit or suffer a loss as a result of services performed or cannot realize a profit or loss by making good or poor decisions;

(viii) whether the individual works for a number of persons or firms at the same time or usually works for only one employer;

(ix) whether the individual has his own office and assistants, holds a business license, is listed in business directories, maintains a business telephone, or advertises in newspapers or does not make services available except through a business in which he or she has no interest;

(x) whether the individual may not be fired or discharged as long as he produces a result which meets contract specifications or may be discharged at any time; and

(xi) whether the individual agrees to complete a specific service, end is responsible for its satisfaction or is legally obligated to perform the service, or may terminate his or her relationship with the employer at any time.

AN ACT RELATING TO COMMUNITY AND EMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT IN THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY WHICH IMPEDES THE ECONOMY OF THE STATE AND AFFECTS THE WELFARE AND PROSPERITY OF ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE.

(4) It is found and declared that these conditions associated with the recurrent shortages of residential mortgage funds contribute to slums and blight in the cities and rural areas of the state and ultimately to the deterioration of the quality of living conditions within the state of Utah. In accordance with the purpose of this part to assist in providing housing for low and moderate income persons who otherwise could not achieve decent, safe, and sanitary housing, the agency shall make every effort to make housing available in rural, inner city, and other areas experiencing difficulty in securing construction and mortgage loans, and to make decent, safe, and sanitary housing available to low income persons and families.

(5) It is found and declared that in order to assure an adequate fund of private capital into this housing, the cooperation between private enterprise and state government is essential and is in the public interest.

(6) It is found and declared that low and moderate income persons in Utah have a wide range of housing needs, which necessitates the development of many different kinds of programs to address these needs, including programs providing mortgage loans, nontraditional loans, grants, and other forms of financial assistance, and combinations of these forms.

(7) It is found and declared that there are private organizations and governmental entities throughout Utah that are endeavoring to improve the availability of housing for low and moderate income, but many such organizations and entities lack expertise and financial resources to act efficiently and expeditiously in such efforts.

(8) It is found and declared that innovative programs that bring together resources from the public, nonprofit, and private sector are necessary in order to increase the supply of housing for low and moderate individuals, but these programs usually need advice and financial assistance to become established.

[6(10) It is declared that all of the foregoing are public purposes and uses for which moneys may be borrowed, expended, advanced, loaned, or granted, and that these activities serve a public purpose in improving or otherwise benefiting the people of this state, and that the necessity of enacting the provisions set forth in this part is in the public interest and is hereby so declared as a matter of express legislative determination.

[7(11) It is found and declared that the compelling need within the state for the creation of an adequate supply of mortgage funds at reasonable interest rates and for other kinds of financial assistance to help provide affordable housing for low and moderate income individuals can be best met by the establishment of an independent state agency and a body corporate and politic vested with the powers and duties specified in this part.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the state of Utah:

Section 1. Section Amended.

Section 9-4-902, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as renumbered and amended by Chapter 241, Laws of Utah 1992, is amended to read:

9-4-902. Policy — Finding and declaration.

(1) It is declared that the policy of the state of Utah is to assure the health, safety, and welfare of its citizens, that an adequate supply of decent, safe, and sanitary housing is essential to the well-being of the citizens of the state, and that an adequate supply of mortgage funds for housing at reasonable interest rates is in the public interest.

(2) It is found and declared that there continues to exist throughout the state a seriously inadequate supply of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations within the financial means of persons and families of low (and) or moderate income who wish to purchase or rent residential housing. From time to time the high rates of interest charged by mortgage lenders seriously restrict the transfer of existing housing and new housing starts.

(3) It is found and declared that the reduction in residential construction starts associated with the high rates causes a condition of substantial unemployment and underemployment in the construction industry which impedes the economy of the state and affects the welfare and prosperity of all the people of the state.

Section 13. Section Amended.

Section 70A-1-201, Utah Code Annotated 1963, as last amended by Chapters 197 and 294, Laws of Utah 1990, is amended to read:

70A-1-201. General definitions.

In addition to definitions contained in the subsequent chapters of this title and unless the context otherwise requires, in this title:

(1) "Action" in the sense of a judicial proceeding includes recoupment, counterclaim, setoff, suit in equity, and any other proceedings in which rights are determined.

(2) "Aggrieved party" means a party entitled to resort to a remedy.

(3) "Agreement" means the bargain of the parties in fact as found in their language or by implication from other circumstances including course of dealing or usage of trade or course of performance as provided in sections 70A-1-205 and 70A-2-208. Whether an agreement has legal consequences is determined by the provisions of this title, if applicable, otherwise by the law of contracts as provided in Section 70A-1-103. Compare the definition of "contract" in Subsection (11).

(4) "Bank" means any person engaged in the business of banking.

(5) "Bearer" means the person in possession of an instrument, document of title, or certificated security payable to bearer or indorsed in blank.

(6) "Bill of lading" means a document evidencing the receipt of goods for shipment issued by a person engaged in the business of transporting or forwarding goods, and includes an airbill. "Airbill" means a document serving for air transport, and as a bill of lading does for marine or rail transportation, and includes an air consignment note or air waybill.

(7) "Branch" includes a separately incorporated foreign branch of a bank.

(8) "Burden of establishing a fact" means the burden of persuading the triers of fact that the existence of the fact is more probable than its nonexistence.

(9) "Buyer in ordinary course of business" means a person who, in good faith and without knowledge that the sale to him is in violation of the ownership rights or security interest of a third party in the goods, buys in ordinary course from a person in the business of selling goods of that kind but does not include a pawnbroker. All persons who sell minerals or the like, including oil and gas, at wellhead or minehead are considered to be persons in the business of selling goods of that kind. "Buying" may be for cash or by exchange of other property or on secured or unsecured credit and includes receiving goods or documents of title under a preexisting contract for sale but does not include a transfer in bulk or as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a money debt.

(10) "Conspicuous" means a term or clause that is so written that a reasonable person against whom it is to operate ought to have noticed it. A printed heading in capitals such as: NONNEGOTIABLE BILL OF LADING is conspicuous. Language in the body of a form is "conspicuous" if it is in larger or other contrasting type or color. In a telegram any stated term is "conspicuous." Whether a term or clause is "conspicuous" or not is for decision by the court.

(11) "Contract" means the total legal obligation which results from the parties' agreement as affected by this title and any other applicable rules of law. Compare the definition of "agreement" in Subsection (3).

(12) "Creditor" includes a general creditor, a secured creditor, a lien creditor, and any representative of creditors, including an assignee for the benefit of creditors, a trustee in bankruptcy, a receiver in equity, and an executor or administrator of an insolvent debtor's or assignor's estate.

(13) "Defendant" includes a person in the position of defendant in a cross-action or counterclaim.

(14) "Delivery" with respect to instruments, documents of title, chattel paper, or certificated securities means voluntary transfer of possession.

(15) "Document of title" includes bill of lading, dock warrant, dock receipt, warehouse receipt, or order for the delivery of goods, and also any other document which in the regular course of business or financing is treated as adequately representing that the person in possession of it is entitled to receive, hold and dispose of the document and the goods it covers. To be a document of title, a document must purport to be issued by or addressed to a bailee and purport to cover goods in the bailee's possession which are either identified or are fungible portions of an identified mass.

(16) "Fault" means wrongful act, omission, or breach.

(17) "Fungible" with respect to goods or securities means goods or securities of which any unit is, by nature or usage of trade, the equivalent of any other like unit. Goods which are not fungible are considered fungible for the purposes of this title to the extent that under a particular agreement or document unlike units are treated as equivalents.

(18) "Genuine" means free of forgery or counterfeiting.

(19) "Good faith" means honesty in fact in the conduct or transaction concerned.

(20) "Holder" with respect to an instrument, certified security, or document of title means the person in possession if:

(a) in the case of an instrument, it is payable to bearer or to the order of the person in possession;

(b) in the case of a security, the person in possession is the registered owner, or the security has been indorsed to the person in possession by the registered owner, or the security is in bearer form; or

(c) in the case of a document of title, the goods are deliverable to bearer or to the order of the person in possession.

(21) To "honor" is to pay or to accept and pay, or where a credit so engages to purchase or discount a draft complying with the terms of the credit.

(22) "Insolvency proceedings" includes any assignment for the benefit of creditors or other proceedings intended to liquidate or rehabilitate the estate of the person involved.

(23) A person is "insolvent" who either has ceased to pay his debts in the ordinary course of business or cannot pay his debts as they become due or if he is insolvent within the meaning of the federal bankruptcy law.

(24) "Money" means a medium of exchange authorized or adopted by a domestic or foreign government or intergovernmental organization.

(25) (a) A person has "notice" of a fact when:

(i) he has actual knowledge of it;

(ii) he has received a notice or notification of it; or

(iii) from all the facts and circumstances known to him at the time in question he has reason to know that it exists.

(b) A person "knows" or has "knowledge" of a fact when he has actual knowledge of it.

(c) "Discover" or "learn" or a word or phrase of similar import refers to knowledge rather than to reason to know.

(d) The time and circumstances under which a notice or notification may cease to be effective are not determined by this title.

(26) (a) A person "notifies" or "gives" a notice or notification to another by taking such steps as may be reasonably required to inform the other person in ordinary course whether or not the other person actually comes to know of it.

(b) A person "receives" a notice or notification when:

(i) it comes to his attention; or

(ii) it is duly delivered at the place of business through which the contract was made or at any other place held out by him as the place for receipt of such communications.

(27) Notice, knowledge of a notice, or notification received by an organization is effective for a particular transaction from the time when it is brought to the attention of the individual conducting that transaction, and in any event from the time when it would have been brought to his attention if the organization had exercised due diligence. An organization exercises due diligence if it maintains reasonable routines for communicating significant information to the person conducting the transaction and there is reasonable compliance with the routines. Due diligence does not require an individual acting for the organization to communicate information unless such communication is part of his regular duties or unless he has reason to know of the transaction and that the transaction would be materially affected by the information.

(28) "Organization" includes a corporation, government or governmental subdivision or agency, business trust, estate, trust, partnership or association, two or more persons having a joint or common interest, or any other legal or commercial entity.

(29) "Party," as distinct from "third party," means a person who has engaged in a transaction or made an agreement within this title.

(30) "Person" includes an individual or an organization as provided in Section 70A-1-102.

(31) "Presumption" or "presumed" means that the trier of fact must find the existence of the fact presumed unless and until evidence is introduced which would support a finding of its nonexistence.

(32) "Purchase" includes taking by sale, discount, negotiation, mortgage, pledge, lien, issue or reissue, gift, or any other voluntary transaction creating an interest in property.

(33) "Purchaser" means a person who takes by purchase.

(34) "Remedy" means any remedial right to which an aggrieved party is entitled with or without resort to a tribunal.

(35) "Representative" includes an agent, an officer of a corporation or association, and a trustee, execu tor, or administrator of an estate, or any other person empowered to act for another.

(36) “Rights” includes remedies.

(37) (a) “Security interest” means an interest in personal property or fixtures which secures payment or performance of an obligation. The retention or reservation of title by a seller of goods, notwithstanding shipment or delivery to the buyer as provided in Section 70A-2-401, is limited in effect to a reservation of a “security interest.” The term also includes any interest of a buyer of accounts or chattel paper which is subject to Title 70A, Chapter 9.

The special property interest of a buyer of goods on identification of those goods to a contract for sale under Section 70A-2-401 is not a “security interest,” but a buyer may also acquire a “security interest” by complying with Title 70A, Chapter 9. Unless a consignment is intended as security, reservation of title under the consignment is not a “security interest.” A consignment in any event is subject to the provisions on consignment sales provided in Section 70A-2-326. Notwithstanding anything in Title 70A to the contrary, “security interest” does not include a rental purchase agreement as defined in Section 15-8-2.

(b) Whether a transaction creates a lease or security interest is determined by the facts of each case; however, a transaction creates a security interest if the consideration the lessee is to pay the lessor for the remaining economic life of the goods for no additional consideration or nominal additional consideration upon compliance with the lease agreement; or

(i) the original term of the lease is equal to or greater than the remaining economic life of the goods;

(ii) the lessee is bound to renew the lease for the remaining economic life of the goods or is bound to become the owner of the goods;

(iii) the lessee has an option to renew the lease for the remaining economic life of the goods for no additional consideration or nominal additional consideration upon compliance with the lease agreement;

(iv) the lessee has an option to renew the lease for a fixed rent that is equal to or greater than the reasonably predictable fair market rent for the use of the goods for the term of the renewal at the time the option is to be performed; or

(v) the lessee has an option to become the owner of the goods for a fixed price that is equal to or greater than the reasonably predictable fair market value of the goods at the time the option is to be performed.

(d) For purposes of this subsection:

(i) Additional consideration is not nominal if, when the option to renew the lease is granted to the lessee, the rent is stated to be the fair market rent for the use of the goods for the term of the renewal determined at the time the option is to be performed, or when the option to become the owner of the goods is granted to the lessee the price is stated to be the fair market value of the goods determined at the time the option is to be performed.

(ii) Additional consideration is nominal if it is less than the lessee’s reasonably predictable cost of performing under the lease agreement if the option is not exercised.

(iii) “Reasonably predictable” and “remaining economic life of the goods” are to be determined with reference to the facts and circumstances at the time the transaction is entered into.

(iv) “Present value” means the amount as of a date certain of one or more sums payable in the future, discounted to the date certain. The discount is determined by the interest rate specified by the parties if the rate is not manifestly unreasonable at the time the transaction is entered into; otherwise, the discount is determined by a commercially reasonable rate that takes into account the facts and circumstances of each case at the time the transaction was entered into.

(38) “Send” in connection with any writing or notice means to deposit in the mail or deliver for transmission by any other usual means of communication with postage or the cost of the transmission provided for and properly addressed, and, in the case of an instrument, to an address specified thereon or otherwise agreed, or if there be none to any address reasonable under the circumstances. The receipt of any writing or notice within the time at which it would have arrived if properly sent has the effect of a proper sending.

(39) “Signed” includes any symbol executed or adopted by a party with present intention to authenticate a writing.

(40) “Surety” includes guarantor.

(41) “Telegraph” includes a message transmitted by radio, teletype, cable, any mechanical method of transmission, or the like.

(42) “Term” means that portion of an agreement which relates to a particular matter.

(43) “Unauthorized signature or indorsement” means one made without actual, implied, or apparent authority and includes a forgery.
(44) "Value." Except as otherwise provided with respect to negotiable instruments and bank collections as in Sections 70A-3-303, 70A-4-208, and 70A-4-209, a person gives "value" for rights if he acquires them:
(a) in return for a binding commitment to extend credit or for the extension of immediately available credit whether or not drawn upon and whether or not a charge-back is provided for in the event of difficulties in collection;
(b) as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a preexisting claim;
(c) by accepting delivery pursuant to a preexisting contract for purchase; or
(d) generally, in return for any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract.
(45) "Warehouse receipt" means a receipt issued by a person engaged in the business of storing goods for hire.
(46) "Written" or "writing" includes printing, typewriting, or any other intentional reduction to tangible form.

(5) any transaction under public utility or common carrier tariffs if a subdivision of this state or the United States regulates the charges for the services involved, the charges for delayed payment, and any discount allowed for early payment;

(7) any transaction with a party acting as a pawnbroker and licensed by any governmental authority in this state;
(8) loans made, insured, or guaranteed pursuant to a program authorized by Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, 20 U.S.C. Sections 1070, et seq.; and
(9) a rental purchase agreement as defined in Section 15-8-3.

9-2-406. Eligibility review.

(1) The department shall review and evaluate the applications submitted under Section 9-2-404 and shall determine whether each county is eligible for designation as an enterprise zone. In determining whether a county is eligible, if unemployment, income, population, or other necessary data are not available for the county from the federal departments of labor or commerce or a state agency, the department may rely upon other data submitted by the county, if the department determines that it is statistically reliable or accurate.

(2) The department shall designate enterprise zones. The department shall consider and evaluate an application using the following criteria:

(a) the pervasiveness of poverty, unemployment, and general distress in the county;

(b) the extent of chronic abandonment, deterioration, or reduction in value of commercial, industrial, or residential structures in the county, and the extent of property tax arrearages in the county;

Section 5. Section Amended.

Section 9-2-413, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as renumbered and amended by Chapter 241, Laws of Utah 1992, is amended to read:

9-2-413. State tax credits.

(1) The following state tax credits against income tax or corporate franchise tax are applicable in an enterprise zone:

(a) a tax credit of $750 for each new full-time position filled in a nontaxable capacity for not less than six months during a given tax year, and an additional $600 tax credit if the new position is in one of the special employment categories identified in the county incentive plan under Subsection 9-2-405(2)-(g) pays at least 125% of the county average monthly nonagricultural payroll wage for the respective industry as determined by the Utah Department of Employment Security. (2) (a) Construction jobs are not eligible for the tax credit under Subsection (1)(a).

(b) During the existence of an enterprise zone, a business may claim the tax credit under Subsection (1)(a) only once for each increase in the number of positions. For example, if a business increased from 30 to 35 full-time positions, it could claim a tax credit on five positions. After once having done so, any additional tax credits the business might claim could be based only on new positions beyond 35 positions, notwithstanding any fluctuation in the number of positions below 35. A business existing in an enterprise zone on the date of its designation shall calculate the number of full-time positions based on the average number of employees reported to the Department of Employment Security.

(3) Tax credits not claimed by a business on its state income tax return within five years are forfeited.
Each county designated as an enterprise zone shall annually report to the department regarding the economic activity that has occurred in the zone following the designation. This information shall include the number of jobs created in the zone, the number of economically disadvantaged individuals hired receiving public job training assistance in the zone, the average wage level of the jobs created, descriptions of any affirmative action programs undertaken by the county in connection with the enterprise zone, the amount of the county's local contribution, and the number of businesses qualifying for, or directly benefiting from, the local contribution.

(2) Grants by the department shall be awarded based on applications submitted to the department in the manner and form prescribed by the department and by Section 26-18-303. The application shall contain a requested award amount, budget, and narrative plan of the manner in which the applicant intends to provide the primary care services described in this chapter.

(3) Applicants under this chapter must demonstrate to the department that they will operate in a manner such that no person shall be denied service by reason of his inability to pay. This does not preclude the applicant from seeking payment from the patient, a third party, or government agency that is

The department shall establish rules in accordance with Title 63, Chapter 46a, Utah Administrative Rulemaking Act, governing the application form, process, and criteria it will use in awarding grants under this chapter. In awarding grants, the department shall consider the extent to which the applicant:

(2) utilizes other sources of funding, including private funding, to provide primary health care;

(3) demonstrates the ability and expertise to serve traditionally medically underserved populations including persons of limited English-speaking ability, single heads of households, the elderly, persons with low incomes, and persons with chronic diseases;

Section 9. Section Amended.

Section 31A-22-617, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 242, Laws of Utah 1985, is amended to read:

Health insurance policies may provide for insureds to receive services or reimbursement under the policies in accordance with preferred health care provider contracts as follows:

(a) Subject to restrictions under this section, any insurer or third party administrator may enter into contracts with health care providers as defined in Section 78-14-3 under which the health care providers agree to supply services, at prices specified in the contracts, to persons insured by an insurer. The health care provider contract may require the health care provider to accept the specified payment as payment in full, relinquishing the right to collect additional amounts from the insured person.

(b) The insurance contract may reward the insured for selection of preferred health care providers by reducing premium rates, reducing deductibles, coinsurance, or other copayments, or in any other reasonable manner.

(c) The insurance contract may reward the insured for selection of preferred health care providers by reducing premium rates, reducing deductibles, coinsurance, or other copayments, or in any other reasonable manner.

(d) Subject to Subsections (2)(b) through (2)(f), an insurer using preferred health care provider contracts shall pay for the services of health care providers not under the contract, unless the illnesses or injuries treated by the health care provider are not within the scope of the insurance contract. As used in this section, “class of health care providers” means all health care providers licensed or licensed and certified by the state within the same professional, trade, occupational, or facility licensure or licensure and certification category established pursuant to Titles 26 and 58.

(e) When the insured receives services from a health care provider not under contract, the insurer shall reimburse the insured for at least 75% of the average amount paid by the insurer for comparable services of preferred health care providers who are members of the same class of health care providers.
The commissioner may adopt a rule dealing with the determination of what constitutes 75% of the average amount paid by the insurer for comparable services of preferred health care providers who are members of the same class of health care providers.

(c) When reimbursing for services of health care providers not under contract, the insurer may make direct payment to the insured.

(d) Notwithstanding Subsection (2)(b), an insurer using preferred health care provider contracts may impose a deductible on coverage of health care providers not under contract, but that deductible may not exceed $100 per person and $500 per family annually. The commissioner of insurance shall periodically adjust these limits by rule or order to reflect changes in health care prices; the limits established by the commission.

(e) An insurer cannot discriminate between classes of health care providers when selecting health care providers with whom to contract. When selecting health care providers, an insurer may not discriminate between classes of health care providers, but may discriminate within a class of health care providers, subject to Subsection (7).

(f) For purposes of this section, discrimination between classes of health care providers shall include:

(i) refusal to contract with class members in reasonable proportion to the number of insureds covered by the insurer and the expected demand for services from class members; and

(ii) refusal to cover procedures for one class of providers which are:

(A) commonly utilized by members of the class of health care providers for the treatment of illnesses, injuries, or conditions;

(B) otherwise covered by the insurer; and

(C) within the scope of practice of the class of health care providers.

(3) Before the insured consents to the insurance contract, the insurer shall fully disclose to the insured that it has entered into preferred health care provider contracts. The insurer shall provide sufficient detail on the preferred health care provider contracts to permit the insured to agree to the terms of the insurance contract. The insurer shall provide at least the following information:

(a) a list of the [physicians and other] health care providers under contract, including their office and business locations, and specialties;

(b) a description of the insured benefits, including any deductibles, coinsurance, or other copayments;

(c) a description of the quality assurance program required under Subsection (4); and

(d) a description of the grievance procedures required under Subsection (5).

(4) An insurer using preferred health care provider contracts shall maintain a quality assurance program for assuring that the care provided by the health care providers under contract meets prevailing standards in the state of Utah.

(b) The commissioner, in consultation with the executive director of the Department of Health, may designate qualified persons to perform an [annual] audit of the quality assurance program. The auditor shall have full access to all records of the organization and its health care providers, including medical records of individual patients.

(c) The information contained in the medical records of individual patients shall remain confidential. All information, interviews, reports, statements, memoranda, or other data furnished for purposes of the audit and any findings or conclusions of the auditors are privileged. Such information may not be used or received in evidence in any legal proceeding except hearings before the commissioner concerning alleged violations of this section.

(5) An insurer using preferred health care provider contracts shall provide a reasonable procedure for resolving complaints and grievances initiated by the insured and health care providers.

(6) An insurer may not contract with a health care provider for treatment of illness or injuries unless the health care provider is licensed to perform the treatment.

(7) A no health care provider or insurer may discriminate against a preferred health care provider for agreeing to a contract under Subsection (1).

(b) Any health care provider licensed to treat any illness or injury within the scope of their practice, who is willing and able to meet the terms and conditions established by the insurer for designation as a preferred health care provider, shall be able to apply for and receive the designation as a preferred health care provider. Contract terms and conditions may include reasonable limitations on the number of designated preferred health care providers based upon substantial objective and economic grounds, or expected use of particular services based upon prior provider-patient profiles.

(8) Upon the written request of a provider excluded from a provider contract, the commissioner may hold a hearing to determine if the insurer's exclusion of the provider is based on the criteria set forth in Subsection (7)(b).

(9) Insurers are subject to the provisions of Sections 31A-22-613.5, 31A-22-614.5, and 31A-22-616.

(10) Nothing in this section is to be construed as to require an insurer to offer a certain benefit or service as part of a health benefit plan.

Section 10. Section Enacted.
Section 31A-22-622, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

31A-22-622. Health insurance market evaluation.

(1) The commissioner shall study and report to the Human Services Interim Committee and to the Health and Environment Interim Committee by November 1994 on the commissioner's market evaluation of the health insurance industry in this state.

(2) The report shall:

(a) analyze the effectiveness of the insurance regulations and statutes, as well as insurance carrier compliance, in promoting rate stability, product availability, and affordability of coverage including banding or grouping of companies for insurance rates or health care purchasing coalitions;

(b) contain recommendations for actions to improve the overall effectiveness of the health insurance market, administrative rules, or statutes;

(c) address whether carriers and producers are fairly and actively marketing or issuing health benefit plans to employers and individuals in this state; and

(d) contain recommendations for market conduct, or other regulatory standards or legislative action.

Section 11. Section Amended.

Section 31A-22-714, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 261, Laws of Utah 1989, is amended to read:

(1) In addition to the right of the employee to have a converted policy issued to him, and on the same bases of eligibility as for conversion of coverage under Sections 31A-22-703 and 31A-22-704, the employee has the right to continue his coverage under the group policy for a period of two six months, unless the employee was terminated for gross misconduct. Where applicable, any extension of coverage required by federal law may run concurrently with the requirements of this section. This right to continue coverage includes any dependent coverages.

(2) In addition to the terminated insured, those classes of persons defined in Section 31A-22-710 are also entitled to the continuation of coverage as provided in this section.

(3) No group policy that provides coverage to children of group members may deny eligibility for coverage to a child solely because the child does not reside with the group member or solely by because the child is solely dependent on a former spouse of the group member rather than on the group member. A child who does not reside with the group member may be excluded on the same basis as children who do reside with the group member.

(4) The employer shall provide the terminated insured written notification of the right to continue group coverage and the payment amounts required for continued coverage, including the manner, place, and time in which the payments shall be made. This notice shall be given not more than five days after the termination date of the group coverage. The payment amount for continued group coverage may not exceed the group rate in effect for a group member, including an employer's contribution, if any, for a group insurance policy, or the amount specified by federal law, whichever is applicable. The notice may be sent to the terminated insured's home address as shown on the records of the employer.

(5) If the terminated insured or, with respect to a minor, the parent or guardian of the terminated insured elect to continue group coverage and tenders to the employer the amount required within 30 days after receiving notice as prescribed by this section, coverage of the terminated insured and coverage of the covered spouse and dependents of the terminated insured continues without interruption and may not terminate unless:

(a) the terminated insured establishes residence outside of this state;

(b) the terminated insured fails to make timely payment of a required contribution;

(c) the terminated insured violates a material condition of the contract;

(d) the terminated insured becomes eligible for similar coverage under another group policy; or

(e) the employer's coverage is terminated.

(6) If the employer replaces coverage with similar coverage under another group policy, without interruption, the terminated insured has the right to obtain coverage under the replacement group policy for the balance of the period that the terminated insured would have continued coverage under the replaced group policy, provided the terminated insured is otherwise eligible for continuation of coverage.

(7) At the end of the continued benefit period as provided in this section, the covered person remains eligible for a converted policy under this chapter and shall be so informed by the employer in the same manner and according to the same terms as required by Section 31A-22-703.

Section 12. Section Enacted.

Section 58-12-23.5, Utah Code Annotated 1953, is enacted to read:

58-12-23.5. Qualified immunity — Health professionals — Charity care.

(1) The Legislature finds that many residents of this state do not receive medical care and preventive health care because they lack health insurance or because of financial difficulties or cost. The Legislature also finds that many physicians, charity health care facilities, and other health care providers in this state would be willing to volunteer medical and allied services without compensation if they were not subject to the high exposure of liability connected with the practice of medicine. The Legislature therefore declares that its intention in enacting this section is to encourage the provision of uncompensated volunteer medical care in charity care settings in exchange for a limitation on liability for the physicians, surgeons, health care facilities, and other health care providers who provide those volunteer services.

(2) For purposes of this section:

(a) "Health care facility" means any clinic or hospital, church, or organization whose primary purpose is to sponsor, promote, or organize uncompensated health care services for people unable to pay for health care services.

(b) "Health care professional" shall include physicians, osteopaths, podiatrists, chiropractors, dentists, dental hygienists, nurses, nurse midwives, and nurse practitioners that are licensed to practice in this state under Title 58.

(c) "Remuneration or compensation" means:

(i) direct or indirect receipt of any payment by the physician, surgeon, health care facility, other health care provider, or organization, on behalf of the patient, including payment or reimbursement under medicare, or medicaid, or under the state program for the medically indigent on behalf of the patient;

(ii) compensation, salary, or reimbursement to the health care professional from any source for the health care professional's services or time in volunteering to provide uncompensated medical care; and

(iii) "Remuneration or compensation" shall not include any grant or donation to the health care facility used to offset direct costs associated with providing the uncompensated medical care such as medical supplies or drugs;

(3) A health care professional who provides medical treatment at a health care facility is not liable in a medical malpractice action if:

(a) the medical treatment was within the scope of the health care professional's license under this title;

(b) neither the health care professional nor the health care facility received compensation or remuneration for the treatment;

(c) the acts or omissions of the health care professional were not grossly negligent or willful and wanton; and

(d) prior to rendering services, the health care professional disclosed in writing to the patient, or if a minor, to the patient's parent or legal guardian, that the health care professional is providing the services without receiving remuneration or compensation and that in exchange for receiving uncompensated care, the patient consents to waive any right to sue for professional negligence except for acts or omissions which are grossly negligent or are willful and wanton.

(4) A health care facility which sponsors, promotes, or organizes the uncompensated care shall not be liable in a medical malpractice action for acts and omissions if:

(a) the health care facility meets the requirements in Subsection (3)(b);

(b) the acts and omissions of the health care facility were not grossly negligent or willful and wanton; and

(c) the health care facility has posted, in a conspicuous place, a notice that in accordance with this sec-

(5) Immunity from liability under this section does not extend to the use of general anesthesia or care that requires an overnight stay in a general acute or specialty hospital licensed under Title 26, Chapter 21.

(d) that the obligor has 15 days after service of the notice in which to contact the office in writing to contest the withholding, that the only basis for contesting the withholding is mistake of fact, and that if he contests the withholding he must specifically contest the amount of current child support stated in the notice, or state that child support in an amount at least equal to child support payable for one month is not overdue;

(e) that if he wishes to contest the withholding, he has the right to an administrative hearing and to be accompanied by an attorney at that hearing; and

(f) that failure to contest the withholding will result in notification to present and future payors to withheld income.

(3) (a) If, within 15 days of service of the advance notice described in Subsection (2), the obligor does not contest the withholding in writing, the office shall, based upon all information available to it, determine whether a delinquency has occurred. it shall proceed with income withholding under this part.

(b) If the obligor contests the withholding in the manner described in Subsection (2), the department shall, within 45 days:

(iv) notify the obligor that he may, within 30 days, appeal the decision to a court of competent jurisdiction.

(4) If the obligor appeals the department's decision to withhold income under Subsection (3):

(a) the obligor shall file an appeal within 20 days after service of the notice under Subsection (3), immediately notify the office in writing of his decision to appeal; and

(b) the office shall proceed with income withholding under this part during the appeal, but shall hold all funds it receives, except current child support, in a reserve account pending the court's decision on appeal. The funds, plus interest at the legal rate, shall be paid to the party determined by the court.

(6) An obligor's payment of overdue child support may not be the sole basis for not implementing income withholding in accordance with this part.

The insurer shall not require the obligor to pay medical and dental expenses directly to a provider in the event of an emergency unless the obligee so requests in writing.
The court shall include the following in its order:

(iv) estimate, to the extent possible, the potential cost to the government if a court determines that the action constitutes a constitutional taking.

(3) If there is an immediate threat to health and safety that constitutes an emergency and requires an immediate response, the analysis required by paragraph (2)(b) of this Section may be made when the response is completed.

(4) Before the state agency implements an action that has constitutional taking implications, the state agency shall submit a copy of the assessment of constitutional taking implications to the governor and the Legislative Management Committee.

(1) Whenever the board, by resolution, finds and declares it preferable to acquire a project under this chapter by purchase or lease of the facilities constituting the project under an agreement which provides the consideration for the purchase or lease to be paid in installments during a period not exceeding 40 years, rather than through the issuance of revenue bonds by the board in the manner provided in this chapter, it may do so upon compliance with this section.

(2) The board may lease any portion of the campus of the institution necessary as a site for a project which the board is authorized to acquire, to any person, for a term not exceeding 40 years.

(3) The agreement authorized to be entered into by the board shall provide that the person shall construct, improve, remodel, add to, or extend a project of the type and construction described in the agreement on the part of the part of the campus to be leased to the person, or on any real property as may be acquired for that purpose by the person.

(6) The plans, specifications, and estimates shall be approved by resolution of the board prior to the execution of the agreement.

(j) covenant to make and enforce parietal rules and regulations with reference to the use of the facilities comprising the project, or any part of the project, and with reference to requiring any class of students to use the project, or any part of the project, as the board determines desirable for the institution; and

Each agreement shall provide that the rental installments, or amortization of the acquisition cost of the project, including necessary equipment, furnishings, and land, and interest on the unpaid part of the acquisition cost, are not an obligation of the state.

The agreement shall provide that when the amortized acquisition cost, as represented by the rental installments, has been paid in full and when all obligations, if any, issued by the person to finance the cost of the acquisition of the project have been paid in full as to both principal and interest, the agreement terminates and title to the project, including the land upon which the project is situated, and all equipment and furnishings, vests in the board.

The agreement may provide that the board may purchase the project, including the land upon which the project is situated, and all equipment and furnishings, which is subject to the agreement upon terms wherein rental installments previously made, or a portion of them, are deducted from the cost of acquisition of the project, including the land upon which the project is situated, and all equipment and furnishings, as provided for in the agreement.

(a) The board may furnish without charge heat, light, water, power, and similar facilities for student use by the board for operation of the institution.

(b) The changes in the security and revenues pledged to the payment of the bonds may be made by the board as may be provided by it in the proceedings authorizing the bonds, but in no event shall the refunding bonds ever be secured by revenues not authorized by this chapter to be pledged to the payment of bonds issued for other than refunding purposes.

(b) If sold, the proceeds of the sale not required for the payment of expenses may be invested in United States Government obligations or in obligations unconditionally guaranteed by the United States of America in such manner as may be provided in the authorizing resolution, so long as these investments will mature with interest so as to provide funds to pay when due, or called for redemption, the bonds to be refunded together with interest and redemption premiums, if any.

The proceeds or obligations shall, and other funds legally available to the board for such purposes may, be deposited in trust with an FDIC insured bank doing business in Utah, or its successor, to be held for the payment and redemption of bonds to be refunded.

The deposit and any reinvestment shall be held in trust by the escrow agent for the payment of bonds with interest and redemption premiums, if any, on maturity or upon an available redemption date or upon an earlier voluntary surrender with the consent of the board.

(1) For the purpose of paying all or part of the costs of a project under Section 53A-20a-103, the board, on behalf of the institution for which the project is to be acquired, constructed, furnished, and equipped, may borrow money on the credit of the income and revenues to be derived from the operation of the project, and from the imposition of student building fees, land grant interest, and net proceeds from proprietary activities or from other legally available sources, and to evidence the indebtedness may execute any promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness appropriate, if the note or other evidence of indebtedness specifies on its face that it does not constitute a general obligation of the state.

That application shall be accompanied by:

(a) a certificate of a licensed physician or designated examiner stating that within a seven-day period immediately preceding the certification the physician or designated examiner has examined the individual, and that he is of the opinion that the individual is mentally ill and should be involuntarily committed; or

(b) a written statement by the applicant that the individual has been requested to but has refused to submit to an examination of mental condition by a licensed physician or designated examiner. That application shall be sworn to under oath and shall state the facts upon which the application is based.
(2) Prior to issuing a judicial order, the court may require the applicant to consult with [the division] or a mental health professional from [the division] or that local mental health authority to interview the applicant and the proposed patient to determine the existing facts and report them to the court.

(3) If the court finds from the application, from any other statements under oath, or from any reports from a mental health professional that there is a reasonable basis to believe that the proposed patient's mental condition and immediate danger to himself, others, or property requires involuntary commitment pending examination and hearing; or, if the proposed patient has refused to submit to an interview with a mental health professional as directed by the court or to go to a treatment facility voluntarily, the court may issue an order, directed to a mental health officer or peace officer, to immediately place the proposed patient in the custody of [the division] or a local mental health authority or in a temporary emergency facility as provided in [Subsection] Section 62A-12-237 [(d)] to be detained for the purpose of examination. Within 24 hours of the issuance of the order for examination, [the director] or a local mental health authority or [his] designee shall report to the court, orally or in writing, whether the patient is, in the opinion of the examiners, mentally ill, whether the patient has agreed to become a voluntary patient under Section 62A-12-228, or whether treatment programs are available and acceptable without court proceedings. Based on that information, the court may, without taking any further action, terminate the proceedings and dismiss the application. In any event, if the examiner reports orally, he shall immediately send the report in writing to the clerk of the court.

(4) Notice of commencement of proceedings for involuntary commitment, setting forth the allegations of the application and any reported facts, together with a copy of any official order of detention, shall be provided by the court to the proposed patient prior to, or upon, placement in the custody of [the division] or a local mental health authority or, with respect to any individual presently in the custody of [the division] or a local mental health authority whose status is being changed from voluntary to involuntary, upon the filing of an application for that purpose with the court. A copy of that order of detention shall be maintained at the place of detention.

(5) Notice of commencement of those proceedings shall be provided by the court as soon as practicable to the applicant, any legal guardian, any immediate adult family members, legal counsel for the parties involved, and any other persons whom the proposed patient or the court shall designate. That notice shall advise those persons that a hearing may be held within the time provided by law. If the patient has refused to permit release of information necessary for provisions of notice under this subsection, the extent of notice shall be determined by the court.

(6) Proceedings for commitment of an individual under the age of 18 years to the division may be commenced by filing a written application with the juvenile court in accordance with the provisions of Part 2A.

(7) The district court may, in its discretion, transfer the case to any other district court within this state, provided that the transfer will not be adverse to the interest of the proposed patient.

(8) (a) Within 24 hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays, of the issuance of a judicial order, or after commitment to [the division] or a local mental health authority under court order for detention or examination, the court shall appoint two designated examiners to examine the proposed patient. If requested by the proposed patient's counsel, the court shall appoint, as one of the examiners, a reasonably available qualified person designated by counsel. The examinations, to be conducted separately, shall be held at the home of the proposed patient, a hospital or other medical facility, or at any other suitable place that is not likely to have a harmful effect on the patient's health.

(b) A time shall be set for a hearing to be held within ten court days of the appointment of the designated examiners, unless those examiners or [the director or his] a local mental health authority or its designee informs the court prior to that hearing date that the patient is not mentally ill, that he has agreed to become a voluntary patient under Section 62A-12-228, or that treatment programs are available and acceptable without court proceedings, in which event the court may, without taking any further action, terminate the proceedings and dismiss the application.

(9) (a) Prior to the hearing, an opportunity to be represented by counsel shall be afforded to every proposed patient, and if neither the patient nor others provide counsel, the court shall appoint counsel and allow him sufficient time to consult with the patient prior to the hearing. In the case of an indigent patient, the payment of reasonable attorneys' fees for counsel, as determined by the court, shall be made by the county in which the patient resides or was found.

(b) The proposed patient, the applicant, and all other persons to whom notice is required to be given shall be afforded an opportunity to appear at the hearing, to testify, and to present and cross-examine witnesses. The court, in its discretion, receive the testimony of any other person. The court may allow a waiver of the patient's right to appear only for good cause shown, and that cause shall be made a matter of court record.

(c) The court is authorized to exclude all persons not necessary for the conduct of the proceedings and may, upon motion of counsel, require the testimony of each examiner to be given out of the presence of any other examiners.

(d) The hearing shall be conducted in an informal manner as may be consistent with orderly procedure, and in a physical setting that is not likely to have a harmful effect on the mental health of the proposed patient.
The court shall receive all relevant and material evidence which is offered, subject to the rules of evidence.

(f) [The director or his] A local mental health authority or its designee, or the physician in charge of the patient’s care shall, at the time of the hearing, provide the court with the following information:

(i) the detention order;
(ii) [the] admission notes;
(iii) the diagnosis;
(iv) any doctors’ orders;
(v) [the] progress notes;
(vi) [the] nursing notes; and
(vii) [the] medication records pertaining to the current commitment.

That information shall also be supplied to the patient’s counsel at the time of the hearing, and at any time prior to the hearing upon request.

(10) The court shall order commitment of an individual who is 18 years of age or older to [the division] a local mental health authority if, upon completion of the hearing and consideration of the record, the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that:

(a) the proposed patient has a mental illness;
(b) because of the proposed patient’s mental illness he poses an immediate danger of physical injury to others or himself, which may include the inability to provide the basic necessities of life such as food, clothing, and shelter, if allowed to remain at liberty;
(c) the patient lacks the ability to engage in a rational decision-making process regarding the acceptance of mental treatment as demonstrated by evidence of inability to weigh the possible costs and benefits of treatment;
(d) there is no appropriate less-restrictive alternative to a court order of commitment; and
(e) the [division] local mental health authority can provide the individual with treatment that is adequate and appropriate to his conditions and needs. In the absence of the required findings of the court after the hearing, the court shall forthwith dismiss the proceedings.

(11) (a) The order of commitment shall designate the period for which the individual shall be treated. When the individual is not under an order of commitment at the time of the hearing, that period may not exceed six months without benefit of a review hearing. Upon such a review hearing, to be commenced prior to the expiration of the previous order, an order for commitment may be for an indeterminate period, if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that the required conditions in Subsection (10) will last for an indeterminate period.

(b) The court shall maintain a current list of all patients under its order of commitment. That list shall be reviewed to determine those patients who have been under an order of commitment for the designated period. At least two weeks prior to the expiration of the designated period of any order of commitment still in effect, the court that entered the original order shall inform the [director or his] appropriate local mental health authority or its designee. The [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee shall immediately reexamine the reasons upon which the order of commitment was based. If the [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee determines that the conditions justifying that commitment no longer exist, [the director] it shall discharge the patient from involuntary commitment and immediately report that to the court. Otherwise, the court shall immediately appoint two designated examiners and proceed under Subsections (8) through (10).

(c) The [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee responsible for the care of a patient under an order of commitment for an indeterminate period, shall at six-month intervals reexamine the reasons upon which the order of indeterminate commitment was based. If the [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee determines that the conditions justifying that commitment no longer exist, [the director] that local mental health authority or its designee shall discharge the patient from [the] its custody [of-the-division] and immediately report the discharge to the court. If the [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee determines that the conditions justifying that commitment continue to exist, the [director or his] local mental health authority or its designee shall send a written report of those findings to the court. The patient and his counsel of record shall be notified in writing that the involuntary commitment will be continued, the reasons for that decision, and that the patient has the right to a review hearing by making a request to the court. Upon receiving the request, the court shall immediately appoint two designated examiners and proceed under Subsections (8) through (10).

(12) In the event that the designated examiners are unable, because a proposed patient refuses to submit to an examination, to complete that examination on the first attempt, the court shall fix a reasonable compensation to be paid to those designated examiners for their services.

(13) Any person committed as a result of an original hearing or a person’s legally designated representative who is aggrieved by the findings, conclusions, and order of the court entered in the original hearing has the right to a new hearing upon a petition filed with the court within 30 days of the entry of the court order. The petition must allege error or mistake in the findings, in which case the court shall appoint three impartial designated examiners previously unrelated to the case to conduct an additional examination of the patient. The new hearing shall, in all other respects, be conducted in the manner otherwise permitted.

(14) Costs of all proceedings under this section shall be paid by the county in which the proposed patient resides or is found.

(c) If the patient has been in the less restrictive environment for more than 30 days and is aggrieved by the change to a more restrictive environment, the patient or his representative may request a hearing within 30 days of the change. (3) The court shall find that either:

(a) the less restrictive environment in which the patient has been placed is aggravating the patient’s dangerousness or mental illness as defined in Subsection 62A-12-234 (10), or the patient has failed to comply with a specified treatment plan to which he had agreed in writing; or

Section 19. Section Amended.

Section 62A-12-245, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 231, Laws of Utah 1992, is amended to read:

62A-12-245. Restrictions and limitations—Civil rights and privileges.

(a) communicate, by sealed mail or otherwise, with persons, including official agencies, inside or outside the facility;

(b) receive visitors; and

(c) exercise all civil rights, including the right to dispose of property, execute instruments, make purchases, enter contractual relationships, and vote, unless the patient has been adjudicated to be incompetent and has not been restored to legal capacity.

(2) When any right of a patient is limited or denied, the nature, extent, and reason for that limitation or denial shall be entered in the patient’s treatment record. Any continuing denial or limitation shall be reviewed every 30 days and shall also be entered in that treatment record. Notice of that continuing denial in excess of 30 days shall be sent to the division or to the appropriate local mental health authority.

(3) Notwithstanding any limitations authorized under this section on the right of communication, each patient is entitled to communicate by sealed mail with the appropriate local mental health authority, the division, his attorney, and the court, if any, that ordered his commitment. In no case may the patient be denied a visit with the legal counsel or clergy of the patient’s choice.

(4) [The director or his designee] Local mental health authorities shall provide reasonable means and arrangements for informing involuntary patients of their right to release as provided in this [part] chapter, and for assisting them in making and presenting requests for release.

(5) Mental health facilities shall post a statement, promulgated by the division, describing patient’s rights under Utah law.

(3) Each commitment of an individual under the age of 18 to the division (of an individual under the age of 18 years) is governed by the procedures and requirements of Part 2, except that:

(b) the criteria described in Section 62A-12-282 shall apply, instead of the criteria applicable to adults contained in Subsection 62A-12-284(10).

Section 22. Section Amended.

Section 63-38-2, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 5, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

(b) In his budget recommendations under Subsections (i), (ii), and (iii), the governor shall consider an amount sufficient to grant local health departments, local mental health authorities, local substance abuse authorities, and area agencies on aging the same percentage increase for [cost-of-living] wages and benefits that he includes in his budget for persons employed by the state.

(c) If the governor does not include in his budget an amount sufficient to grant the increase described in Subsection (b), he shall include a message to the Legislature regarding his reason for not including that amount.

Section 23. Section Amended.

Section 77-15-6, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapters 5, 207, and 292, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

77-15-6. Commitment on finding of incompetency — Subsequent hearings — Notice to prosecuting attorneys.

(1) Except as provided in Subsection (2), if after hearing, the person is found to be incompetent, the court shall order him committed to the Utah State Hospital or to another mental health facility until the court that committed him or the district court of the county where he is confined, after notice and hearing, finds that he is competent to proceed.

(2) If, after hearing, the defendant is found to be incompetent as a result of mental retardation and there is a substantial probability that he will remain incompetent to proceed indefinitely, the court shall proceed as follows:

(a) If that mentally retarded defendant presents a substantial danger to himself or others and the executive director of the Department of Human Services, or his designee, has been given the opportunity to evaluate the defendant regarding placement in the custody of the department to determine if the department is able to provide the defendant with treatment, care, custody, and security that is adequate and appropriate to the defendant's conditions and needs, the court shall, if it determines that it is appropriate, commit him to the custody of the Department of Human Services. In no event shall the period of that commitment exceed the period for which he could be incarcerated had he been convicted and received the maximum sentence for the crime of which he was accused. Any involuntary retention after that time shall be by the civil commitment process.

(b) If the mentally retarded defendant is not committed under this section but the court finds that he presents a substantial danger to himself or others, involuntary civil commitment proceedings may be instituted in accordance with Title 62A, Chapter 5, Part 3.

(c) If that mentally retarded defendant has not been charged with a violent offense and does not present a substantial danger to himself or others, the court may commit him to the custody of the Department of Human Services, for appropriate treatment, services, and habilitation in the least restrictive environment, consistent with the purpose of the commitment. In no event shall the period of that commitment exceed the period for which the defendant could be incarcerated had he been convicted and received the maximum sentence for the crime of which he was accused. Any involuntary retention after that time shall be by the civil commitment process.

(3) Notice of a hearing on competency to proceed shall be given to the prosecuting attorney for the county from which the defendant was committed. If the hearing is held in the county where the defendant is confined, notice shall also be given to the prosecuting attorney for that county.

Section 24. Section Amended.

Section 77-15-7, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as last amended by Chapter 292, Laws of Utah 1991, is amended to read:

(1) A person committed pursuant to Section 77-15-6 may apply, no sooner than six months from the date of the order of commitment, to the district court for the county in which he is confined or for the county from which he was committed, to be returned for trial or confinement on the grounds that he is now competent to proceed. At any time that the defendant has recovered from his mental illness or, if the defendant has mental retardation, becomes competent to proceed, the superintendent of the hospital or other facility, or the executive director of the Department of Human Services, or their designees, shall certify that fact to the court. The court shall conduct a hearing within ten working days of the receipt of the superintendent's or executive director's report. If the finding of the court is adverse to the defendant, he shall not be permitted another hearing more often than once each year, unless the court otherwise orders. In such hearings the burden of proving that he is competent to proceed is on the applicant.

(2) The court, on its own motion, or upon recommendations of the superintendent of the hospital or other facility, [or] the executive director of the Department of Human Services, or their designee, may order a hearing or rehearing at any time.

Section 25. Section Amended.

Section 77-16a-304, Utah Code Annotated 1953, as enacted by Chapter 171, Laws of Utah 1992, is amended to read:

77-16a-304. Not guilty by reason of insanity — Review after commitment.

(1) The executive director, or his designee, shall establish a review team of at least three qualified staff members to review the defendant's mental condition at least every six months. That team shall include at least one psychiatrist and, if the defendant is mentally retarded, at least one staff member who is a designated mental retardation professional, as defined in Section 62A-5-301.

(2) If the review team described in Subsection (1) finds that the defendant has recovered from his mental illness, or, that the defendant is still mentally ill but does not present a substantial danger to himself or others, the executive director, or his designee, shall notify the court that committed the defendant that the defendant is a candidate for discharge and shall provide the court with a report stating the facts that form the basis for the recommendation.

(3) The court shall conduct a hearing within ten business days after receipt of the executive director's, or his designee's, notification. The court clerk shall notify the prosecuting attorney, the defendant's attorney, and any victim of the crime for which the defendant was found not guilty by reason of insanity, of the date and time of hearing.

(4)(a) If the court finds that the person is no longer mentally ill, or if mentally ill, no longer presents a substantial danger to himself or others, it shall order the defendant to be discharged from commitment.

(b) If the court finds that the person is still mentally ill and is a substantial danger to himself or others, but can be controlled adequately if conditionally released with treatment as a condition of release, it shall order the person conditionally released in accordance with Section 77-16a-305.

63-1-38.4. Building appropriations supervised by director — Disposition of surplus.

(1) The director shall supervise the expenditure of funds in providing plans, engineering specifications, sites, and construction of the buildings for which legislative appropriations are made and shall specifically allocate money appropriated when more than one project is included in any single appropriation without legislative directive. The director shall expend the amount necessary from appropriations for planning, engineering, and architectural work. Amounts from appropriations necessary to cover expenditures previously made from the planning fund in the preparation of plans, engineering, and specifications shall be returned to the fund.

(2) The director shall hold in a statewide contingency reserve a reasonable percentage of the total amount appropriated for the construction or remodeling of buildings facilities, for contingencies which may be over and above all amounts obligated by contract for planning, engineering, and architectural work, sites, and construction contracts. (The reserve)

(a) The amount budgeted for contingencies shall be based on a sliding scale percentage of the construction cost. The sliding scale shall range from 4-1/2% to 6-1/2% for new construction, and from 6% to 9-1/2% for remodeling projects.

(b) The statewide contingency funds shall be held by the director to cover unforeseen contingencies and shall be used only if costs such as change orders and other unforeseen, necessary costs beyond those specifically budgeted for the project.

(c) The board or head of the sponsoring agency for which the Legislature made an appropriation for a building project makes an official request to the director:

(d) the director investigates the nature of the expenditure and concurs in the necessity of the proposed expenditure; and

(e) the director authorizes the expenditure.

It may appropriate to other building needs any amount from the statewide contingency reserve which is determined to be in excess of the reserve required to meet future contingency needs.
(3) The director shall hold in a separate reserve those state appropriated funds accrued through bid savings and project residual as a project reserve.

(a) The director may authorize the use of project reserve funds only for the award of contracts in excess of the construction budget if this is required to meet the intent of the project.

(b) The Legislature shall annually review the amount held in the project reserve for possible reallocation by the Legislature to other building needs.

[4] In the event any part of the appropriation for a building project, other than the part set aside for the Percent-for-Art Program under Title 64, Chapter 2a, remains unencumbered after the award of construction and professional service contracts, and establishing a reserve for fixed and moveable equipment, the balance of the appropriation shall be dedicated to the contingency fund described in this section and shall not revert to the General Fund.

(5) One percent of the amount appropriated for the construction of any new state building or facility may be appropriated and set aside in an appropriation administered by the Division of Fine Arts under Title 64, Chapter 2a. Funds from appropriations for any state building or facility of which any part is derived from the issuance of bonds, to the extent it would jeopardize the federal income tax exemption otherwise allowed for interest paid on bonds, shall not be set aside.

It is the intent of the Legislature that mandated costs incurred at each institution of higher education are the first priority to be paid. Mandated costs are defined to include costs relating to the ongoing operation of the institution. Mandated costs include benefit cost increases, fuel and power rate increases, fuel and power usage increases based on current space only, risk management insurance rates increases, other utility increases and operation and maintenance for facilities. The Legislature does not intend to consider any supplemental appropriation for mandated costs which could have been paid from current funds had they not been reallocated. The Board of Regents should submit their budget for FY 1995 showing that all mandated costs are included in their budget request.

It is the intent of the Legislature that funds budgeted for fuel and power be closely supervised by the State Board of Regents. It is also the intent of the Legislature that if any surplus funds in fuel and power in FY 1994 appear likely that they be transferred for use within the institution for fuel and power efficiency investments or other equipment purchases with the approval of the Board of Regents but must be reported to the Legislature in the annual budget requests. No supplemental appropriation for fuel and power will be considered except for emergency measures.

It is the intent of the Legislature that a portion of the funds appropriated for salary increases for higher education employees be distributed to all higher education employees performing satisfactorily.

The Regents should also submit their budget for FY 1995 showing the Uniform School Fund as the funding source for programs primarily the responsibility of or benefitting the public education system.

The Board of Regents should adopt an enrollment strategy designed to provide open access to community colleges and to establish appropriate enrollment limits at universities. The enrollment strategy should ensure access for students to institutions for which they are academically prepared. The enrollment strategy and related funding mechanism should not disadvantage institutions disproportionately.

It is the intent of the Legislature that funding for financial aid services, student advising and counseling, and student services be given first priority over other academic considerations in the allocation of “student support” funds.
